Wanted More Beer, Gets Arrested

An Auburndale resident who became indignant last Saturday afternoon when he was refused beer at an Auburndale lunch room, and who protested to a policeman, was fined $5 for drunkenness in the Newton court on Monday. Patrolman Clancy was on duty at Auburndale square on Saturday afternoon when he was approached by an indignant citizen who complained that he had been refused beer at a lunch room near the corner of Commonwealth ave. and Lexington st. The counter man there had given as a reason for refusing to serve the gentleman—that he already had sufficient alcohol in his system. Patrolman Clancy tried to induce the indignant individual to proceed to his home, but the latter insisted in asserting his rights not to be discriminated against in his effort to further quench his thirst. So Clancy had to place the protesting person under arrest.

Glee Club Honors Harry Hageman

Harry Hageman, formerly Building Commissioner, who has just resigned to become Chief of the Hydraulic Division of the T. V. A. development, was given a dinner Monday night, Dec. 28, at the Charles River Country Club by his friends in the Highland Glee Club, with which organization Mr. Hageman has been identified for a number of years.

Following an excellent dinner, provided by Mr. Marriott, steward at the club, there was an exchange of greetings and felicitations on Mr. Hageman's new undertaking, interspersed with songs reminiscent of the many concerts in which Mr. Hageman has participated.

During the evening, Commissioner Hageman appeared in the role of conductor when he was asked to wield the baton for his fellow club members in some of his college songs. His son, John, also a member of the club, participating at his father's alma mater, Cornell, participated.

There were remarks of sincere good wishes for Mr. Hageman's success in one of the largest hydroelectric developments in the country.

Newton Legion Guards Elect

At the annual meeting of the Newton Legion Guards, the drill team unit of Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, the following were elected officers for the year 1937:

Captain, J. Joseph Ward; 1st Lieut., George Hennrikus; 2nd Lieut., J. J. Pendergast; 1st Sergt. and Adj., Carl P. Peterson; Business Manager, Bart J. Morrisroe; Publicity Manager, Francis P. Frazier.

The Executive Committee will be composed of the newly elected officers, and the following members: Frank R. Gaw, Edmund H. White, George Parsons, Ernest J. Carver, Henry Chandonait, and G. F. Seifert.

The Guards are one of the most active units of Newton Post. The chairman of the Entertainment Committee, Henry Duth, assisted by Ernest Carver, has completed plans for a New Year's Eve party. This party will be held on December 31, 1936, in the Bonnar-Atwood Studio, at 6:30 p. m. This affair is the first of four similar parties, which take the form of dinner dances, and are limited to the members of the Guards and their friends.

Business Manager Bart J. Morrisroe is now making final arrangements for an exhibition drill, to be held at Portland, Maine, in February. The Newton Legion Guards, at that time, will be the guests of the Shriners. The Guards are now drilling under the supervision of Capt. Joseph Ward, and are working hard to bring glory to Newton when they perform "Way Down East."

1937 Budget for Newton Schools Is $1,538,455

The Newton School Committee held a meeting on Monday night and voted a budget of $1,538,455 for the coming year. This is an increase of $37,490.27 over the 1936 budget. Most of the increase is caused by increases in the salaries of school teachers as a result of the step-rate advances. A few additional teachers will be required for the coming year. It is estimated that the number of pupils in Newton public schools will increase next year by about 250. In 1936 the enrollment was 134 more than in 1935. Among the larger items in the budget are—salaries, $276,600.85; fuel, power and water, $55,430; Trade School salaries, $64,752.72.

The committee confirmed the appointments of five new teachers. Eleanor Elliott was appointed art director for the Newton Schools. The other teachers appointed were—Alice McGillivray of 27 Fuller terrace, West Newton, special assistant at Mason school; Mildred O'Toole of 21 Rogers st., Newton, special assistant at Burr and Angier Schools; Thomas F. McCarthy, 20 Auburndale ave., instructor in Trade School automobile shop; William Harrison who has been a teacher in a Boston Trade School, was appointed as instructor in woodworking at the Weeks School. He will take the place of James Hammond who resigned to accept a position at the Fitchburg Teachers College. These new teachers will start on their duties after the first of the year.

Transfers of teachers authorized were: Marjorie Munsil, special assistant at Angier and Burr Schools to the Newton Christian Endeavor Union; John Buchanan from Mason School to Eliot School. The application of the Immanuel Youth Club of the Immanuel Baptist Church for the use of the hall of the Underwood School on Friday and Saturday evenings, January 29 and 30, was refused because the school committee decided that the proceeds of the play would not be used for what can be considered a strictly charitable purpose. The Boston Branch of the Vassar College Alumni was more successful in its application for the use of a school building. It was granted the use of the High School auditorium on March 30 for a lecture, to which admission will be charged. The use of various school halls was granted to the WPA symphony orchestra for concerts twice each month and rehearsals twice each week.

Middlesex Court M. C. O. F. held a Christmas Party at its meeting on Tuesday night in Elk's Hall. Miss Catherine Hannon was chairman of the committee in charge. The feature of the evening was the impersonation of Santa Claus by Thomas F. Bryson. Mr. Bryson revealed unsuspected talent as a comedian. An entertainment was provided by Miss "Babe" Shea, pianist; Miss Mary Shea, violinist; Miss Mary Welch, soprano; and Joseph Farragher, tenor. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

Christmas Mail All Delivered

Every piece of mail matter in Newton postoffices on Dec. 24 was delivered on that day. Assisting the regular letter carriers for several days before Christmas were a number of temporary employees. Each postman had one man helping him to deliver the mail and on some routes the regular letter carrier had to assistants. On the day before Christmas additional temporary letter carriers and clerks were put to work in the various offices. Acting Superintendent Edward Friel at the Newton postoffice had 16 temporary employees for four days before Dec. 24th, and 42 employees on that day. He worked hard, with the cooperation of his assistants to have all the heavy mail delivered and dispatched. Similar efforts were made by Superintendents Richards at Newtonville, Cuniff at West Newton, Ferriek at Auburndale, Mulligan at Waban, Wildman at Upper Falls, Pratt at Newton Highlands, Dunphy at Newton Centre, Brennan at Chestnut Hill and Anderson at Lower Falls, with the aid of their respective forces. Martin McDonough was again in charge of the parcel post delivery with quarters at Newtonville. He had 50 men and 20 trucks to care for this important branch of Christmas mail service and as usual produced efficient results.

Gov. Curley Drops Attempt To Oust Judge Bacon

The attempted removal by Governor Curley of Judge William F. Bacon of the Newton District Court was stopped Wednesday night when the Governor suddenly dropped the ouster proceedings against Judge Bacon and also against Judge F. A. Fisher, justice of the Lowell District Court. The reason given for this anti-climax on the part of the Governor was that testimony presented by a number of witnesses summoned to the State House, had resulted in insufficient evidence having been presented to disqualify Judge Bacon because of physical or mental disabilities.

Preceding the Governor's decision summonses had been served on the Lieutenant Governor, and members of the executive council by Deputy Sheriff Harold Gallagher ordering them to appear at a hearing at 2 o'clock on Thursday. This hearing was to have been on writs of mandamus and prohibition issued by Judge Lummus of the Supreme Court to prevent the council from voting on the removal of Judges Bacon and Fisher. Albert Harwood, Jr., and John V. Spaulding of Newton Centre had been serving as counsel for Judge Bacon. The papers were served by the Deputy Sheriff about 3 o'clock.

A number of Newton residents appeared before the Governor and the executive council to testify regarding Judge Bacon's condition. On Tuesday Lieut. Edward Moan of the Newton police and Mrs. Grace Bostwick, assistant clerk of court at Newton, went to the State House after they had received telephone notices. They were questioned at considerable length regarding Judge Bacon's alleged incapacity. Lieut. Moan told of a case in which the judge reversed his decision on a man charged with drunkenness. Summonses were issued late Wednesday and served on several police officials of Newton and others, ordering them to appear before the executive council on Wednesday. Those who had to appear and testify were Captain Richard Goode, Captain Nicholas Veducio, Lieutenants Crowley and Mahoney and Inspector King of the Newton police. Misses Helen Casey, Katherine Kneeland and Alice Rose, clerks in the Clerk of Court's office at West Newton; M. John Enegess, probation officer; Frank F. Richardson, vice president of the Newton Trust Company; George J. Martin, a director of the Newton Savings Bank; Wilfred Chagnon of the Hubbard Drug Company; Dennis Cronin, a Newton alderman and attorney; and William Nagle, the judge's chauffeur. These witnesses arrived at the State House at 2 o'clock and waited until 3 when the deputy sheriff served the notices on the council. Then the Newton witnesses were told to return at 5 o'clock. They were questioned from that hour until after 7 o'clock.

nurse at Anderson's, and that he had taken the souvenirs with him when he left the house. In the Newton court on Tuesday Judge Allen gave the arrested visitor, Peter Walsh of Wellington rd., Medford, a suspended prison sentence of 3 months for larceny. The drunkenness charge was placed on file.

A DIFFICULT TASK

Government is always an interesting subject. It presents many new and intriguing problems. One of the most difficult tasks is the organization of the Massachusetts Legislature under a new leader. During the eight years that Leverett Saltonstall presided over the House of Representatives the problem became somewhat more simplified with each successive term as the groundwork of the organization was not materially changed. The organization of the lower branch of the incoming Legislature has been absorbing the attention of Representative Horace T. Cahill of Braintree, the next Speaker, for the past month. In all probability many of the committee chairmanships will be retained by those who served in that capacity under Speaker Saltonstall. Mr. Cahill was the Speaker's chief aide in the work of the House and carried the title of Republican floor leader. The selection of a successor for this work is one of the most, if not the most perplexing task facing the new Speaker. It takes little imagination to conceive of the difficulties encountered when one considers that two hundred and forty members are divided into more than thirty committees. Add to this the preferences each member expresses and the desire of many members for important assignments and one has a puzzle which presents more angles than a polyhedron.

A LONG PUBLIC SERVICE

The death of Judge Alonzo B. Weed has removed a most valued public servant. For more than forty years he has been employing his talents to help others. Beginning in 1894 as an instructor of law many students came under his influence. Near the end of the last century he was elected to the Newton Board of Aldermen and this service culminated in a term of office as Mayor of the city. Later he served for some years on the state commission dealing with utilities and in 1922 was chosen by then Governor Cox as a Justice of the Superior Court of Massachusetts. Throughout his career he also interested himself in various institutions and held many positions as a trustee, vice-president or director. His modesty was outstanding. Never one to seek attention his very personality reflected the sincerity, honesty and idealism which characterized his every act.

Newton De Molay Chapter Has Investiture

On December 26th Newton Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held an "Old Timer's Night" at the Masonic Temple in Newtonville, at which over 300 people were in attendance. An excellent banquet was followed by a concert given by members of the original Newton Chapter Band which was organized nine years ago. This part of the program was arranged by Dad Don M. Leonard, past advisor of Newton Chapter, and now a member of the Advisory Council.

The feature event of the evening took place in the form of an Investiture of the Legion of Honor to three members. This degree was exemplified by Dad Leon W. Weil, active member of the Grand Council for the State of Massachusetts, and a suite of Legioners of the Mass. Court of the DeMolay Legion of Honor, headed by the president, Robert Waldman of Boston Chapter. The degree was received by Harrison Blake and Russell R. Taylor of Newton Chapter, and Albert Levinson of Everett Chapter. Dad Edwin O. Childs, chairman of the Advisory Council of Newton Chapter, was invested with the Honorary Legion of Honor by Dad Weil. Dad Childs is the fifth person in Massachusetts to receive this rare honor. Dad

Lee, active member of the Grand Council for the State of Rhode Island, was a guest of the evening. The "Old Timer's Night" came to a successful close with dancing in Temple Hall following the Investiture.

CHILDREN'S SINGING GUILD HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY AND BROADCAST

The Children's Singing Guild enjoyed a Christmas party in the Newton Centre playground house last Tuesday afternoon, a masquerade, in which about thirty-five boys and girls participated. Prizes for the most original and attractive costumes were awarded by the judges, Mrs. Charles Wilbur and Mrs. Donald Welch, to Shirley Gehring and Connie Mosher. Games and dancing were enjoyed, carols sung, and a feast of ice cream and cake enjoyed, and the children adjourned for a two weeks vacation. Little Fifi Regan entertained with two charming solo dances during the afternoon. She also danced at the Christmas party at the Boston Y. M. C. A. for the children of the official staff and their parents, last Saturday afternoon. On Thursday afternoon, the Guild broadcast from station WCOP a program of unusual carols from the Southern Appalachian mountains, with Connie Mosher and Mary Mandile as soloists. Marianne Cappadonia sang the famous "Cantique de Noel" by Adam.

As we turn the page to a new year it would not be amiss to glance back over the past twelve months at the important events that took place in Newton during the old year.

January—The inauguration of Mayor Childs was the outstanding event of the month with his return as chief executive after six years of private life during the administration of Mayor Sinclair Weeks. The creation of a $50,000 fund for high school scholarships by Mrs. Eugenia Brown, in memory of her son, Lieut. Stafford Brown, was another highlight. In the first month of 1936 Alderman Charles B. Floyd became president of the Board, George E. Fernald, chairman of the School Committee, Lyscom A. Bruce, Jr., permanent executive director of the Community Chest, and Herbert M. Cole, president of the Newton Hospital.

February—The Newton teachers' association flayed politics in the state organization which had endorsed the appointment of James G. Reardon as State Commissioner of Education and the Newton group threatened to withdraw from the state body. The winter carnival at Crystal Lake, attended by 5,000, was a great success.

March—The spring floods brought the Charles River to new high levels and many local organizations participated in flood relief work for places in Massachusetts that were seriously affected. After completing a grand slam of all four big interscholastic meets and all dual meets the Newton High track team was unable to compete in the Bowdoin interscholastic meet because of flood conditions making it impossible to make the trip in safety. A testimonial dinner to Thomas W. White early in the month was another highlight.

April—Passage of the annual budget of nearly $5,000,000 set the tax rate at $28.00, an increase of $1.20 per thousand over 1935. The increase was due to larger state, country, and metropolitan warrants. Many transfers were made of Newton police to other routes and posts. The Aldermen broke with Mayor Childs over the continuation of Richard W. Ellis in his position as director of Public Works. The Al-Norton Music School observed its 25th anniversary.

May—The formation of a Newton Taxpayers' Ass'n and its affiliation with the State Federation was announced. Principal Paul E. Elicker of the high school was granted a leave of absence for a year beginning in September during which time he will conduct a survey of schools on the Atlantic Coast as part of a national survey of importance in the field of education. The probability and continuation of low water level in the Charles River was ended as the state took over control of the Waltham dam.

June—The largest class in the history of the Newton High School, numbering 671, received diplomas. The Newtonville Library Ass'n announced its initial drive for funds for a branch building in that village. At the close of the month the Town Crier, a newspaper in Newton Centre for nearly forty years, was purchased and consolidated with the NEWTON GRAPHIC.

July—Traffic signals on Washington st. at Adams st. were placed in operation culminating an attempt for some time to control traffic at this intersection. The formation of a Newton Citizen's Association was announced. Its purpose was to promote good government in Newton and to acquaint the citizens with facts concerning the candidates for local offices. A new ordinance was passed by the Aldermen restricting the peddling of ice cream and such commodities on the streets of the city.

August—The selection of George J. Martin as the "safest automobile driver in the state" reflected honor upon Newton. Mr. Martin later represented Massachusetts at a conference of other safe drivers from the other states of the Union in New York. Welfare costs were shown to be on the increase as more money for such purposes was appropriated by the Aldermen. Camp Frank A. Day, Newton Y. M. C. A. Camp for Boys at Brookfield, closed its 20th season. Mr. Frank L. Richardson of Waban gave land in that village to the city for use as a playground.

September—School attendance was shown to be greater than the year previous as the schools opened after the summer vacation. The State primary election brought 41% of the voters to the polls as interest in politics grew. Dr. Oscar Martin, for twenty-five years a well known member of the high school faculty, died from heart failure while swimming at Rockport.

October—The city accepted the bequest of the late Miss Elizabeth Speare of her estate on Washington st. The Community Chest announced it would open its annual campaign in November with a goal of $185,000. Interest in politics continued to grow as the national election drew nearer with many rallies being held in various parts of the city.

November—The usual big Republican majorities were polled in Newton as 94 percent of the voters balloted for president and various state offices. It was reported that the city had received nearly $500,000 in Federal money on various projects and for various purposes. Fourteen deaths by automobiles during the year brought action from the aldermen with appointment of a committee to confer with the Mayor as to methods of promoting safety in Newton.

December—The distribution of a leaflet containing information of candidates for aldermen and school committee at the city election was sponsored by the Newton Citizen's Ass'n. About 34 percent of the voters went to the polls to exercise their franchise. Sub-committees of the aldermen reported favoring increased salaries for some of the city employees who were not classified properly and favoring adoption of the two-platoon system and later consolidation of certain fire stations. The aldermen again refused a petition for change of zone of the land on which the Martin Manufacturing Company's building stands in West Newton. As Governor Curley's term drew near to expiration he made a strenuous attempt to force Judge William F. Bacon to resign.

Letters To The Editor

ON BIENNIAL ELECTIONS

December 28, 1936.

To the Editor,
Dear Sir:

Christmas festivities being over, there is now time to give attention to the subject suggested editorially in the GRAPHIC a fortnight ago, on which the editor invited comment from interested citizens—the matter of local Biennial Elections. Apparently no one was interested last week, but that may have been on account of the holiday rush; for it does seem that in a matter so important to the conduct of our city affairs, others besides this writer should have some opinions to express.

The experience of those who work to get out the vote for city elections has been, sad to relate, that holidays have little to do with the general apathy and lack of interest.

For many years, the writer has worked as a member of her ward committee, at every national, state and city election, and it is fair to assume that her experience in getting out the vote is somewhat representative. It may be said that it is far easier to "work" a national or state election than it is to induce voters to come to the polls for their city.

In answer to some of the telephone calls inquiring if people had voted, the following would often, only too often, come back over the wires: "I am not interested in the city election"; "I don't care a bit who goes to the Board of Aldermen," or still worse, "Why, is there an election? I had not heard a word about it."

These are discouraging answers to receive when one realizes that the good government for which our city is justly proud is at stake, and most likely, these same people are the ones who, from an assumed vantage-point of superiority, declare they have no interest in politics. They do not realize that their indifference may enable an organized and militant minority to get control of the reins of government and change Newton from the well-ordered city it is to a type with which we are too familiar, where politicians are in office to get what they can out of office, and not to serve the public good.

Hear what one of the first citizens of Massachusetts, Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, has to say about the creed by which he is living today.

If popular government gives to every man the privilege of serving his country, it also imposes on him the duty of doing so, so far as his circumstances will permit. Every man in America is bound to take an intelligent interest in public affairs, and to bear a part of the burden of government either in office or out. He ought to perform with eagerness his duties as a citizen, and make personal sacrifices to check iniquity and promote the best of administration and pure politics.

However, conditions being what they are in our city, I believe we should face them realistically. I am therefore very much interested in the Editor's suggestion of Biennial Elections. The City Clerk figures it costs the city approximately $3,000 to hold a city election in an off year, that is, in a year when a mayor is not up for election. In this year's election, 15,724 voters went to the polls; which means that it cost the city about twenty-three cents a vote to enable the faithful to express their preferences for aldermanic candidates. In 1934, 9,571 voted, boosting the cost to approximately thirty-one cents a vote. It seems to this voter and worker too much money and too much energy expended on the part of those who work to get the vote out.

The only difficulty in the way of Biennial Elections, it seems to me, is the possibility of too great a turnover in the Board of Aldermen in a single year. It would of course be highly undesirable, from the point of view of efficiency, to have a new mayor and a complete new Board in one year. If the ward aldermen were elected biennially instead of yearly as at present, this condition would be a possibility, but a very remote one. It is hardly conceivable that some aldermen would not hold over, or be re-elected. That is something for the solons at City Hall to work out.

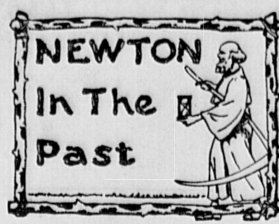

But on the whole, it seems to this citizen to be highly desirable, both from the point of view of economy and especially as a guarantee of the safety of our future governments, that our system be changed from yearly to biennial elections.

FRANCES S. HENRY.

Newton, Dec. 28, 1936.

W. C. T. U.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs. Hulda Stahl, 39 Bowers st., Newtonville, on next Monday evening at 7:45 when plans will be made for their anniversary which will take place about the middle of January.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Jan. 2, 1875

Next Monday will witness the inauguration of the second city government for Newton. The two branches of the government will meet in their respective rooms at 10 a.m. After a short session they will proceed with the Mayor to the upper hall where the inauguration services will be held, and the Mayor will give his annual address.

The Channing Unitarian Society held their second coffee party in Nonantum Hall on Thursday evening. The old year was danced out and the new one in, the whole evening being one of great enjoyment.

A new expedient is being used to fill empty wells by connecting them with conductors from the eaves of the roofs of houses.

A couple men were riding through the streets of Ward 1 a few days ago in an intoxicated condition. They made some noise and were warned of the consequences of doing so by a policeman. Soon after leaving him they became more boisterous than before. Upon hearing this Officer Hinds and Officer Adams took a team standing nearby, with the consent of the owner, and made chase. They had to pass the railroad crossing, a drove of cattle and several teams, but soon found a clear road before them. They urged their horse to its utmost speed and the fugitive drove their jaded horse as fast as it could go, but justice overtook the runaways after a chase of about a mile. Both men spent the night in the lockup and went through the regular course in court the next morning. They are usually peaceable citizens and would not have caused trouble had not the demon rum got a hold of them. The only safety is total abstinence.

At the meeting of the Newton Athenaeum at West Newton on Tuesday evening the debate was on the question of using the Charles River as a means of water supply for Newton. Alderman Pratt thought the river is the true source and that an analysis of its water shows it to be purer than the water from the Charles. He would have the water soon as the need is very great. Deacon Seth Davis took the negative. He said the plan to introduce a water system into Newton is Utopian. The physical features of our city are such that such a plan is impossible. The idea of conducting water from Newton Upper Falls through the wilderness to West Newton is preposterous. Pure rain water is best. Make cisterns, collect rain water and you will have an abundant supply.

Newton Graphic, January 1, 1887

The Newton postoffice sent out 22 big sacks of Christmas mail matter last week, besides the usual nine mail bags daily.

Persons who want to study book-keeping and drawing without charge, can do so on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at the Lincoln School on Pearl street.

It is generally acknowledged that the fox terrier is the most popular dog at the present time. Three puppies of the best imported stock are advertised in this week's GRAPHIC.

The trial of Edward Dexter for running over John H. Harwood of Newton was held at the Newton court on Wednesday and Thursday. Harwood was one of the high school boys who was drilling in front of the school on Walnut street when run over. Dexter was found guilty and fined $30 for assault and battery. He was found not guilty of fast driving. He appealed. A large number of high school boys attended the trial.

There will be a musical entertainment and magic lantern show at the North Church, Nonantum on Friday evening. Thirty men, eight horses, two derricks and a stationary engine are at work on the foundations for the new Baptist church at Newton Centre. The men employed on the work are Swedes, Scotch, Dutch, Italian, Irish and American. They are being boarded in and about the village and are able to have hot dinners every day.

The Waltham Tribune is indignant because some people in that city favor the restricting of conditions to real estate. It says that—"Such a policy may be good enough for Newton, but there is no corner in Waltham too good for a factory or for business purposes." If that is the policy of Waltham, people who like to live in the midst of factories will know where to go.

Newton Graphic, Jan. 5, 1912

Nearly 200 persons attended the meeting in Players Hall, West Newton on Friday evening at which the question of telephone service in this city, and West Newton in particular, was discussed. Mayor Hatfield presided and the principal speaker was Edward K. Hill, counsel for the telephone company. Regarding the reducing of the toll rate from West Newton exchange to Boston from 10c to 5c, Mr. Hill said that the established rates provide that all exchanges within 8 miles of Boston have a 5c rate and those between 8 and 15 miles have a 10c rate. The West Newton exchange in this respect is no different from other exchanges similarly situated.

Powers' Paragraphs

Judge Alonzo R. Weed lived in Newton for 65 of the nearly 70 years of his life. Coming here as a small child, he became intensely loyal to Newton. His home during all those years was on Park st., almost opposite the Bigelow School from which he graduated and where for three score and five years he saw thousands of Newton boys and girls receive their early education. For twenty years Judge Weed's home was directly across from the Burr Playground which is located on the former estate of his old neighbors, the Burr family. Judge Weed was reared and resided until his death in a locality which could not but stimulate a man of his character to love for his home city and to public service of a high character.

He served Newton capably and honestly as Alderman and Mayor. He gave efficient and conscientious service to Massachusetts for many years as a member of Boards regulating public utilities, and for the past 14 years as a judge of the Superior Court. He was a man of deep religious convictions and a lifelong member of the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church. Dignified, serious, courteous, he well repaid his city and State for the honor given him by the public offices to which he was elected and appointed.

Newton figured prominently in news of State affairs the past week. The publicity over Governor Curley's contemplated ouster of Judge Bacon and the death of Judge Weed were not the only matters in which Newton was concerned with the judiciary of the Commonwealth. Among the appointments made by Governor Curley on Wednesday were those of Joseph E. Hargordon of Lawrence to be trial justice at Andover, and Frank Kopelman of Chestnut Hill to be special justice in the First District Court of Barnstable County. Mr. Hargordon, a native of West Newton, and a former member of the Newton police department, studied law, became a resident of Lawrence over a score of years ago and has achieved success in that city. Mr. Kopelman is a young man who has been a resident of this city for several years. The death of Judge Weed permitted the Governor to go through with his plan to appoint Abraham C. Webber of Chestnut Hill as chairman of the State Public Utilities Commission. Lieut. Governor Hurley was also a candidate for this office, but the death of Judge Weed enabled the Governor to give Mr. Hurley the appointment to the Superior Court bench.

Thousands of Newton residents will not approve the action of the Newton Board of Aldermen in dismissing without a trial the slightest discussion in open meeting the petition of John C. Moench of Waltham st., West Newton, for an ordinance to prohibit long and continuous blowing of automobile horns in this city between the hours of 11 p. m. and 6 a. m. A large percentage of Newton citizens believe that Mr. Moench might well have petitioned for an ordinance which would prohibit any blowing of automobile horns (except in cases of emergency) between the hours of 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. Boston and other cities have passed ordinances of this type as de-terrents to inconsiderate or mean operators of automobiles.

If the members of the Board of Aldermen resided on a street where there is even fairly heavy automobile traffic as does the writer, and had to be disturbed night after night by autoists sounding horns after midnight and during wet morning hours, these Aldermen would realize the need of such an ordinance. It is a regular habit of numerous autoists who travel along Pearl st. (and this is equally true of many other streets in the city) to sound blaring automobile horns as they speed by Jackson rd. and other intersecting streets at all hours of the late night and early morning, even though there is not another car within a mile. Too many speeders use the horns on their cars in preference to slowing down while approaching intersections.

And then we have those considerate autoists who blow the horns on their cars at midnight and after to inform other persons that they await outside some house. These pests are too lazy to alight from a car and ring a doorbell.

At a recent meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen, Alderman Temperley called attention to the failure of a special committee appointed early this year to have made any report. This committee's duty was to study the matter of the removal of snow from sidewalks in this city. Over half a century ago an ordinance was passed in Newton compelling the removal of snow from hard surfaced sidewalks in certain sections of the city within 24 hours following the end of a snowstorm. Prior to the days when automobiles became common, and when most Newton residents walked, the snow removal ordinance was enforced. But, for many years it has not been enforced. Even in business sections where store owners or managers have but 20 feet or less of sidewalk in front of their business places, snow and ice has not been cleared from the sidewalks, and the police have permitted such ignoring of the snow removal ordinance. Even sidewalks adjoining city owned properties have not been cleared of snow as the ordinance specifies.

During the past few winters when heavy snowfalls were frequent, those Newton residents who walk, have been compelled to travel on our streets. They could not walk on shovelled sidewalks, or sidewalks where ice made walking impossible. Walking on streets with automobiles moving swiftly on icy surfaces, certainly is hazardous and has caused death and injuries to many pedestrians in recent winters. Mr. Temperley was justified in reminding his colleagues of their failure to make a report on this important matter. At the meeting of the Board last Monday night, Alderman Hutchinson, chairman of the special committee, made a progressive report. According to that report, instead of bringing about the enforcement of the old ordinance, the proposed ordinance would abolish compulsory removal of snow from sidewalks except in business and general residence zones, instead of improving conditions, it would make them worse. Instead of

Ready for 1937

Offhand I can think of a whole lot of good resolutions for the New Year. Realizing that a long list is dangerous in that one may forget some of them, I feel I should note a number of the more outstanding. With these disposed of, it will be easier to concentrate on those demanding deepest contemplation. Therefore, I lose no time in saying that I shall not attempt to fly across the Atlantic ocean either way in an airplane, that I shall not buy a cruising yacht for the summer pleasure, that I shall not attempt the ownership of any race horses either by purchase or wagers, that I shall not compose letters to the editor about the conduct of royalty and commoners and their romances of which I may or may not happen to approve, that if I write a "best-seller" novel it will not be as lengthy as the two record-breakers of recent years, that I shall not commit murder if asked, "How does it feel, Winter, suit you?" and that I shall offer no advice as to what efforts my friends should make to keep their resolutions intact.

Ready to Fight It

Loyalty to the institution of learning from which one has received a degree or degrees, no matter how long ago, seems to be an outstanding characteristic of young and old "grads." Sometimes you will find a dispute as to the superiority of one college over another. I think those who were graduated from what are sometimes termed "minor" institutions, are more apt to display vigor in defence of their alma mater than a man who feels the position of his college is quite secure.

Evidence to support my notion came to me the other day. Two young men, not so long out of college, were talking about the training they had obtained. "By the way," said the Harvard man, "what college did you attend?"

His companion, not without a sense of humor, drew into the attitude of pugilist and putting up his fists said, "University, what's the matter with it?"

Maybe it's a disposition to butt-in but let's call it an interest in civic affairs. At any rate when some public improvement has been made we often feel we should keep an eye on it. Possibly we are critical if our sense of this or that has been offended. Nevertheless, we like to follow developments.

There you have my reason for approaching one of the Elevated officials to learn how the additional platform space at the Park Street subway station appealed to travelers. I wondered if the people availed themselves of the newly constructed platform on the northeast side and the entrances and exits under Tremont street.

I put the matter before this man and he said that there seemed to be a reasonable amount of appreciation and use of the recently added facilities. "Well," I persisted, "do you happen to know whether more passengers use the right hand door or the left in leaving the car?"

"Listen," he said in the manner of a teacher propounding an important truth, "passengers are like sheep they follow a leader, so one side gets the majority one minute and the other side the next."

It doubtless seems a long time since Christmas, but not until it was too late to make last week's column was I told an example of sophistication that I cannot keep to myself. A man who is annually called upon to dress-up and perform as Santa Claus, because he does such a good job at it, chuckled when he recounted his experience.

Seems he was capering before the youngest pupils of a Church School—the kindergartners—and striving to think-up suitable patter. "Now children," said he, "I hope you will take the greatest care to see that chimneys are clean Christmas eve because I wouldn't want to get any soot on my whiskers." "Aw, nerfs," chorused a number of his tiny audience.

Tempest in a Flower Pot

That Chinese plant, a Christmas gift, has brought about a family rift; Agreed upon its beautiful bloom, its name with argument fills the room; Says one, "I guess I ought to know, They call it a ka-lan-choe," The other shouts, "No, not for me, That plant's a ka-lan-choe."

the Auburndale Garden Club will hold their first meeting of the new year on Tuesday, January 5th. Mrs. John F.
Brown, Jr., chairman of the Garden Club, will present Mrs. Georgiana R.
Smith, who will give a discussion on tails that make a home individual and charming.Tea will be served.

Preceding Mrs. Smith's lecture, there will be a half-hour business sessionChristmas ObservancesThe Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club observed the Christmas season at the meeting on Monday, December 14.Following a short business session, a ten-minute talk was given by Miss Harriet Parsons upon the sale of Christmas Seals. Mrs. G. Viola
Dangelmeier of Waltham, State Federation chairman, and Mrs. David Black, of Newton, chairman of the committee of Co-operation with Disabled War Veterans of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, gave interesting talks on the work among "the boys" at the Rutland camp.
A generous collection was taken for the Christmas stockings for the veterans.The Club members have made seven bags for the Christmas donation and reported three completely filled, a gift of some of the members.
Mrs. Charles R. Brown presented as a Christmas gift to a Disabled War Veteran a beautiful afghan which she crocheted during the summer vacation for this work in behalf of the disabled veterans.Following the singing of a group of Christmas Carols, led by Mrs. Ruth Sharrott, a very fine illustrated lecture was delivered by Mr. Anton Han-ania, a native of Jerusalem, who gave a highly educational, historical and religious talk upon that holy city.
Mrs. Ruth Sharrott and her committee of workers served refreshments.
The evening was outstanding for the beautiful Christmas spirit that inspired the meeting.Coming EventsJan. 1. Newton Centre Woman's

And Dances
Give PleasureMembers and guests of the Auburndale Woman's Club paused in the rush of their holiday activities, to attend the Christmas meeting on Tuesday, December 22nd."The Yees," Hilda and George, Chinese children from the studio of Lucille Perry Hall, entertained with several different types of dances, which included an oriental dance, ballet and rhumba dances. Each one was interpreted with skill, considering the youth of these charming Chinese children. Paul Anderson, Pianist, accompanied the young dancers.Mrs. Roseth Knapp Breed, Dramatic Impersonator of eccentric female characters, kept her audience in a high state of merriment throughout her program. Her character presentations included a "born organizer," who, together with running a home with three children and a maid, tried, and successfully, to run her community, too, even to the extent of putting a fountain in the town square, although she wasn't sure that she could get the water to play in it! Her second characterization was that of a country telephone operator, a comical, homely type, who knew all the village gossip, and imparted it to everyone. Apropos of the holiday season, a very human sketch was presented with the main theme of "Christmas Cards," in which "To send or not to send" was the question. Quite the funniest bit on her program, was the next sketch, which was entitled "A Bit of Gossip Over the Back Fence—Being Clinicked" by Alice Hegan Rice, well-known author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Mrs. Breed brought her program to an end with "Motoring in the Gay Nineties," which brought back memories of first rides when automobiles were new and the speed of twenty-five miles an hour seemed fast and furious.Mrs. Grace H. Fiske, of the Program committee, served as Day chairman.The Art Corner, under the supervision of Mrs. Edgar O. Butz and her committee, featured an Oriental exhibit. Many rare and lovely pieces were displayed, including bronze vases, wine cups, tooth-pick holders, beautiful kimonos, tea sets, ginger jars, and lamps. Among the members who lent their possessions were Mrs. Leonard
M. Outerbridge, Mrs. W. Kirke Corey,
Mrs. William M. Flye, Mrs. Edgar O.
Butz, Mrs. Charles S. Grover, and Mrs.
Rowland, of the Auburndale Missionary Home.Preceding the entertainment, the usual business program was held during which the president, Mrs. Edward
B. Gray, extended her Christmas greeting to the Club. Mrs. Gray announced that the play "Broken Dishes," which had been presented at the Club House the preceding Friday and Saturday nights had been very successful, and lauded Mrs. James Dunlop for her efficient handling of the many tickets, and Mrs. Herman Krueger for her capable managing and directing of the play.Announcement was made that there would be no January meeting of the American Home committee, but that there would be the usual meeting at Lasell Seminary in February, with Mrs. Lawrence L. Fidalgo in charge of the meeting.Mrs. Edwin H. Dyer, Contact member of the Physically Handicapped division, would like all members to save bits of yarn, empty jars, spoons and buttons for use in the Children's Hospital.Miss Harriet Parsons, head of the Newton Welfare Bureau, gave an enlightening talk on the specific use of the money obtained through the selling of Christmas Seals. The money does several things: carries on warfare against tuberculosis, in several ways; increases the permanent clinics throughout the world; provides milk to children who are contact cases; sends youngsters to health camps; and provides milk, fruit and vegetables to adults who have come back from sanitariums.Quota of

In His Hair

Melvyn Douglas, it seems, is being heckled. However, there are a couple of thousand guys who would willingly change places with him for a few moments, as the lady in his locks is none other than the charming Irene Dunne. She turns to comedy for the first time in her career in Columbia's "Theodora Goes Wild," the feature attraction at the Paramount Theatre, Newton, beginning Sunday.

Christmas Carolling By Glee Club Singers

In keeping with the early traditions about forty members of Highland Glee Club of Newton gathered at Newton Highlands square at 4 o'clock Christmas morning and carried the Yuletide Spirit throughout the city. The quartette of horns, under leadership of Mrs. G. W. Ullmer of Newton Centre, played a Christmas hymn which was quickly followed by the voices in "There Dwelt in Old Judea" and "Lo, How a Rose." The deep, early morning quiet, twinkling lights as they appeared at the upper windows, followed by the happy faces of children as well as grown-ups, completed the happy Christmas morning scenes. At Peabody home the children were treated to an extra by the carollers "Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells," greeted them after the hymns and carols had been sung. The breakfast served by William Underhill at his home serves to cement the fellowship of the Club with a family feeling that simply surges through his whole household. Promptly the tour of carolling is taken up again, and continues to the Old Ladies' Home on Beacon st., a great reward, their cheery "Merry Christmas!" at the close. Newton Hospital, the last stop, is full of interest. Four floors with windows open to the Christmas spirit, the songs drifting up from the gathered carollers below. Then a reception inside with a collation and more singing, in which all join.

Annual Get-Together of Newtonville Men's Clubs

The annual get-together of the Men's Clubs of the Newtonville Churches will be held next Monday evening with a dinner at six-thirty. The Central Club of the Congregational Church will be the host club to the Clafin Club of the Methodist Church and the St. John's Men's Club of the Episcopal Church. Dudley Hovey, president of the Central Club, will preside.

Following the dinner and a special program of music there will be a showing of the official government moving pictures of the building of Boulder Dam. These will be presented by Roy F. Williams, general manager of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts and an assistant to Col. Charles R. Gow in the $49,000,000 construction job, one of the great engineering feats of the century.

STEARNS SCHOOL CENTRE CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

All the members of the Stearns School Centre found many ways in which to enjoy the Christmas activities at the Centre. Every child made gifts for fathers, mothers or baby sisters.

Numbers of friends provided entertainment and happiness. The Newtonville Women's Club presented a very lovely Christmas legend for the children in the afternoon of Wednesday and repeated the performance for the members of the two mothers' clubs in the evening. At the afternoon party refreshments were served and each child received a Christmas stocking. An old friend of the Mothers' Clubs gave each a jar of jelly to take home. The Live Wire Girls' Club, The Rainbow Club, the Storytelling Club, the Supper Club, all composed of adolescent girls, enjoyed evenings of fun and games. Refreshments were served and gifts exchanged, providing much merriment. Eighteen boys and girls were entertained by the Newtonville Woman's Club at a Christmas party on Tuesday afternoon and on Thursday afternoon, 40 boys and girls found a good time under the auspices of the Newton Community Club.

 Rain falls in Cairo, Egypt, for only four to six days a year, averaging about one inch of rain a year.

Mutiny at the Nore Was Partly Caused by Cheese

The mutiny at the Nore in 1797 was partly caused by cheese, according to a London, England, authority.

Early in the Eighteenth century there was a statement as to the value of particular cheese for the navy. It was to the effect that one third of a pound of Cheshire cheese was equal to one pound of Suffolk cheese.

What would appear to be a harmless reference to the individual taste of the sailors of that time, was one of the principal causes of the mutiny, for the sailors, particularly those from Suffolk, much resented, that there should be any differentiation against them.

Preserved food was introduced to the navy in 1840, when the Admiralty installed a plant at the Deptford Victualling yard. Some years later the issue of tinned meat coincided with the murder of a child named Fanny Adams, whose body was cut up.

From that day the navy called tinned meat "Fanny Adams."

In the mutiny at the Nore the ringleader, Richard Parker, styled himself "President of the Floating Republic." He was hanged from the yardarm of his ship.

President Grant Called Uncle Sam at West Point

President Grant was named Hiram Ulysses, but by a curious error he became known in history as Ulysses Simpson Grant, writes a correspondent in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. When he was about seventeen years old he received his appointment to West Point Military academy through Congressman Thomas L. Hamer. Grant had been familiarly known by his middle name, and Hamer, who was sufficiently acquainted with him to know that, gave the young candidate's name as Ulysses S. Grant, Simpson being the maiden name of his mother. This circumstance was probably the origin of the error.

Grant applied to the West Point authorities and later to the secretary of war to have the error corrected, but somehow it was never done. He did not press the matter, and his associates at West Point promptly adopted the initials U. S. and called him Uncle Sam, a nickname he retained to some extent in the army. He was graduated in 1843, and his commission and diploma both styled him Ulysses S. Grant, by which name he was always afterward known.

Irrigation Old

Irrigation is as old as the first farmer. In ancient Egypt, as now, the water of the Nile was stored during the annual overflow and distributed later through small ditches, notes a writer in the Washington Post. More than 1,000 years before Christ, the Babylonians had a great irrigation system, based on the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, which enabled what is now a barren waste of sand to support a huge population. Palestine, with a scanty rainfall, has always found irrigation necessary. China has 50,000,000 acres under irrigation and India 55,000,000. This is about double the area of irrigated land in the United States. Japan, Australia, Italy, Spain, southern France and Mexico also depend on irrigation for much of their foodstuffs and most of the western part of the United States would be worthless for farming without it.

Congressmen

In popular usage the term congressman is applied to a member of the house of representatives; but officially, he is designated a representative, and a member of the senate, a senator. Strictly speaking, however, a member of either the house or the senate might be called a congressman, because congress consists of two branches—the senate and the house of representatives. While this is technically correct, it is misleading, because the average person uses congressman when speaking of a representative, and this usage has become so well established that a senator is never called a congressman.

Deep Water Wells

One of the deepest water wells in the world is at Putnam Heights, Conn. It goes down 6,004 feet, but yields only two gallons per minute. Another, at Passy, France, is 1,923 feet deep and shoots 5,000,000 gallons a day to a height of 54 feet above the ground. Wells have many uses. They supply water for irrigation, and even for keeping hospitals warm. Some deep wells send up water which is hot the year round. One at Charleston, S. C., for example, spouts water which registers 87 degrees.

Hand-Loom Weaving

Hand-loom weaving is an art which dates back to the beginning of civilization. Its greatest impetus in the United States took place during the Revolution when our supply of fabrics from the mother country was shut off. From then on, notes a writer in Successful Farming, until factory-made cloth became so cheap it was developed extensively. By the middle of the last century, only a few hand looms were still in operation, and these only in isolated mountain regions.

Inquest On Death Of Prof. Powers

An inquest was held at the Newton district court on Monday before Judge Weston on the death of Professor Harry Powers of 83 Church st., Newton. Mr. Powers, who was 77 years of age, was hit and fatally injured on the morning of Nov. 23, by an automobile which swerved across Centre st., mounted the sidewalk near Church st., and pinned the aged man against a heavy wire fence alongside property which he owned. The car was driven by Ellis Sjulander of 138 Beech st., Belmont. Before striking Mr. Powers, the car had collided with an automobile driven by Charles Mays of Sutherland rd., Brighton. Sjulander stated that he was driving southerly along Centre st. at a speed of about 15 miles and thought he could pass the intersection safely. Mays stated that he stopped his car before it entered Centre st. His car collided with that of Sjulander. Others who testified at the inquest were J. Edward Theriault of Bridge st., Newton, who carried Mr. Powers to the hospital; Dominic Plantedosi of Watertown, who was riding with Sjulander, and Inspector Burke of the Newton police, who investigated the case.

French Flag Once Waved Over the State of Texas

While it cannot be claimed that France ever owned what is now the state of Texas, it is true that early in history the French flag flew over part of that area, states a writer in the Detroit News. The only period during which the French held any of this territory was in 1685 and for a short time after, when La Salle landed at Matagorda Bay and established a colony on Lavaca river, which was soon abandoned. Alarmed by this unsuccessful French invasion, the Spaniards of Mexico established missions and forts in the territory, but many of these were given up and the Spaniards failed really to settle the country prior to 1821, when the first colonization by American families under Stephen Austin began.

La Salle's little French settlement in Texas was called Fort Saint Louis. Though he had claimed the territory for France, this claim could not be upheld after the colony was wiped out by disease and the Indians. Again, in 1802, when Napoleon acquired the Spanish territories which he sold later to the United States as the Louisiana Purchase, there is some evidence to show that he considered his possessions to extend west of the Rio Grande.

"Parting of Ways," Odd Celebration for Wales

An odd annual celebration held in the mountain villages of Wales before the "Hiring Fairs," and an observance similar to the American "Hiring Week," marks the end of the yearly contract between farmers and their hired hands.

Older people tell tales of the other days, while boys and girls celebrate their release from work by dressing in each other's clothes, blackening their faces to frighten those about the fires and ducking in tubs of water for apples and small coins.

This is a night of fun and merry-making, but the Hiring Fairs are more serious business. On those days young men and women who wish to hire out for the next year assemble under the Town Clock in Aberystwyth, spending the early hours discussing their previous employers.

Farmers, too, wander about comparing notes with one another, praising or condemning their old hired hands. Before long, however, all are busy discussing wages and contracts for the coming year and by noon the hiring is almost over, the region of the Town Clock deserted and Aberystwyth ready again to settle into its usual routine.

Cost of Statue of Liberty

The famous Statue of Liberty, the concept of Bartholdi, the French sculptor, cost 1,000,000 francs exclusive of the cost of the pedestal (which was paid for in the United States), every sou of which was raised by popular subscription in France. The total cost of the statue mounted, including the $300,000 cost of the pedestal and foundation, subscribed voluntarily by American citizens, was $1,000,000. The statue in its youth was used as a light-house as well as a symbol, and not until 1902 was the care of the statue transferred to the War department. Miss Liberty became a national monument in 1924, but the military police who are quartered at Fort Wood on Bedloe's island, still continued to guard the statue until 1933, when the maintenance and guardianship of the statue was switched to the National Park service.

Belongs to Poultry Family

The Chacalaca, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times, is a member of the feathered clans and rightly belongs to the Gallinae or poultry family which includes the ordinary domestic species, grouse, quail, turkey and pheasant. Any number of them are found in Mexico and Central America. The eye of the bird has the same animation and fire as the game cock and Mexicans claim they fight in a similar manner. We find them called the Texas Guan in some localities but the name Chacalaca is given because of their cry which sounds like the local name.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 3.
 The Golden Text is: "God is the Lord, which hath shewed us light." (Psalms 118:27).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Romans 8:38, 39).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the evidence before the material senses yielded to spiritual sense, the apostle declared that nothing could alienate him from God, from the sweet sense and presence of Life and Truth. It is ignorance and false belief, based on a material sense of things, which hide the spiritual beauty and goodness. Understanding this, Paul said: 'Neither death nor life, . . . nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God.'" (p. 303).

Called Wool Cotton for Many Years in Britain

Very few of the millions of Lancashire folk who get their living from cotton are aware of how it came to get that name. Yet the word cotton had made itself at home in Britain long before we began to import the hairs of the gossypium shrub, or cotton plant. Wool was called cotton six centuries ago, says a writer in Pearson's Weekly.

In the Fourteenth century, a colony of Germans were brought over from the continent by Edward III, and were sent to the village of Manchester, amid country that was then wild and barren, to spin and weave woolen stuffs. Shirts in those days were woven of hair, and gowns were woolen. And for some 200 years, the woolen fabrics of Manchester were known to our ancestors as cotton.

The words cot, cottage, cothouse and coast, besides cotton, all mean things laid alongside each other, like the straw in thatch, the fibres on the thread and the sea and land along the shore. Many other things besides cotton have obtained their names from the way in which they are worked.

About 250 years after the arrival of the German colony of "cotton" spinners of woolen stuffs, the hairs of the gossypium found their way into England from Turkey, and were wrought into Manchester goods. Although a vegetable had replaced an animal material, the old name of the manufacturing process stuck to the new fabric.

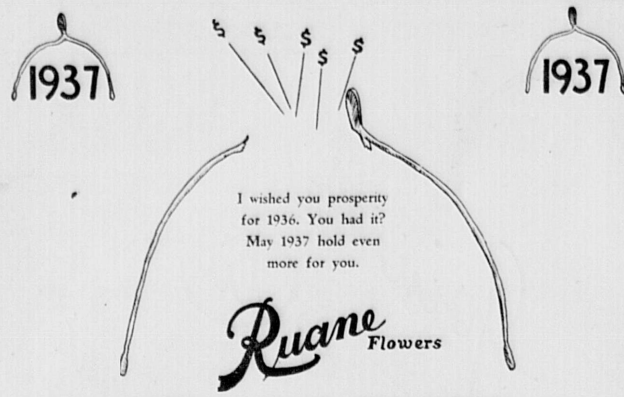

Portland Vase Is Finest Cameo Cut Glass Relic

The Portland Vase, celebrated ancient Roman glass vase or cinerary urn, was found during the pontificate of Urban VIII (1623-44) in a marble sarcophagus (of Alexander Severus, it is thought and his mother, Mammaea) in the Monte del Grano, near Rome. It was at first deposited in the Barberini palace at Rome and hence is sometimes called the Barberini Vase. It was bought in 1770 by Sir William Hamilton and in 1787 by the Portland family, who deposited it in 1810 with the British museum, where it has since remained, except for an attempted auction in May, 1929, at Christie's. When no worthwhile bid was received it returned to the possession of the duke of Portland, who announced it would continue to be on view at the British museum.

The vase was broken to pieces by a lunatic in 1845, according to a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, but the fragments were very skillfully united again. The vase is 10 inches high, with the ground of dark blue glass, and the figure-subjects which adorn it are cut in cameo style in an outer layer of opaque white glass. It is the finest specimen of an ancient cameo cut glass vase known.

CHRISTMAS IN NEWTON HOSPITAL

Christmas was a wonderful day at the Newton Hospital. Those who visited their friends there found them enjoying a real "Hospital Family Day." The lighted Christmas trees, wreaths, and other festive decorations gave the corridors and wards the appropriate atmosphere.

For many days the nurses had devoted their spare time to wrapping packages which Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus in appropriate costume presented to each patient on Christmas morning. These gifts were chosen by the nurses who knew the patients best which accounts for the exclamations of delight from those who felt this personal touch. The anticipations of personnel and patients were justified by the happy outcome. Never has the hospital looked more festive and never has Santa's pack been fuller. He carried a varied assortment of warm woolen bedjackets and stockings, delicious fruit, dainty toilet articles, etc., and of course every patient received a stocking of candy.

In large measure the Christmas happiness was due to the very delightful tradition of the trustees who have through personal contributions all the expense of decorations and gifts.

Many friends also planned for the happiness of patients as evidenced by baskets of hand-made and store-made toys of every kind. Indeed one might think the children's ward had amalgamated with a zoological garden after Santa had presented them with their gifts. Another friend sent a large supply of delicious oranges.

Quite early in December Santa Claus, Santason, and a jolly clown came from Jordan Marsh and heralded the happy season by visiting each ward and making each child happy by a gift wrapped in gay paper with his or her own name on it.

On Sunday evening preceding Christmas, Mr. Ralph MacLean directed the Highland Glee Club and the Nurses' Glee Club in a repertoire of favorite songs and on the following Monday evening, the Fraternity Glee Club sang carols for the patients and later gave a concert for the nurses. Just before the patients were settled for the night on Christmas Eve, carolers also came from Grace Church, and the American Legion Band of the Newton Post in charge of Dr. Thomas Dowd played Christmas carols on the hospital lawn.

These activities were a part of the "getting ready" for the morning greeting to patients, when the graduate nurses, student nurses, and internes visited each floor and ward singing Christmas songs, being very sure not to omit those asked for by patients. Again later in the morning the Highland Glee Club with a professional of trumpeters sang carols.

Here and there were found patients who had previously spent a Christmas Day in the hospital. Their happy expectancy helped to create an atmosphere among other patients which made the setting delightfully complete.

Canadian Indians Cling to "Big Canoe" Legend

The remnants of the Indians in the country surrounding Cape Trinity and Eternity, the high points on the Saguenay river, cling to the ancient belief that the ark, as they term it, "the big canoe," rested on the top of Cape Trinity, 2,000 feet above the level of the river which skirts its base, and was placed there by a flood which inundated the rest of the earth, destroying all life thereon, only the families of worthy Indians, as well as pairs of the various animals and birds, being preserved by the Great Manitou, whose guiding hand landed "the big canoe" on the last bit of earth left uncovered by water.

The Indians also have a legend, states a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer, which bears considerable resemblance to the casting of Satan and his rebellious followers out of paradise. According to the Indian tradition, the Great Manitou cast the "fallen angels" over the precipice of Cape Trinity. All met death in the river below with the exception of the leader, who was so strong that the fall of 2,000 feet only crippled him.

As this "angel" gathered strength he became the demon of the river, wrecking canoes, drowning peaceful Indians and wreaking havoc in general.

Mayo, the father of the Indian race, decided to seek and vanquish him in a hand-to-hand encounter. The battle between the two was terrific, Mayo swinging the demon around his head and against the rock of Trinity with such force that the three great gashes in the mountain resulted from the contacts, so the tradition continues. Finally Mayo was victorious, crushing out the life of the demon and thus restoring peace and quiet to the beautiful waters of the Saguenay.

Tradition of St. John's

Fires Faithfully Noted

The prehistoric tradition of St. John's fires in France, appropriated from paganism by Christianity, is faithfully observed, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Sunday Observer. Boys and girls go round the village begging for fuel for the bonfire. A bunch of wild herbs at the top of a staff is set up in the middle. As the flames rise towards it, the girls of the village try to snatch a flower from it, just as it begins to be singed, or else they will throw a flower through the flames and try to save it, burned a little—for this is indispensable—but not burned up. To do so brings luck, and means marriage within the year.

The old people carry away one of the scorched embers and keep it. They will even sprinkle it with holy water. Others will scatter a few sparks from the fire over the hen-roosts. This will make the chickens healthy, according to the tradition.

Form of Indian "Adoption"

One form of "adoption" not uncommon among the Ohio Indians, was instituted by old squaws who had lost their husbands and who could not find a new one available in their own tribe. The woman would have a party of men go out and capture a white man, preferably a white leader, and bring him to her. At the Indian camp, amid ceremonies that would sometimes last for four or five weeks, the white man was not only adopted into the tribe but formally married to the old squaw. One phase of the ceremony was the immersion of the newcomer in a stream so that the white blood might be washed from his veins. If the captive refused to marry the squaw he was put to death, so he usually consented, but at the first opportunity would escape to his former home.

Purified With Mud

Ancient Greek priests purified sinners by smearing them with mud. Mud pressed together by tremendous pressure becomes slate, which is used to roof buildings, make blackboards, crayons and many other articles. Certain wasps, called diggers, use mud to build their nests. Men have even made adobe houses of it. The floor of the ocean is covered with great mud deposits. Most of these are blackish-blue, but some are brown; others red, blue or green. Nature traps animals in mud, which preserves their bones. Scientists dig up the bones and read the secrets of the past.

Scent Attracts Animals

Many fur-bearing animals, such as the marten, mink and fisher, are far too wary to go near a trap set in the ordinary way. To catch them a scent is necessary. This is made from many different substances, such as musk, asafetida, oil of anise (a plant of the parsley family), and common fish oil. Trails of these scents are laid from all directions to the trap. When the fur-bearer comes along, it smells the scent, which is sprinkled sparingly on tree trunks and bushes, and follows the trail until it steps into the trap.

Gun Used as Yardstick

In the old trapping days of the Hudson Bay company in Canada, at a time when beaver skins were of great value in Europe, a trade gun could buy from the Indians as many beaver skins as could be piled up on each side of the gun.

Girl Scouts Sell Wreaths To Aid Bugle Corps

Every Christmas the Newton Girl Scouts sell Christmas wreaths, as many people in Newton know, to pay for the costs of running their drum and bugle corps, since it is not supported by funds from the community chest.

This year Troops 32 and 12 gave their profits above what they needed for maintenance of the drum and bugle corps to Mr. Pearson at the Bigelow School to buy clothing and necessities for deserving children. In some cases lack of a pair of shoes or a heavy coat was keeping boys and girls from attending school. The scouts turned over to him fifteen dollars, $8.40 realized from sales of wreaths, and the remainder collected from interested parents.

Mrs. Redfield has reported that the scouts have turned in nearly one hundred dollars for the support of their drum and bugle corps this year.

New High Speed Florida Train

The Atlantic Coast Line has increased its already splendid fleet of Florida trains by inaugurating a new very fast non-stop morning train from Washington, named the "Everglades," No. 81.

The principal purpose of the "Everglades" is to provide a direct connection for Florida visitors who live in the territory from which the most convenient service is via Washington on one of the many overnight trains, including "The Federal," arriving at Washington in the morning from the north and west.

The "Everglades" is therefore scheduled to leave Washington at 9 a. m., making only one passenger stop (Richmond, Va.), and speeding through to Jacksonville during the day. Equipment consists of through sleeping cars from Washington for Miami, Tampa and St. Petersburg, which points and other cities adjacent are reached early the next morning. Through coaches are carried from Washington to Jacksonville and connecting coaches on trains south of Jacksonville. Dining cars are also carried.

It is believed that the "Everglades" is the fastest train ever scheduled south of the Potomac and one of the fastest steam trains in the country for the distance traveled.

The fact that no passenger stops are made between Richmond and Jacksonville and also the fact that the Atlantic Coast line has a continuous double track, rock ballasted, safety protected right of way, makes it possible to present this splendid morning Florida train.

Christmas Seal Sale

Although the annual national sale of Christmas Health Seals is scheduled for the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas, the local chairman for the divisions of Newton have not as yet had replies to many of the letters mailed on Nov. 25th.

It will be of great assistance to these hard-working chairmen and their committees if those who have not made their contributions will give attention to this appeal as early as possible. Some may have deferred their purchases until after the busy season just passed; others may be able to purchase only part of the sheet of one hundred seals. Coins, if wrapped, will travel safely in the mail, and if accompanied by the remainder of the seals will enable the chairmen to close the files, in which a card is kept representing each letter mailed.

By contributing, one actively joins in the work of the local and national tuberculosis societies and gives help in the most important and most hopeful campaign ever undertaken to overcome a scourge. Early diagnosis and systematic treatment of the individual cases, the betterment of the condition of the poor, prompt recognition of contact cases, these are most important factors in the fight, and can only be accomplished by the active interest of the citizens of all localities joined together in the one great movement.

Following is the statement of receipts up to December 29th:

Camp Frank A. Day Reunion
On Tuesday evening more than one hundred and fifty campers and parents were present at the mid-season reunion of Camp Day at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Charles D. Kepner, chairman of the Camp Committee, presided, and after the dinner introduced Mr. C. Evan Johnson who gave a talk on the important dates of 1937. Mr. Fred A. Hawkins spoke on the improvements which include new platforms in the Junior Camp, replacing the skylights, repairing and digging of catch basins to save the soil erosion, and installing a dishwashing machine. Mr. H. W. Bascom announced the change of personnel including the appointment of Prof. Fred E. Day to the position of Assistant Director in charge of the Mid-Season Reunion, and Mr. C. Evan Johnson who would return for his seventh season as Associate Director. Mr. Clyde G. Hess, Director of the Camp, was enthusiastically cheered when he arose to extend greetings to the boys and their parents. He spoke of the necessity of early registration for the 1937 season because the Camp would not be enlarged this year.

The principal speaker was Capt. Jack Abernathy, of the old frontier in Arizona. He gave his experiences of catching wolves barehanded, and his relationship with former President Theodore Roosevelt.

As in former years, the Reunion marks the beginning of the season's registration. Over forty applications have already been requested. The following are some of the Campers returning: Herbert Mayo, Howard Hatch, Billy Valentine, Thomas Shepard, Richard Higgins, Dick Ives, Barrows Whitmore, John Fairfield, Waldo Kingston, Bennett Turner, Lister Benjamin, Olcott Williams, Larry Beeten, Rayton Nichols, Robert Everett, Lawrence Howe, Charles Spettel, Jack Wilson, Carl Needy, Charles Johnson, Geoffrey Plunkett, Stephen Ellis, Allan Reese, Richard Everett, Dick Brumhall, Robert Humphrey, Stuart Munter, Bobby Furman, Philip Johnson, Walker Richardson, Harold Bornstein, Ray Hunting, Dick Spittel, Richard Howland, Loring Kidder, Bobby Connelly, Bob Young, John Bloom.

The Newton Hi-Y Club held their Reunion Dance at Longwood Towers on Monday evening. Over six hundred attended the party, and dancing was enjoyed from nine until one, with music furnished by Ken Reeves Orchestra.

Tuesday evening the Club entertained former members of the past three years. A large number returned to attend this meeting. President Jack Selby called on the three past Presidents for brief remarks—Duncan Cotting '34, Gilbert Myers '35, and William Daniels '36.

Aldermen Hold Final Meeting For 1936

The last regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen for 1936 was held on Monday night. President Floyd opened the meeting at 7:55 and all members were present except Alderman Nichols.

No opposition appeared against a petition of the Edison Company for a transfer of ownership of poles on Watertown and Bridge sts., Nonantum, heretofore jointly owned with the telephone company; a petition of the Boston Elevated Company for a franchise to operate motor vehicles for a short distance on Boylston st., near the Brookline line; and a petition of the C. F. Eddy Company to increase storage of fuel oil at the rear of 1411 Washington st., West Newton, from 30,000 to 45,000 gallons. Later in the meeting all of these petitions were granted.

Appropriations passed at the meeting included — Playground Department, $700; Water Department, maintenance of trucks, $500; Welfare Department, for poor outside of infirmary, $11,000; drain for brook near Dickerman rd., $1530; payment for land damage to Walter Johnson, Ferncroft rd., Waban, for sewer easement, $11,000 for welfare relief made the total for this type of relief $276,000 for 1936. The Board also authorized a bond issue of $100,000 for sewers and a $100,000 bond issue for streets. Alderman Bowen, for the Finance Committee, explained that the money received through these issues will be largely used in work next year, but by authorizing the bond issues now, it will prevent the legal requirement of $43,000 being taken from tax levies the coming year for each of these purposes, and thus will aid in keeping the 1937 tax rate lower.

The Licenses Committee recommended the granting of a permit for a 3-car garage to Charles Wing at 98 Homer st. Alderman Colby stated the lot at this address is 195 feet deep. Edward Halloran was given a permit to erect a 1-car garage at 95 Dedham st. in addition to a 2-car garage now there.

On recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee the Board voted leave to withdraw on a number of claims. That of Annie Moran for injuries received when she fell on a sidewalk was refused because it is contended that the street where the accident occurred was not opened for public travel. Andrew Lakan's claim for damage to his car caused by a collision with the service truck of the Fire Department was refused. Alderman Cronin stated that he understood there had been promise of an agreement by the driver of the city owned truck to make a settlement. Eleanor Fleming of Wellesley who sought damages because of an injury received when the car in which she was riding hit an alleged defect on Cherry st., also was unsuccessful. It was stated that the alleged defect consisted of a temporary bridge over an excavation, and that red lights had been placed there. Dr. Richard Norton of Oxford rd., Newton Centre lost his claim for damages. Last March the cellar at his house became filled with sewage which backed in through a toilet there. It was contended that the city was not to blame. Others whose claims were refused were—Joseph Rogers for damage to property at 154 Tremont st., Newton, caused by a boiler collapsing when water was shut off; Fred G. Howe, Jr. for damage to automobile caused by an alleged defect in a street.

Sarah Braithwaite of Central st., Auburndale, fared better in her claim. She was awarded $125 for an injury received when she stepped off a high curbing at Central st. and Maple ave.; said curbing being set on a slant. Charles Cantelli was awarded $5 for damage to his car. Pieces of rock from a blast near the new Oak Hill School hit the vehicle.

On recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee the Board voted "no action necessary" on the petition of J. C. Moench of 432 Waltham st. that an ordinance be passed which would prohibit long and continuous blowing of automobile horns between 11 p. m. and 6 a. m.

On recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee the zoning ordinance was amended to include the east side of Chapel st. between Watertown and California sts. in the area of Nonantum private from manufacturing to private residence zone. Alderman Rawson explained that this section had been originally included in the change, but action on it was deferred to give the Raytheon Company a chance to purchase land there for parking spaces. As the company did not buy the land, the change was made to protect owners of residences along the street.

Two petitions for zoning changes were received. One from Antonio Accetullo is for changing two lots on Eliot st., Newton Upper Falls, near Eliot ter., from private residence to business zone. The other is from the West Newton Co-operative Bank and seeks to change parcels of property at 619, 629, 649 Washington st., and 9, 17, 18 and 24 Craft st. from general residence to business zone. A number of similar petitions for such changes were received in past years from former owners of these properties. These petitions were consistently refused.

Alderman Hill reported that the special conditions appointed to consider traffic conditions in Newton needs further time to study this problem. Alderman Hutchinson reported that the special committee, appointed nearly a year ago, to consider the question of snow removal from sidewalks, also needs more time. He said that inquiries had been sent to 22 cities and towns to find out what they do regarding this matter. Seventeen had sent back answers. Some compel the removal of snow; others do not. Hutchinson commented that the present ordinance relative to snow removal

NEWTON TIES RINDGE IN LEAGUE HOCKEY

With the New Year still two days away, Newton High's hockey team turned over a new leaf Wednesday afternoon at the Boston Garden, holding the high-powered Rindge Tech skaters to a 1-1 tie. Both goals were made within two minutes of the opening whistle. Allan Turner, first-string right wing, carried past the Rindge defense and beat Sullivan with a low shot 45 seconds after the opening faceoff. Less than a minute later, the first Rindge line of Lang, Dumont and Cummings tied the score, as Cummings took a combination pass from his mates and flipped the puck into the Newton nets. Herb Buttrick was in the Newton goal after an absence of one game, and did a great job of keeping Newton in the battle from that point on. Coming as it did after losses of 4-1 to Cambridge Latin and 4-0 to Medford, Wednesday's reversal of form indicates that Coach Evan Johnson has been able to get a new aggressiveness from what was an indifferent squad at the start of the season.

It was a close game all the way. Newton showed great improvement in general defensive tactics, and took great pains to keep Porky Dumont, Rindge's high-flying wing, closely covered. All penalties came in the first period, Mason, Nichols, Brown and Turner taking their turns in the penalty box for various infractions, while Powers of Rindge was penalized for a board check. Stoneham continued its march to the title by defeating Melrose 3-1, and Cambridge Latin crushed Belmont 12-2. In the last game, Arlington spotted Medford a 4-0 lead, then tied the score with one goal in the second and three in the third periods.

Medford Wins 4-0

Newton proved a soft touch for Medford last Saturday at the Garden, losing 4-0 in the third game of the afternoon. With a revamped lineup that had Deane Proctor in goal and Phil "Mucker" Green in the first forward line, they were still lagging behind the other teams in every department of the game. Proctor was fed a pretty steady barrage of rubber until he was relieved by Frank Smith after the fourth Medford goal, and actually looked like a good goalie while he was out there. The first Medford goal came at 4:25 in the first period when Captain Stanley was allowed to take a pot-shot from 30 feet out, and the puck skipped off "Mucker" Green's stick into the corner of the goal. Whitehead had been sent off for slashing and Medford hemmed Newton in on a power play. Stanley bounced a hard shot off Proctor's chest, then took a pass from Carruthers and let fly the shot that scored.

Medford's second goal was scored at 9:17 in the first period, at a time when Medford had only three players on the ice with the goalie. Riley was put off for tripping Lane at the Newton defense, and Captain Stanley followed him to the pen for holding during a temporary flurry near the Medford goal. Newton set up a power play, pulling the defensemen inside the Medford blue line, but almost immediately after this corner was broken through the faceoff, Hughes skated Phil Green, putting Newton's goalie at his mercy. Proctor made a good attempt, but the puck rang against the corner post, beating the unprotected goalie. Thompson of Newton and Dickson of Medford drew penalties for boardchecking, but neither team was able to score again that period.

Medford on the Defensive

In the second period, another goal came when Riley shot from the right to beat Proctor cleanly as Medford completed a power play. The goal came at 3:25. Newton retaliated with several promising rushes, Bradford, Barry, Green and Brown getting chances at Medford, who throughout most of the game had a soft job in the Medford nets. Newton's first line set Medford on the defensive for a time near the end of the period. At 6:15 in the final period, Proctor lost a shot from center ice by Hughes as it hopped his stick to make the fourth Medford goal. Frank Smith replaced him in goal. Fred Nichols was banished for a much too effective board-check, and Ben Mason also went to the cooler after starting a free-for-all with Carroll of Medford, but Medford did not capitalize their advantage.

Paul Brown was again Newton's best skater. Phil Green started at center on the first line, but was plain not at home there, and left it to Brown to start most of the Newton plays. All three lines checked back badly. The combination of Albert Everts, Jack Carder and Carl Cole was the most earnest of the three in trying to start a passing attack. In the second line, Jack Lane showed improvement. Coach Johnson's five-man attack was not effective simply through the failure of the Newton players to skate with their opponents. Newton had five days of skating last week, using New Pond and Ware's Cove. In a workout on the Garden ice, Newton had a wide margin over Arlington. Three Newton players were under the weather from drinking, of all things, the stagnant water of Ware's Cove. Herb Buttrick, first-string goalie at the start of the season, made the honor roll at school and has resigned from the hockey team.

is obsolete and not equitable. He said we have got along for a long time without any considerable inconvenience under the present system. He stated that the committee favors compelling snow removal from sidewalks in business and general residence zones, and in such parts of other zones where business is conducted under a non-conforming use.

TWO NEWTON YOUTHS WIN BOWDOIN LETTERS

Euan Gamewell Davis '37 and Claude Rand Frazier '38, both of Newtonville, are among 37 players who earned varsity letters in the 1936 football season of Bowdoin College. Playing guard on a squad which included one all-New England guard and another all-Maine second team guard, Davis saw action in five of the most important games of the season—against Williams, Colby, Bates, the University of Maine, and Tufts. Frazier is one of 10 backs who won letters. He played in the Colby, Bates and Tufts games.

It was Davis' last year of varsity competition and his first varsity letter. It was also his first year as a guard; he played in the backfield freshman and sophomore years, and at center in 1935. Frazier, who has one more year to play, also won a letter last year.

Statistics show that the combined grade average of the first and second Bowdoin football teams—a group in which Davis is included—is 11.04, nearly two points above the all-college average, 9.2, and a shade higher than the grade average of 10.9 with which Alpha Tau Omega won the Student Council scholarship cup for the highest ranking fraternity group in college last June.

Davis has been on the Dean's List, for grades all B or above, since his sophomore year. He is also business manager of the Bowdoin weekly newspaper, the Orient, and is a member of the French club, the Political Forum, and the Zeta Psi fraternity.

Frazier earned a varsity baseball letter in his freshman year, in addition to his two football letters, and he is a member and one of the organizers of the Bowdoin independent basketball team. He belongs to Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Both Frazier and Davis graduated from Newton High School.

Newton Highlights

Elena Ciccone of Newton Centre, third seeded player in the national junior girls tennis tournament at Longwood covered courts, met her match Wednesday morning in Helen Bernhard of New York, 15-year old favorite and top-seeded, who won 6-1, 6-2. Elena has played very little tennis since last summer, and was hardly in her best form. Last year she dropped a close semi-final to the same girl, and two years ago defeated her in a match that took 90 minutes to finish.

Renew Lower Falls Beer License

The Newton License Commission at its meeting on Monday night voted to renew the license of the C & G Cafe at 227 Washington st., Newton Lower Falls. The previous Wednesday night the Commission had given a hearing to the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association which had protested against the renewal of this beer license. At that hearing Mrs. John MacLean, vice president of the association, and Harold Buse, a member, had spoken for the opposition. Their objections included the arguments that young men are patrons of the beer place, that young children want to be in the cafe, and that they want to keep up the character of Newton Lower Falls. George Cashman, attorney for the cafe owners, argued that the place has been conducted in a proper manner.

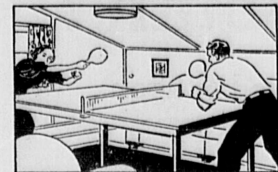

Jail Threat For Pseudo Husband

William Mitchell, 46, formerly of Waltham, but who had been living at Newton Corner recently, and Ruth Reichert, 22, who had been rooming at various places in Newton the past several months, were arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday on statutory charges. Both are married and have families. Captain Richard Goode was the complainant and testified that both defendants had roomed together at three houses in Newton. Mitchell, a war veteran, returned to Newton last week after having spent some weeks at the Chelsea Naval Hospital as a patient. He was arrested at Newton last week for drunkenness and the other charge was then placed against him. Judge Allen sentenced Mitchell to six months in Middlesex County prison and then suspended the sentence on condition that he stay away from the Reichert woman. She was placed on probation for six months.

Resolutions Commending Long Service of Judge Bacon Passed By Bank Directors

At the Annual Meeting of the Corporation of the Newton Savings Bank, held Jan. 5, 1937, the resignation of Judge William F. Bacon, as president and trustee, was regrettably accepted. The Judge continues as a member of the Corporation, and his legal and business training will be most helpful to the Bank.

The following resolutions regarding his resignation were read by Dr. Guy M. Winslow, and made a part of the records of the meeting:

"In accepting with great regret the resignation of Judge William F. Bacon as President and Trustee of the Newton Savings Bank, we, the corporators of the bank, desire to express in the records of this meeting, and to Judge Bacon, our deep and sincere appreciation of his long, faithful and eminently successful service to this bank, and to all those concerned with it.

Scheinfain Charge Against Newton Police Scoffed At

A sensational article in a Boston newspaper this week contained statements allegedly made by Alfred Scheinfain who is serving a long term in a Federal prison in Pennsylvania for violations of the white slave laws. In an interview with a reporter of the paper Scheinfain told of graft he claimed to have paid to Brooklyn policemen and of his claimed relations with the police of that town. The article also contained alleged statements by Scheinfain in which he claimed he had paid graft to a member of the Newton police force. These accusations against the Newton police are discredited by Chief of Police Michael Hughes, Mayor Childs, the District Attorney's office at Cambridge and by Newton residents who know Scheinfain and his reputation.

While in France in 1918 he married Miss Fernande Ghod of Anancy. They have three children. Mr. Proctor is a member of Newton Post, American Legion and of Newton Lodge of Elks. He has been active in the affairs of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, serving as vice-president, and member of the executive committee, was for two years president of the Jefferson Club of Newton, and is a member of the Democratic City Committee. Auburndale Youth Killed When Car Hits Tree

Phillip T. Murphy, 21, of 51 Bourne st., Auburndale, was killed about 7 o'clock Tuesday morning when a small coupe he was driving crashed into a tree just over the Boston line on Beacon st. near the reservoir. The impact of the collision badly wrecked the front of the car, pushed the motor back onto the gasoline tank, and ignited the fuel. The automobile at once became a mass of flames. A woman residing nearby telephoned Newton police headquarters, and a passing motorist sent an alarm which brought Engines 3, 7 and 9 and Ladder 2 of the Newton Fire Department. Two Newton police cruising cars quickly reached the scene. Sergeant Bannon and Patrolman Green made an effort to rescue the body of young Murphy from the burning car, but the doors were so jammed that they could not be opened.

The youth, whose mother is dead, resided with his father, Thomas J. Murphy; and two sisters—Katherine F. and Mary J. Murphy. He graduated from Newton High School in 1933 and then attended Boston College for a year. Since then he had been employed for a time by G. Wilbur Thompson, Newton Centre plumber, for whom his father worked; and at a gasoline station in Auburndale. For the past six weeks he had been in the employ of John S. Franklin, publisher of the Newton Times, and it was a car owned by Mr. Franklin that the young man was driving when the fatal accident occurred.

The young man's funeral service was held this morning at Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Oppose Machine Shop at Lower Falls

Persons residing or owning property in the vicinity of St. Mary st., Lower Falls, have filed a petition objecting to a permit being granted to W. M. Gulliksen for a machine shop on that street. The petition of protest sent to the Newton Board of Aldermen reads:

"We, the undersigned residents of the district surrounding the Gulliksen property on St. Mary st., Newton Lower Falls, hereby protest the extension of business at this location for the following reasons:

1. This is a residential district and we wish to keep it as such.
2. This property has been altered in violation of the building and zoning laws of the city of Newton and we feel that this application is to cover up what Gulliksen has already done without a permit.
3. We were not notified of the public hearing given two weeks ago."

Mayor Childs Specifies Needed Improvements In Long Inaugural Address

Does Not Recommend Order In Which Nineteen Should Be Considered

The inauguration exercises of the Newton City Government for 1937 took place at City Hall on New Year's Day at 3 o'clock. About 75 persons were present in the audience which witnessed the formalities. The meeting was called to order by City Clerk Grant and Alderman Bowen was chosen temporary chairman. All the Aldermen were present except Aldermen Hutchinson and Goddard. Of the members of the School Committee, Kirtley Mather was absent.

Aldermen Bowen appointed Aldermen Hill, McCabe and Rawson as a committee to escort Mayor Childs to the rostrum. He was accompanied by Rev. William Gunter of the Newton M. E. Church, who delivered the prayer. Mayor Childs then gave the oath of office to the Aldermen-elect and school committee members-elect. The Aldermen who were inducted into office for the first time included Fahey of Ward 1, Gaddis of Ward 3 and Bacon of Ward 4. The Mayor then delivered the following lengthy address:

The depression is over. We can see the sunshine ahead. Recovery will be gradual but sure. As a result of the depression, many difficult problems face the individual, the municipality, the state and the nation. Until the President of the United States speaks, no one can predict what is in store for us by way of help in solving our problems.

As we meet to organize for municipal business, I wish for each one of you and for all our people a happy and helpful New Year.

My thanks go out to members of last year's Board of Aldermen, School Committee, members and trustees of all boards and commissions, heads of departments and to every city employee for the cooperation which they have given me and the service rendered our citizens during the year just closed.

We have been chosen to serve a city which we are proud to call our home, and I welcome you to our common tasks. We are directly charged with the management of the government of this city and the protection of the interests of all the people within its limits. This condition creates grave responsibilities which we fully appreciate and demands watchful care and conscientious economy.

For our inspiration and encouragement, let us remind ourselves that we are the successors of and debtors to all of those who have served this city from the beginning. We, with our fellow citizens, are the reapers of the fruits of the labors and perseverance of the men of those earlier days whose honesty and integrity as public servants laid the foundation upon which what we call the City of Newton is built.

At this time I pay my tribute of love and respect to one of such, Ex-Mayor Alonzo R. Weed, who has so recently passed over into that other city which lies beyond the streams of faith. A product of Newton Schools, and of his church, a man of the highest character, loving and loved, a good citizen, an ideal public servant, an upright judge. Will you rise in your places as we pay our silent tribute to his memory, his work and worth.

In earlier days no man was so engrossed in his own business but could find time to devote to public concern. Today our city with its large population, growing and bound to grow still larger, with its vast and varied interests needs the same care as it did in days which are gone.

Bricks and mortar may make a large city, but the encouragement of those things which elevate and purify, the exaction of the highest standards of integrity in official places and the constant active interest on the part of all the people in municipal government are all needed to make a great city.

And in the building of such a city, let us never forget that the strength of any city doesn't lie wholly in schools and in education, in labor and industries, or even in her patriotism or her charities but that it lies in the character of her citizens.

Let us rejoice then and take pride in the number of churches and character building organizations under whose influences young people are learning their duty to God, their fellows and the State.

The importance of such institutions which lead youth as well as those of older growth, in the way of morgrave responsibilities which we fully

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

The eyes of business, industry, finance, and the citizenry of the country were on Washington this week where Congress convened and the President's message was eagerly awaited. This eagerness was well-defined in two directions. That of the enthusiastic followers of the administration as to the plans for the future to coincide with the progress that the New Deal is claimed to have made and that of many doubters who anticipated with mixed emotions of fear and hope, that a more conservative course would be adopted. While there is no absolute assurance that the NRA would not be revived it was noteworthy that no specific ideas were suggested along these lines. Many will agree that the main objectives of the famous Blue Eagle were excellent but that it attempted to do too much. It hampered the small businessman and locally the belief that no further handicaps in this direction are anticipated is the essentially important angle. An enlightened view of the problems of the day is in order. Such views must recognize the trend of our economic course and we cannot fail to take into consideration that times have changed. Changed materially from a generation or even a decade ago.

A NEW DEAL IN MASSACHUSETTS

New precedents were set this week on Beacon Hill as a retiring Governor walked from the State House with bands blaring and crowds cheering. The event marked the end of a term which has been characterized by tactics and methods never before experienced in the government of the State of Massachusetts. A new Governor has taken up the reins. A spirit of harmony already has begun to manifest itself. And indications are noted that the new administration will return to the more reasonable, more orthodox, and sounder ways of government which kept the Ship of State in the forefront of the states of the union. A new deal that seemingly will also be a square deal is coming to Massachusetts.

NO "PORK-BARREL" HERE

One of the striking features of Mayor Childs' address to the incoming Board of Aldermen last week was recognition of many improvements that are needed in various parts of the city. As the Mayor points out, however, many of them are costly projects and must necessarily wait. He leaves the selection of those projects to be started and carried to completion to the members of the Board of Aldermen. In many cities such a proposal would lead to much "pork barrel" legislation with members from certain districts obtaining votes for certain accomplishments in return for votes for schoolhouses, parking places or the like in other sections. Such a procedure is not of serious imminence in Newton as the members of our Board of Aldermen feel their distinct responsibility to the city as a whole and not to one particular section.

Judge Bacon Resigns

In 1907, he was made Clerk of the Corporation and in January, 1915, he was elected its President. His administration covered one year of the World War, the years of post-war adjustment and abnormal prosperity and the years of depression from which we are just now emerging. During this period violent changes in real estate and security values have taken place, the gold standard was discarded, the dollar was devalued. Governmental agencies to an unprecedented degree took over functions ordinarily performed by the banks. Great numbers of banks, corporations and individuals were obliged to liquidate with enormous and irreparable losses.

"In January, 1918, new officers were chosen, a new course charted and carefully followed by the bank. In the considering of whom to ask to assume the difficult and serious responsibility of leadership the fortunate choice fell upon Judge Bacon, and he with some reluctance accepted the task.

"Born in Newton, the son of Joseph N. Bacon an able business man and a pioneer in banking in Newton; trained and experienced as a lawyer and already a Judge of the District Court, he was widely known and well regarded as a man of strict integrity and sound judgment. He brought to his new position not only high qualities of character and intellect but also the legal and business training so valuable in the performance of the duties of his office and so helpful in retaining the full confidence of the depositors of the bank. "Judge Bacon was very conscientious in the discharge of his duties at the bank. He was regular and punctual in attendance at all meetings, careful and deliberate in arriving at conclusions and the firm as a rock in holding to them. He has an almost inordinate fondness for the word 'adhere' when there is a question of changing a decision apparently well made. In the many difficult problems of balancing the rights of the depositor against the needs of the distressed borrower he has been the considerate friend of each but firmly insisted upon as complete and prompt performance of obligations incurred as was possible. Yet, despite the seriousness of his work and the dignity of his men all his dealings have been lightened and relieved by frequent interpolations from an irrepressible store of kindly humor.

"While, in common with all other banks, large losses have been incurred, substantial gains have also been realized. And if, in looking back, it is easy to see possible improvements, it is also true that there has never been a time during Judge Bacon's administration when any depositor has had just cause for anxiety for the safety of his deposit.

The election of Senator Samuel H. Wragg of Needham as president of the State Senate and Representative Horace T. Cahill of Braintree as Speaker of the House marked the opening of the 1937 session of the Legislature on Wednesday morning. Following the election of presiding officials and other perfunctory business came the announcement of the committee appointments. Senator Arthur Hollis of Newton was named Chairman of the joint committee of the Senate and House on Metropolitan Affairs, a member of the Senate Rules committee, Senate Ways and Means, and Mercantile Affairs. The Newton Senator is one of several veteran Senators of several terms.

In the House, Speaker Cahill, succeeding former Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill, as the presiding officer named representatives Clarence S. Luitwieler and William B. Baker to their same committee positions as in the past four years. Representative Luitwieler will again be House chairman of the Committee on State Administration and a member of House Elections. Rep. Baker again will be second ranking member of House Ways and Means which will again be headed by Representative Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline. Representative Brimblecom, clerk of the Committee on Power and Light and a member of the Committee on Public Service was made chairman of Engrossed Bills and reelected as a member of the Power and Light Committee. Representative Douglas B. Francis, elected to the seat formerly held by Speaker Saltonstall, was named a member of the Committee on Banks and Banking.

An amusing incident on Wednesday morning came when Speaker Cahill named Representative Baker as a member of a committee of ten to inform Governor Curley that the House had organized. Mr. Baker, one of the most outspoken of the Governor's critics during the past two years, was later the subject of considerable joshing from many members.

"On January 15, 1918, the deposits in the Newton Savings Bank were $7,983,170. Surplus was $712,390. Total resources of deposits, Total resources $7,905,041.

"On January 1, 1937, deposits were $17,881,148. Surplus, $2,131,404. (11.91% of deposits). Total resources $20,410,492.

"To have safely and successfully piloted this bank through 19 such years as those from 1918 to 1937 with no serious mishaps and with an increase in deposits of two and one-half times (2.52%) and an increase in surplus of nearly three times (2.91%), meanwhile having distributed dividends at rates among the highest paid by Savings Banks in the state is an extremely creditable achievement. That it has been done without blare of trumpets or beating of drums is characteristic of the man and appropriate to the dignity of the century-old institution which he served.

"We assure Judge Bacon of the great esteem and sincere affection of all his fellow corporators. May the relief from the cares of office help to give him many more years as an interested and active member of the corporation."

To fill the office vacated by Judge Bacon, the Corporators unanimously elected Hon. Henry E. Bothfeld as President of the Bank. Mr. Bothfeld is a former Mayor of Newton, a former Vice-President of The First National Bank of Boston, and an expert in real estate matters. He has been a member of the Investment Board of the Bank since 1906.

Dr. Guy M. Winslow was elected a Vice-President of the Bank and Walter R. Ramsey a member of the Investment Board. Three prominent Newton men were elected Corporators and Trustees of the Bank. Ripley L. Dana, well known lawyer and a member of the firm of Burham, Bingham, Pillsbury, Dana and Gould of Boston, who headed the Community Chest in Boston last year; Hon. Sinclair Weeks, our former Mayor, and Clifford H. Walker of Ropes, Gray, Boyden and Perkins, and the present Alderman from Waban. All of these men are active in civic affairs in Newton.

Bandit At Newton Liquor Store

Monday night a young man wearing spectacles entered the liquor store of Fred S. Moore on Washington st., near Bacon st., Newton, brandished a revolver and ordered Fred S. Moore, Jr., manager of the store to hand over the contents of the cash register. Moore, instead of obeying, dropped behind the counter and crawled into a rear room, locking the door. The bandit followed, shook the door and then fled. He is supposed to have been the same robber who took a taxi a few minutes later from Newton to Watertown, and who robbed a liquor store in that town of $75 after pointing a pistol at the clerk.

Christmas Seal Sale

"Prevention" is acknowledged an easier process than "cure", and in fighting tuberculosis, this principle is emphatically proven. The scope of the preventive work is in proportion to the generosity of the people in their contributions to the Seal Fund through the purchase of the seals. The returns to date will do an enormous amount of good, but Newton has not yet reached the total amount of the 1935 seal sales.

Scheinfain Charge Against Police

Scheinfain and his brother, Everett Scheinfain (alias Shepard) resided for about eight years at 41 Washington st., Newton. They were sons of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Scheinfain. Their father conducted a furniture factory on Chapel st., Nonantum. Mrs. Scheinfain died in 1929 following a long illness. Her daughter some months previously was fatally burned. While attending her mother, the girl's clothing caught afire from an alcohol lamp. Everett Scheinfain was captain of the Newton High School football team in 1927.

Nathan Scheinfain died in 1931 and his two sons took over the management of the furniture factory. Not long after, on June 23, 1931 the Scheinfain home at 41 Washington st. was the scene of a fire. When the firemen arrived at the house they found two separate fires in progress in different parts of the building. The fire was of incendiary origin. On July 6, 1932, a fire of incendiary origin occurred in the furniture factory at 39 Chapel st., operated by the Scheinfains.

The Scheinfains moved from the Washington st. residence several years ago and little was heard of them by Newton people until they became involved in the white slave charges. Somewhat over a year ago Everett Scheinfain had his name legally changed to Shepard. On the first of January, 1936 the Scheinfains leased an apartment at 22 Park st., Newton. On January 16th an anonymous letter was received at Newton police headquarters telling that a young girl was living at the place with Alfred Scheinfain and indulging in immoral relations. On January 25th a second anonymous letter was sent to the Newton police. Chief Hughes assigned inspectors Burke and King to the case. These two sergeants watched the house for several days and nights but saw nothing suspicious. On the night of January 27th at 8:30 the two policemen entered the apartment occupied by the Scheinfains and found a young girl there who answered the description of the girl mentioned in the anonymous letters. She claimed to be employed by Scheinfain as a housekeeper and stated she was 18 years old. Burke and King placed the girl under arrest on the technical charge of being a stubborn child. She was taken to headquarters at West Newton and after being questioned at length, admitted her name was Toth, that she had been lured away from her home in Passaic, New Jersey, and that she was only 15 years old.

As a result of the admissions made by the Toth girl to the Newton police, Burke and King, the officers obtained a warrant for Alfred Scheinfain's arrest. They went to 22 Park st. the following morning but found that Scheinfain had fled. He remained in hiding until July 7 of last year when he was captured by Burke and King at Alexandria, New Hampshire, a small settlement in the hills above Newfound Lake.

After the Newton police arrested the Toth girl they notified Federal authorities the following day, on January 28 and Department of Justice men came to Newton and questioned the girl. As a result Federal indictments against Alfred and Everett Scheinfain and the latter's wife followed and the two brothers received jail sentences. Everett Scheinfain was given a suspended sentence. One of the most serious was on Monday evening when a party of boys were coasting down Newtonville avenue. At one of the curves the sled swerved and ran into a lamp post. Hugh Sinnott received the full force of the shock. He received a severe scalp wound and was unconscious for some time.

The Boston Herald says the City of Newton has a right to congratulate itself on its low death rate of 13.79 per thousand for the past year; thus making Newton the healthiest city in this State.

"The poles and wires are nearly all in place now so it will be only a short time before the electric lights will be in operation and gas lights on our streets will be a thing of the past.

A party of some 40 West Newton ladies and gentlemen took advantage of the beautiful moonlight on Tuesday night and the fine sleighing and drove up to Bailey's Hotel at South Natick where a fine supper was served. Music and dancing and a jolly, good time filled the hours until early dawn.

Newton Republican, Jan. 9, 1875

Steamer 1 at Newton Corner started off promptly for the fire on Wednesday night, its members thinking that a second alarm had been run from Box 73 for the burning of A. W. Pope's barn on Gooch Place, Newton Centre. No second alarm had been turned in, however. It is suggested that someone be detailed to note the striking of the alarm while others are attending to their necessary duties. We are glad the firemen are prompt. It is better to err this way than to be habitually tardy. The alarm for the fire came in at 1.10 a. m. Thursday morning. The fire was of incendiary origin and the loss was $500. Isn't it time these incendiary fires were stopped?

Water grows scarcer every day. Wells are deprived of their usual supplies.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Jan. 8, 1887

The cold weather the early part of this week caused business for the plumbers as hundreds of water pipes were frozen.

The old Grace Church chapel which was moved to Watertown 10 years ago and became the chapel of St. Patrick's Church there, was damaged by fire on Monday to the extent of $2000 on the building and $800 on contents. The fire was caused by an overhead furnace.

The great tenement block on Morse street, in the Watertown district, is 252 feet long. It is the property of Francis Adams of Boston and is being built by E. A. McKay of Boston. There will be 14 tenements in the block, each to be rented at $15 per month.

The time honored custom of watching the old year out and the new year in was observed at New Year's at the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church. In spite of the rain a fair sized gathering enjoyed the usual services of the occasion. The last few minutes of the old year were spent in silent prayer, and the New Year was ushered in with vocal prayer and praise.

The last regular meeting of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F., for the year was held on December 28. The following officers were elected: P. A. Mulligan, Chief Ranger; R. J. Morrissey, Vice Chief Ranger; John Morrison, Recording Secretary; Richard Beard, Financial Secretary; George Stuart, Treasurer; Senior Conductor, Patrick O'Brien; Junior Conductor, Michael Enegess.

The next Nonantum Bicycle Club social will be held at Cycle Hall on Wednesday evening.

A number of quite brilliant receptions were given on New Year's Day, and the majority of houses were open to callers. The number of gentlemen calling was larger than usual. One lady found, when the cards were counted that 99 gentlemen had called at her home.

There have been several accidents through the agency of the deadly double-runner the past week. One of the most serious was on Monday evening when a party of boys were coasting down Newtonville avenue. At one of the curves the sled swerved and ran into a lamp post. Hugh Sinnott received the full force of the shock. He received a severe scalp wound and was unconscious for some time.

Powers' Paragraphs

Mayor Childs' inaugural address on January 1st was of considerable length, but much of it consisted of detailed matter relative to the assessing system used in Newton. The Mayor also renewed one feature which characterized his addresses in former years—platitudes to city employees and officials who had been pensioned, or who died within the past year.

Some parts of the Mayor's address were of especial interest to the writer. One such part was the statement of the Mayor that—"I recommend the appointment of a joint committee of members of the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee be appointed to study the needs of our schools for the next ten years. The report of such a committee would be most helpful in planning for the future." In conjunction with this part of the Mayor's address were three of the many suggestions he made for improvements which may be made in 1937, viz:—"Acquisition of land for the new Franklin School and a new schoolhouse; acquisition of land and a new school to replace the Eliot and Lincoln Schools; a new trade school." These improvements were but three of nineteen suggested by the Mayor. They were preceded by suggestions that the two-platoon system for firemen be adopted, and that fire stations on the North and South sides of the city be consolidated. The Mayor commented that the fifteen improvements he suggested as being needed, were not named in order of importance.

Two years ago the School Committee made a careful study of the needs of Newton schools to formulate a 10 year program. As a result of that study it was decided that the thing most needed was a new school to replace the antiquated Franklin School at West Newton, a school which does not provide proper or modern accommodations for the children in that district, and is much too small. Pupils who should be housed there have to go either to the Davis School or the Pierce School, the latter across Washington st., on the South side of the E & A tracks. The second most needed thing according to that survey of the School Committee was an addition to the Angier School at Waban. The third most needed improvement, according to that survey—was a new school to replace the 82 year old Lincoln School at Pearl and Thornton sts., Newton, and the 51 year old Eliot School on Pearl st., these two schools to be replaced by one school building located somewhere between the two.

The School Committee about two years ago submitted the results of its survey to Mayor Weeks. But, instead of following the recommendations, new school buildings to replace the Franklin, Lincoln and Eliot Schools were sidetracked and a new school building for the Oak Hill district was given preference. The Board of Aldermen of 1935 concurred in the matter of giving Oak Hill preference. Alderman Guzzi protested as the representative from the section where the old Franklin School is located. The ten-year plan, so-called for replacements of the old Franklin, Eliot and Lincoln School houses should be followed, and the sooner the better. The ten-year plan the Mayor referred to is that which we refer to. Sites had been selected for these two new schools by the School Committee. Why does the Mayor now recommend another committee to make another survey? Is it because he wants to further postpone the erection of the long needed schools to replace the old Franklin, Lincoln and Eliot Schools? Of course by not building the two new schools this year, the coming tax rate would be lower, and a low tax rate is a nice campaign argument to have in an election year.

The people who live in that part of Ward 3 served by the Franklin School and that part of Ward 1 served by the Lincoln and Eliot Schools have been more than patient. Such antiquated schools would not have been tolerated by residents of other parts of the city. For the past 10 years parents or Ward 1 children have been reasonably requesting a new school, have been assured that one would be built in that section, and have repeatedly seen this improvement shoved aside and new schools erected in other parts of Newton. The demands for the new school there and for the new school at West Newton were not started nor agitated by "politicians," as a certain person recently stated. The writer is not a politician; he isn't slick enough to qualify. And he, as Ward Alderman from Ward 1 nine years ago, in response to requests from his constituents, asked for a new school in that Ward. His successor, Alderman Sprout, is not a politician. He too, tried persistently to have such a new school erected. The present Aldermen from Ward 1 are not politicians, and they are unanimous for the new school. Former Alderman Guzzi has been accused (or accredited) with being a politician. But, when he advocated a new school to replace the old Franklin School, he was agreeing with the members of the Newton School Committee, who are not politicians.

The people of Ward 1 and the Franklin School district don't want any more buck passing on the new schools they have long been promised, and have patiently waited for.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Altogether Too Early

Ring-in the glad New Year is O. K. if you don't start the singing too early in the day. No, I'm not referring to the revelry of the wee sma' hours but of broad daylight amenities. My point is that if you must make New Year Day calls don't begin too soon after breakfast. It happened last Friday that I was not obliged to go to the office so, it being a nice day as ever was on January 1, I decided on a stroll through the city. No, I'm not bragging about me past the homes of friends. That it would be pleasant to stop and pay my respects was the thought that led me to their front doors.

I rang the doorbell again and again. I could hear it, which satisfied me it was in proper working order. After a time I concluded the family were off for the week-end and started down the path. A woman's voice, calling to me faintly, caused me to turn around. "We were up very late and nobody's up yet," she explained from the partly-opened front door. I knew that it was more courteous not to call then but to say, "Thank you, I'll be back later."

Of course I felt that this was an isolated case and so marched to the next house, which was around the corner, confident they would be dressed and waiting for me. The bell ringing there brought loud barking from the family dog and nothing else until the man of the house opened the second story window and apologized. Said all were sleeping late and would I wait until he "put something on" and came down. I told him it was merely that I wanted to say "Happy New Year" and then I made off. There was still another home I might have visited but it was then only 11 a. m. and I was afraid I might again disturb another group of sleepers.

Those Personal Questions

In many cities the work of listing voters, or rather occupants of dwellings, is underway or soon to start. Have you ever observed how an official caller can throw a household into a state bordering on consternation by merely stating, "Will you tell me who lives here?"

Possibly it is the unexpectedness of such an inquiry or maybe the fact that a policeman in uniform has made the request. At any rate some of the most reserved and self-possessed women on earth will become completely upset under such circumstances. Despite the fact that the canvass is made annually many homes never get used to it.

Asked bluntly to state the names of the members of the family some people find themselves in a panic as if an innermost secret was about to be wrested from them. They will blush, stammer and act as if submitting to the "third degree." And I'm not blaming them either. There is something about the phraseology of an oral question of that kind that sounds unusual. If the caller were to say, "How do you do, Mrs. Blank," of course Mrs. Blank would acknowledge it. But when asked, "Are you Mrs. George Washington Blank and is your husband George Washington Blank and if so is he living here and are your children here, too?" Why, the whole thing is a little sort of devastating to sensitive folk.

Some Never Grow-up

Is it because we were permitted as youngsters to freely use the scissors, or should I have written shears, upon worthless cloth and paper that the desire to continue such slashing has never left us? There are those who are dexterous at folding a sheet of paper, plunging the scissors into it and twisting about this way and that until finally a design of unique character is produced. Such people I exempt for that is, after all, a form of art though not perhaps the very loftiest.

I am speaking now of the men who cut and cut and cut a piece of paper and scatter the shreds about the floor. Possibly you haven't seen this done very often. Nevertheless in many offices there is at least one man who specializes on this form of diversion. I have often wondered why they don't do it over a waste-basket. That, however, would not be as satisfactory as leaving an accumulation for the women cleaners next day.

There is one man I have in mind whose habit of cutting paper has been noted even by the most indifferent of his associates. This year they got back at him by presenting him a box of cut-out paper dolls for Christmas.

In Favor of Rain

A friend and I were comparing the weather reports of December for several years and we noted what a tremendous amount of rain had descended during that month in the year 1936.

"Well," said I, repeating a well known brogue, "I'd rather have rain than snow."

"Right," said he, "you don't have to shovel it."

A social hour will follow the meeting, with tea served by the chairman, Mrs. Frank G. Dennison, and her assistants.

The next lecture, arranged by the Conservation and Garden committees of the Community Club and the Social Science Club, jointly, will be held on Monday, January 18th. Mrs. Julia A. Latimer will be the speaker, the title of her lecture being "A Garden from a Hayfield."

Many Attractive Lectures At

Musicale For Lend-a-Hand
Masque

The regular meeting of the Lend-A-Hand Masque for January will be held on Monday, January 11th, at the home of Miss Ethel DeMille, 111 Parker street, Newton Centre. After the business meeting the entertainment will be in the hands of Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, of Brookline, who has arranged a fine evening's program of music, all provided by talented members of the Club. This Musicale is an annual event and always eagerly anticipated. Hostesses assisting Miss DeMille will be Miss Evelyn Cunningham and Miss Isabel Skipwith, of Newton.

Rehearsals for the Annual Children's Play to be given at the Newton High School in March are already in progress, under the direction of Mrs. Eunice Braaten. The choice of the play to be given this year is the charming fairy tale, "The Princess and the Swineherd."

Cure of War
Session and Supper

The attention of clubwomen and educators, and of those who are interested to learn of facts in relation to the Campaign for Peace which is presenting so many worthwhile arguments on this vital subject, is called to the excellent opportunity offered, in which the State Federation joins by sending a speaker to represent them.

The Emergency Peace Campaign will hold a meeting at Tremont Temple on Tuesday, January 12th, at 1 p. m., when Sherwood Eddy, Maude Royden, and Rabbi Philip Bernstein will be the speakers. Mrs. Royden is an English woman, of outstanding ability, who has come to this country for the specific purpose of addressing meetings in the larger cities.

On the same day, there is to be an afternoon and Supper Conference which will appeal especially to the clubwomen. On the 12th, from 4 to 6 p. m., there is to be a special seminar session where those interested in the Cause and Cure of War may meet for discussion. This session will be held in the Crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, Boston. Club women and Educators are urged to attend. Supper will be served at 6:30 p. m., with tickets at 50 cents. The speakers will include Mrs. W. O. B. Little, State Federation chairman of the International Relations committee; Mrs. Emily Green Balch, vice-chairman of the Executive Board of the National Council of Prevention of War; Mr. Horace Davis, Ph.D., author; and Mrs. Marion Davis, instructor at Simmons College in Economics.

Antiques To Be Discussed and Exhibited

On Friday afternoon, January 15th, at 2:30 p. m., the Antiques committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will present Enid Louise Fairbairn, whose subject will be "From Dawn Until Dark with my Great Great-Grandmother." Mrs. Fairbairn, who is a direct descendant of Governor Bradford, will bring many family treasures to illustrate her talk. An old-fashioned tea will be served after the program. Tickets are obtainable from Mrs. Florence Wright, Telephone, C. N. 2765-J.

There will also be a competitive table-arrangement of ancestral silver and pewter on that day, open to all members of the Club. Each arrangement is to form a unit, such as a silver bowl with candlesticks, cream and sugar with teapot, dressing-table or desk-set, these to be displayed on a small individual table. Odd or unusual pieces will be shown on one large table.

The interest and co-operation of Club members will be greatly appreciated to make this a delightful exhibit. Those wishing to compete should consult Mrs. H. B. Webster, whose telephone number is C. N. 6592, or Mrs. George McCreery, Telephone, C. N. 3713-J.

Delightful Talk On Labrador

Miss B. Maude Phillips, costumed in an attractive white Parka made of English Grenfell cloth, and leggings and shoes such as are worn by the residents of Labrador, gave a very interesting and instructive talk upon her work under the auspices of the Animal Rescue League of Boston, among the people of Labrador at the meeting last Monday evening of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club. The talk was illustrated by unusual slides. Miss Phillips also exhibited a large and beautiful collection of handicraft and miniature copies of native costumes, also a collection of character dolls, made by the residents at the Grenfell Mission, who are of English, Irish, and Scotch parentage, and who follow the vocation of fishing. Miss Phillips' pleasing personality held the intense interest of her audience during the entire talk, and inspired a desire among club members to visit Labrador. Miss Gertrude Osborne, a member of the Club was a visitor to many of the points of interest during her trip to Labrador last summer. Mrs. Ruth Sharrott served as chairman of the evening.

A very worthwhile idea of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club was inaugurated during the Christmas season, when their large and beautifully decorated Christmas tree, used at their Christmas meeting was left at the Emerson School, for the Kindergarten children for their Christmas party, and then sent on to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children for their Christmas festivities.

Recital and Dance
Amuse

A lecture, recital, and dance humor, which combined the talents of Miss Laura Dalzell, Dance Mime, assisted by Miss Margaret Reade Martin. Pianist, provided a most delightful afternoon for the first meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club in the New Year, on Tuesday, January 5th. Miss Dalzell illustrated by description and music the principles of rhythm in the everyday use of movement, and also entertained her audience greatly by illustrating with amusing exaggerations, the every-day violations of the laws of motion.

Miss Dalzell gave three groups of her clever creations, and between these Miss Martin gave three excellent piano solos, one by Bach, one by Brahms, and, for a little amusement, a musical parody on "Mary Had a Little Lamb," with some of the great musicians' imaginary conception of it, including Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin, Grieg, MacDowell and Debussy.

Miss Dalzell's first group of humor, which she described as "saucy," and she included a New England Lady, a Mother, and a Mother-in-Law. Her second began with Noel, a satire on the Christmas rush; then "The Social Climber," and "The College Reunion." She closed with three little sketches of the housewife: the happy housewife who loves her little nest; the wife who hates housework; and the third, just housewife. She generously gave an encore, "Washday," a gay little dance of the shirt on the clothesline. A large audience was most appreciative of her grace and humor.

Senior Class Play
 Norman Ross, class of 1937, is receiving much praise for his excellent foyer poster advertising "Label", the Senior Class Play for 1937. His magnificent poster is about eight feet square. A large drawing of Gordon French, star of the cast, stands out from a maze of newspapers whose headlines announce bits of startling news. Norman's work also reminds the pupils that this is a production of Edward Woolf's stirring newspaper drama, that the cast includes Leon Lipson, Bernard Ericson, and Robert Nolan in stellar roles, and that the performance dates are January 15 and 16.

Eminent Physicist Remembered
 Dr. Percy W. Bridgman, Newton High School graduate and a scholar recognized as the greatest mathematical physicist living in the United States, recently addressed the Philosophical Association at Harvard University. In his lecture he took exception to many of the postulates of the Philosophical group and the eminent scientist, Professor Einstein.

Mr. C. H. Mergendahl, head of the high school department of Mathematics, keeps on file in his office a brilliant bit of schoolboy work. This paper is an article on parallel lines written by Professor Bridgman in his sophomore year for his teacher in Mathematics, Miss Minerva Leland.

Personal Notes
 Mr. Hayden Morgan, newly appointed director of music in Newton schools has arrived from Michigan and began his work of music supervisor on January 4.

Mr. Paul E. Ellicker, after a brief holiday spent with his family and friends in Newton, left Sunday for Washington to continue his survey of secondary schools. Mr. Ellicker's work at present is largely confined to the mid-Atlantic States, particularly Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Maryland.

Miss Cora E. Riley spoke on Tuesday evening, January 5, before the West Newton Junior Women's Club at their meeting in the social room of the West Newton Library. Mayor's Address

ality and good citizenship must be admitted and should be supported and encouraged.

I wish to express at this time the sincere thanks of the city for the gifts received during the year. One, the land for a children's playground at Newton Highlands from Frank L. Richardson, the other a memorial to Lt. Stafford Brown, a real fellow and a gallant soldier, from his mother, Mrs. Eugene Brown.

The financial condition of the city is both sound and satisfactory. Her credit is good. Bonds sell readily and temporary loans are made at the lowest rates.

The gross debt December 30, 1935, was $7,105,876.01, the net debt $6,434,721.19.

The debt of December 30, 1935, does not include School and Building PWA bonds amounting to $285,000 authorized November 20, 1935, but not sold until January 3, 1936.

The gross debt December 31, 1936, was $6,938,968.69 and the net debt $6,686,815.18.

Street Improvement and Sewer PWA Bonds and Water, Street Improvement and Sewer Bonds have been issued during the year, amounting to $538,000 and an issue of $100,000 Street Improvement and $100,000 Sewer Bonds have been recently authorized, which will not be issued until later this year.

In 1936 bonds amounting to $571,000 were paid off, and in 1937 bonds to the amount of $596,000 will be paid.

The city's borrowing capacity today is practically what it was a year ago, slightly over a million dollars.

Newton is a growing city and is growing steadily.

That you may have some idea as to the rapid growth of the city, I call to your attention some figures which speak for themselves.

In 1918, the total valuation of real estate and personal property, including motor vehicles, was $75,071,841.

In 1936, the total valuation of the city, including motor vehicles, was $173,184,900. Number of property owners in 1918, 12,688 and in 1936, 21,922. Number of polls in 1918 was 21,588 and number being listed in that year, in 1936 the number of polls estimated was 20,590, and 26,100 women were listed. In 1918 we had 14,786 parcels of real estate, including exempt—$310 houses. In 1936 we had 19,586 parcels of real estate and 14,089 houses. This will give you some idea as to the increase in the volume of work passing through the Assessing Department, and the end is not yet.

Those of us who hope to see a steady, healthy growth in the years to come.

There are still large unbuild areas, which means that in the next few years we will have a population of over 100,000 people, and a decided increase in the number of dwelling houses bringing with them increased responsibility, as well as increased valuation.

This does not mean, however, that with each million dollars' worth of new construction, the valuation of the city will increase that amount, for the reason that we have reached the stage where many of our older properties are nearing the forty and fifty year age. This means that for many years to come there is bound to be a certain amount of reduction in the valuation of this type of property on account of obsolescence where buildings remain, and a very substantial loss where buildings are torn down. Much of this is now going on.

It has long been thought that an assessing department should keep abreast of the times, and have complete records in their offices as to the history of each parcel of real estate in the city.

Years ago, while assessments were carefully placed, no attempt was made to make a record of any information other than that required by law. These assessments were rarely questioned, but in later years, the assessors have not only had to assess property, but have been compelled in many instances to defend their values before the Board of Tax Appeals.

With this thought in mind, the past few years they have been attempting to get information in reference to all the buildings in the city.

For the past twelve or fifteen years, the assessors in placing values on the new buildings have a record as to the number of rooms, bathrooms, kind of heat, selling prices, etc., but had no record in their office giving information of this kind in regard to the older houses.

To get this information would cost the city a large sum of money, but with the setting up of various projects by the Federal Government, it was decided that here was an opportunity to which advantage should be taken. The result was that three years ago, a project of this kind was sponsored and the Federal officials agreed to pay for this project on condition that our men secure at the same time certain information for the schools. This was done, and at the present time there is in the assessors' office a fairly complete history of all the houses in Newton. No claim is made that this work is perfect, but making allowances for the honest mistakes on the part of men employed on this project, and the disinclination on the part of some property owners to give correct information, the job as a whole was worth while.

There has also been sponsored another project revaluing all exempt buildings such as churches, private schools and hospitals, and we have had all the commercial buildings in the city measured for the cubic and square foot content.

Measuring All Houses

At the present time, another project is under way in which are being measured up all the dwelling houses in the city with a view to securing the cubic content of each. The reason for this is to arrive at an intelligent reproduction cost, for which information of this kind is necessary.

All this information is going to be valuable, not only to the present Board of assessors, but to future boards as well.

Back in 1922, the assessors had the foresight to set up in this city what is known as the section, block and lot system, and Newton was one of the first cities in the Commonwealth to adopt a system of this kind. Since then, the block system has been recognized throughout the state as being the foundation of accurate assessing of real property.

In Newton, this block system is a series of several hundred plans drawn by the Engineering Department and indicating the area in square feet, the location by ward, precinct, section, and block, the boundaries, the house numbers, and the relative situation of the many thousands of parcels of land which constitute the City of Newton. It shows every change as of January first each year, and since 1892—the year of its adoption—has assured the right location of each individual estate in the city. After forty-four years, it seems that the time has arrived, when a complete set of new plans should be drawn by the Engineering Department for the use of the assessors in the performance of their work.

With the constant cutting up of large areas which have meant new sections and new blocks, and changes in lot numbers, our plans are now becoming quite confusing.

At the time that these new plans are being made, it is intended to have plotted on each lot all the buildings throughout the city. The only record we have today of buildings is contained in two volumes of an insurance atlas, which were obtained by us a few years ago with no cost to the city, from the Sanborn Map Company, in return for the use of our block plans, which they copied in our office. This atlas has been kept up to date, all new buildings, alterations, etc., being put on as part of the service furnished by the Sanborn Map Company, year by year the payment of a small sum each year by the Assessors. The engineers can use these atlases in plotting the buildings on the new plans. Such a set of plans with the buildings thereon, is recognized by all assessing authorities as being essential in every assessing department.

This work is going to be a concerted effort on the part of the Engineering and Building Departments. The drawing of these new plans will require the services of at least two draughtsmen for a period of one year. In addition, certain materials will be needed. The cost of this work should be provided in the budget of the Engineering Department for 1937.

I believe that the assessing department should be adequately equipped to meet all reasonable demands.

The days of guessing at valuations are over. Assessors today must have all necessary data, facts and figures at their command to make them talk intelligently.

The Assessing Department of a city is practically the only revenue producing one. This department is asked to produce money. All the rest are flooded with requests to spend it. Valuations as a whole throughout the city are fair and taxpayers in general are satisfied that they are equitably assessed.

Public Schools

The foundation of our country's greatness is the public school. Our schools have been maintained at the high standard long ago set, and the needs of youth from an educational standpoint have been adequately met.

Those of us who were educated here realize the debt which we owe to the system and to the teachers who served us so well in primary, grammar and high school grades.

It is gratifying to us to know that the same sort of service with satisfactory results is being given our children.

There can be no question but that we are entering a new era—a new day with new needs. I suspect that the School Committee in days ahead will probably rise or fall according to their ability to meet the needs of youth in high schools. The Newton School Committee will, in the future as in the past, make efficient offerings and will rise rather than fall.

I recommend the appointment of a joint committee of members of the Board of Aldermen and School Committee to study the needs of our schools for the next ten years. The report of such a committee would be most helpful in planning for the future.

Building Boom On

A building boom is again on in the city—and it appears to be a healthy one. During the past year 888 building permits were issued at an estimated cost of $4,311,118. This is an increase of about 27 per cent in building permits over 1935 and an increase in the cost of work of about 66 per cent.

The elementary school at Oak Hill is practically completed and additions and alterations to the Angier School have been made. Additions and alterations have also been made to the Crafts street garage.

The old fire alarm systems have been removed from the Bowen, new and old Clafin, William, old Hyde, Horace Mann and Rice Schools and a modern double supervised system has been installed. The remaining school buildings, not so equipped, should require alteration this year.

I shall recommend an appropriation for the revision of our building code to the end that necessary changes may be made and that the meaning thereof may be clear at least to experts. I shall also recommend appropriations for fire escapes at two high school buildings.

Harry A. Hageman, who has served as building commissioner for several years, is leaving the employ of the city to take up a larger work on a vast government project on the Tennessee River. He carries with him the respect of all with whom he has labored here and best wishes for success in his new field of work of all his friends.

While the depression may be over, the results are still with us, and the problem of providing relief constitutes one of the chief responsibilities of government—municipal, state and federal.

Provisions must be made concerning the time when the destitute unemployed will be absorbed by private enterprise. That time will probably come but it has not arrived yet; and until it does no one can be permitted to go without shelter, necessary food and clothing.

Our Welfare Department has ministered to the needy and has tried to meet all reasonable demands.

The change last year from the commissary to the cash and food order basis has had decided advantages although it has slightly increased the per capita cost of food.

The main plan has been extended. The second section of the Northern belt loop main started in October is now nearly completed. All four sections of the covered reservoir on Waban Hill have been cleaned and sterilized; 54,618 feet of old mains have been cleaned.

To meet the constantly increasing consumption of water, an increase in the supply of water from our water works is most desirable.

Land in Needham is most desirable source but progress was halted on account of the unusually heavy rains. This study should be continued. The Northern belt lines should be completed this year and the main cleaning program continued.

The department has lost a faithful man in the death of Mark V. Croker, who spent practically his whole life in trying to give the citizens of Newton plenty of good water. Much of the credit for our up-to-date water equipment and for the excellent condition of our water system is due to the efforts and foresight of Richard H. Ellis who served so acceptably as water commissioner for several years.

Playground activities have been conducted on a high plane, and the work being done throughout our city commands the respect not only of those within but also those without the city. Experts in playground and recreational work come to Newton to see how we function here. With more leisure time on the hands of youth as well as grown-ups (with the economic set-up likely to obtain) plans to meet future needs of our people will have to be formulated. This the playground commission will do.

A service building at Hawthorne playground, dredging the Charles River by the Metropolitan District Commission at Allison, Upper Falls, and Auburndale playgrounds to improve bathing facilities there, and the acquiring of vacant land (of little value) between Allison and Victory playgrounds thereby connecting them are matters upon which favorable action might well be taken in the near future.

It is distressing that so many automobile fatalities have been recorded in our city during the past year. An earnest effort is being made to lessen such accidents. In most of the cases where there have been court proceedings the adjudications would seem to indicate that the pedestrian is largely at fault. Extreme care on the part of all riding or walking on our highways today should be exercised.

Possibly some of the accidents are due to the fact that Newton is, on the whole, a poorly lighted city. The Police Department Timothy F. Cronin has been retired on pension, after having served the city faithfully many years.

In the Fire Department, Captain Frank S. Frost and Joseph Abbal have retired and Captain Rupert L. Sanborn has died.

These all have rendered real service day and night for many years and the thanks of our citizens are theirs.

Public Works

Street and sewer work during the past year has been carried on acceptably.

One hundred and ninety miles of accepted streets have been well maintained.

Three new traffic signals have been installed at West Newton square, Washington and Adams street and Beacon and Hammond streets.

Approximately 16 miles of old tar sidewalks have been covered and made safe for pedestrian travel. A municipal garage has been completed at Crafts street yard.

Under what is known as WPA projects, 7.2 miles of up-to-date permanent bituminous concrete roads have been built, at a cost of $239,554.20. Of this amount 45 per cent or $107,799.39 will be refunded to the city treasury.

Another new PWA project known as the Oak Hill sewer is practically finished at a cost of approximately $237,463.04, of which 45 per cent or $106,858.37 will be refunded to the city treasury. The length of this sewer is 7917 feet and this sewer when put in operation will serve the new development known as Oak Hill. It has been badly needed for many years.

The city with its own forces has constructed 9 Betterment streets of a total length of 4370 feet, at a cost of approximately $57,496. In addition to these Betterment streets, five streets have been permanently resurfaced, the length of which is 8324 feet, at a cost of $81,313, viz., Water town st., Grove st., Church st., Jewett st. and Reservoir ave.

The city with its own forces has completed Beacon st. under what is known as Chapter 90 work, where the city and state and county share the cost. We are also preparing Commonwealth ave. from Centre st. to Lake st. for resurfacing under Chapter 90 early in the spring of 1937. Thirty-five new drains and 29 sewers have also been completed.

The cleaning of our sanitary sewer system has been neglected for several years. This work is most important and I strongly recommend the immediate return to the practice of cleaning regularly the different sections. The recent appearance of the gypsy moth in the Oak Hill section bordering on and extending into Brookline has greatly alarmed many who remember the great havoc wrought to our trees during ex-Mayor Hutchinson's term. Quick and thorough work in suppressing this pest such as he instituted is needed right now.

During the year the following have been appointed: William J. Armistead, Joseph DeCesare, Antonio Accetulo, Michael J. Hoban, George Barthelme, William H. Carr, Cesidio Leone, John H. O'Connor, Frank Fendley, Lawrence Kean, William Connelly.

Loretto A. Bianchi and Michael J. Cody have died, the former having been fatally injured in the course of his employment. All were faithful city workers who made their contribution to the advancement of our public works.

Water Department

In the water department much has been accomplished. New services have been installed and old services have been renewed; 35,425 feet of main pipe has been extended. The second section of the Northern belt loop main started in October is now nearly completed. All four sections of the covered reservoir on Waban Hill have been cleaned and sterilized; 54,618 feet of old mains have been cleaned.

To meet the constantly increasing consumption of water, an increase in the supply of water from our water works is most desirable.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

MEDFORD WILL TEST TRACK TEAM THURSDAY

Newton High's track team will get their first test of the new year next Thursday on the boards of the drill shed oval, with the most powerful Medford team in years supplying the competition. Of late years Medford's teams have seldom been a factor in deciding interscholastic championships, but this is the year they expect to return to the heights they once occupied in the school track whirl. Medford's stars are John Twomey, a versatile senior who is liable to run three events, and Eddie Dugger, colored sprint and broad jump hope. Other names to figure in the Medford points will be those of Evans, another colored sprinter, and Souther, a shotputter said to have bettered 45 ft. with the 12-lb. ball.

Whether or not the Medford team will be just a trial horse or a wild mustang on the Newton High boards remains to be seen. Newton still packs much of the power that carried the Orange and Black undefeated through twelve consecutive dual and open meet victories last year. Captain Bob Muther and Paul Forte are ready for the 300 and 400 yard dashes. Frank Hines and Red Howard will be entered in the sprint with state champion Forte, while Muther leads sophomore Nell Cheney, Jerry Allen and Dick Whitney in the 300. In the hurdles, Bud Hines is being taught to fill the shoes of last year's

COACH ENOCH NAMED TO NATL. COMMITTEE

Donald Enoch, teacher of mathematics and popular coach of track in Newton High School, has received national recognition for his splendid coaching in Newton High. His appointment to the executive committee of the National Track Coaches Association of America was announced at New York, on December 29, 1936. Mr. Enoch is the only member on this committee from the high school and preparatory school group, all the other members having been chosen from colleges and universities. The other men on the executive committee are Dartmouth's Harry Hillman, University of Pennsylvania's Lawson Robertson, Syracuse's Thomas Keane, Cornell's Jack Moakley, Penn. State's Charles Werner, Pittsburgh's Carl Olson, Colgate's Jack Rourke, Michigan State's Ralph Young, Drake's L. I. Johnston, and Kansas State's William Haywood.

unbeatable Warren Wittens, with Bill Pescosolido and Jerry Allen next in line. Pescosolido will not be eligible for the Medford meet, but may be in another week. In the same boat is Elmer Ross, vastly improved 600-yard runner, whose absence leaves the team weak against this week's invaders. Coach Enoch has three other coming stars in this department, however, in Joe Gallant, Mark Corthell and John Fernald, a brother of Burleigh Fernald of the 1936 team.

Sprinter Forte, who was one of Newton's top broad jump entries last year, will jump again this year and has added shotputting to his list of activities as well. Thus he is Newton's leading entry in three events, and is a logical choice to win both the sprint and jump, while Souther of Medford is given an edge in the shot. Other Newton entries in the shot are Seth Fitchet, Harvey Isham and Fred Foss, and in the broad jump Rick Massell and MacNeil, a sophomore. Mark Messier is Enoch's choice in the high jump in the absence of Bill Pescosolido, and a sophomore named Dick Rice may also get into the scoring. A tight meet is to be expected, very likely a point-splitting affair to be settled by the relay.

NEWTON SEXTET UPSETS ARLINGTON IN 2-1 GAME

Buttrick's Return to Goal Strengthens Defense

A Newton High hockey team that skated hard and checked hard worked its way to a 2-1 upset victory over Arlington High last Saturday at the Boston Garden. Goals by Paul Brown in the first and second periods gave Evan Johnson's rapidly improving club a lead to work on, and they clung to it stubbornly as Arlington battered at a six-man defense for most of the third period. Herb Buttrick gave a superb demonstration of goal-tending for Newton, and the only marker against him was made under protest as Chipman, who appeared to be camped in the forbidden zone immediately in front of the goal, slapped home a pass from Larry Cousins in the second minute of the last period.

Paul Brown, lightweight first-string center, scored both Newton goals. Taking a pass from Phil Green in center ice, Brown stalled the Arlington defense by faking a shot, then skated around Benham, at right defense, and let go a low shot that skipped Dutton's stick, to score at 5:02. It was Brown again who took a pass out from Al Turner directly in front of Dutton and flipped another period. The third period saw Arlington storming the Newton defenses five abreast in an attempt to register, but after the early goal that Chipman hit over Buttrick, they were unable to pop another point into the score.

Herb Buttrick, who virtually gave up hockey earlier in the season, had the best day of his career. One particularly bad moment came in the last period when Cousins of Arlington tried a penalty shot that clanged off the post on the outside, saving the day for Newton. Johnson's boys showed more aggressiveness than at any previous time. An indication of how fierce the going was is evident in the comment of Arlington's Chipman at a practice session Monday at the Garden rink, when he confided to some of the Newton players that Saturday's game was one of the roughest he had ever played in, and added that it was a new experience for him to be "bumped around by a Newton team."

best man on the team for body checking, and is due for service on defense in future games. If John Fitzgerald becomes eligible for the forward lines next week, Lane will probably be moved back there for a steady job.

NEWTON FIVE SWAMPS FACULTY QUINTET 60-35

Newton High's varsity basketball team, preparing for their opening game of the season, today's home date with Watertown, defeated a faculty team in a warm-up contest Wednesday by 60-35. Capt. Leonard LeSourd scored seven goals from the floor and one foul shot for a total of 15 points, while Don Abbot, the other starting forward, and Gene Leger, varsity center, each made 12 points. Stan Gruber, varsity guard, sank five goals for ten points.

The faculty lined up with Howard Ferguson and Raymond Greene as forwards, Fitz at center, Bev Wilson and Frank Simmons at guards. Ferguson led the faculty with four goals and two foul shots for a total of ten. The other teachers scored as follows: Greene 8, Fitz 5, Wilson 4, Simmons 2, L. P. Jeff Jones 2, Evan Johnson 1, Ed Boyle failed to score. Other scorers among the varsity were Dick Van Gurn, Duff 1, Al Coletti 1, Paul Robey 1. Dan Cedrone, John Fifield, Maguire and Burns did not tally.

Nonantum Man Killed By Auto

Michael Marino, 47, of 70 Chapel st., Nonantum, was killed about 3:30 last Friday morning when he was hit on Mett st., Watertown, near Chapman st. by an automobile driven by George Kelly of Howard st., Waltham. Marino was rushed to the Waltham Hospital by George Henry Waltham taxi driver. The man had been killed from multiple injuries. He had received fractures of the skull, a leg and a number of ribs, and his chest was crushed.

Mr. Marino was born in the Province of Caserta, Italy, and had resided in Nonantum for 18 years. He had been employed at the Hood Rubber Company, Watertown. He is survived by his widow and five children. His funeral service was held on Monday morning at Our Lady's Church, Newton, and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Kelly was arraigned in the Waltham court on Saturday and charged with manslaughter and operating to endanger. His case was continued until Jan. 14.

In his inaugural address Mayor Childs said—"It is distressing that so many automobile fatalities have been recorded in our city during the past year. In most of the cases where there have been court proceedings the adjudications would seem to indicate that the pedestrian is largely at fault." In most of the cases where pedestrians have been hit by automobiles and fatally injured in Newton the past year, the victims have been aged persons. They have been hit at night; some of them had almost reached the opposite side of the street which they were crossing. Inquests on some of these fatalities produced witnesses who testified that the cars involved were allegedly traveling at high rates of speed. If you want to observe what chance an aged man or woman has crossing a street at night, observe the speeds at which automobiles travel along Washington, Watertown, Waltham, Boylston, or other streets in this city.

Sir Arthur Willert Talks On "England and the World Crisis" at Newton Forum

Chides England For Not Taking More Aggressive Part in The Present World Situation

Last Sunday afternoon the fifth lecture in the Newton Community Forum series took place in the auditorium of the High School. The audience was unusually fortunate in having Sir Arthur Willert, Washington correspondent of the London Times, and for ten years director of publicity for the British Foreign Office. His subject, particularly well fitted to the times, was "England and the World Crisis."

Sir Arthur started out with the Spanish situation which, he said, has been grossly exaggerated by the papers; particularly as regards the blockade on supplies to Spain. He admitted, however, that it would be very pleasing to him if England would make such a blockade effective. Spain is virtually the battleground of the old government backed by conservative Europe on the right and of Madrid backed by Russia on the left. Fighting in Spain at the present time are from 25,000 to 30,000 Russians, from 15,000 to 20,000 Germans and from 10,000 to 12,000 French with British and Americans scattered about on both sides.

He said that Japan has been riding over and ignoring treaties as fast as they have been signed. Germany has done the same with the Treaty of Versailles and Italy likewise by walking into Abyssinia. Sympathy might be shown Germany from a viewpoint of equality but her breaking of laws and the trust of the nations is unforgivable. He regards England and France as exceedingly spineless in never taking a decisive stand and sticking to it. If they do not do so soon we shall see "power politics" in Europe and a slipping back into the old regime of intrigue and threat, of rearmament and possible war.

As yet there is no ideological line-up in Europe. Russia is, of course, on the side of England and France, but at the same time is as dictatorial as either Germany or Italy. The principal countries of Europe are in the same position that they were in in 1914. Germany is threatening. France is nervous on account of this. Russia allied with France is in the same state of mind and Italy is logically on the German side, "still trying to make hay in troubled waters." Great Britain is nervous and as usual—aloof, but always on the side of France and "uncomfortably of Russia."

All of Europe is distrustful of Russian and communistic influences. France feels the eyes of German spies on her every action and word. Germany feels the same way in regard to France and Russia. Russia really has nothing to fear from Germany but the Germans take great delight in trying to frighten Russia into thinking that she has. In the meantime Soviet Russia is trying to maintain and protect the international movement and the chief question of the day is: What is Germany going to do? There is no doubt in Sir Arthur's mind that Hitler is the dominating force in Europe today. Ten years ago France and Italy were the competing forces for dominance. Two years ago German authority began to grow and has continued to do so. It is Sir Arthur's belief and the belief of many others that Mussolini's motive in marching on Abyssinia was not so much because he wanted the territory as it was to distract the attention of the Italians from the fact that Italy was no longer the supreme power in Europe. Be that as it may, Germany's determination is wrapped up in an odd mixture of mysticism on the one hand and the obsession on the

Community Chest Goes Over Quota: $192,081 Total

Clean-up Puts Campaign Over for First Time in History.

The 1936 Campaign Committee of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., reports that the clean-up after the official close of the 1936 Campaign for $188,457.00 has put the "ball across the goal line", having reached a total of $192,081.90. This is the first time since the chest was organized in 1932 that the goal has been exceeded. In 1935, the amount raised was within a few hundred dollars of the goal.

In addition to having beaten the goal, the total number of pledges is the highest, by far, of any before reached. The figure for 1936 is a total of 13,900 pledges, or about 3,400 more than in 1935, which showed the greatest number of pledges in any campaign up to that time.

Every Village Beats Its Goal
In addition to having beaten the goal, the total number of pledges is the highest, by far, of any before reached. The figure for 1936 is a total of 13,900 pledges, or about 3,400 more than in 1935, which showed the greatest number of pledges in any campaign up to that time.

This great victory of the 1936 Campaign was made possible by a splendid team of almost 2,000 leaders and solicitors. To them goes the credit for having carried the ball across the line.

These are the leaders who gathered around themselves the team which brought success to the 1936 Campaign. Campaign Director, Maynard Hutchinson; assistant campaign directors, Mrs. Lorenzo F. High School Senior Play Is Unique Drama

Thrilling Courtroom Play Is Entitled "Libel"

The Senior Class of Newton High School presents on Friday afternoon and Saturday evening of this week a trial drama by George Woolf, entitled "Libel." A hit on the New York stage last winter, it was secured by the seniors for first amateur production, and will be seen here by large audiences in the school auditorium.

The cast, which has been coaching for several weeks under Miss Irene Haworth, is headed by Evelyn Waddell, as Lady Loddon, and Gordon French, as Sir Mark Loddon. There are thirty-seven parts in the play.

Work in anticipation of the production January 15 and 16 has been going forward at the school for many weeks. The scenery has been built by a special committee, and tickets, candy, ushering, and publicity are being handled by the pupils themselves. Rehearsals for the cast have been held daily since the vacation, and it is expected that the performance will better the high standard set by previous senior class productions at Newton High.

The aged man received injuries to his legs and left side. He was removed to his home. Delano reported that he swerved his car when another car stopped suddenly in front of him. He then hit Mr. Keefe.

Estelle Morin, 16, of 14 Nobscot rd., Newton Centre was hit on Monday night about 10 as she was crossing Commonwealth ave., near Nobscot rd. She received injuries to her legs and right shoulder and was taken to the Newton Hospital. Manuel Perivolitis of Wamesit, driver of the car which hit the girl, reported that she stepped from behind a bus.

Woman Killed By Automobile At Newton Centre

Miss Dorothy B. Young, 42, of 66 Daniel st., Newton Centre was hit opposite 73 Parker st., Newton Centre on Saturday night at 7:49 o'clock by an automobile driven by Robert P. Willing, 24, of 9 Glen rd., Newton Centre. With the assistance of a passing autoist Willing placed Miss Young in his car and took her to the Newton Hospital where she died at 8:25. Her chest was crushed and she received other injuries. Willing reported to the police that he was traveling south on Parker st. at a speed of about 25 miles, that the woman was proceeding in the same direction, and that he did not see her until he hit something. It was reported to the police that Miss Young's feet were within a foot from the right hand gutter of the street, and that her hat and shoes were 5 feet from her body.

Miss Young was a life-long resident of this city. She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary (Richards) Young and the late Edward P. Young and had been employed in the insurance business. Besides her mother she is survived by a sister, Miss Barbara Young. Her funeral service was held on Tuesday at Sacred Heart Church and burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

Blame Brighton Man For Fatal Accident

Charles E. Mays of 6 Sutherland rd., Brighton, was arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday on a charge of driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. The case was continued until Jan. 28. The charge against Mays was the result of an inquest held by Judge Weston on the death of Harry H. Powers. On Nov. 24 an automobile operated by Mays was proceeding westerly on Church st., Newton. At the intersection of Centre st. it collided with a car driven by Ellis Sjulander of Belmont; the latter car going south along Centre st. Sjulander's car swerved after the collision, went across the sidewalk on Centre st. and crushed Mr. Powers against a fence. He died later at the Newton Hospital.

Several Crashes At Same Location

The wide open corner at Crafts and Waltham sts., West Newton, was the scene of three automobile collisions last Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday night cars driven by Rocco Cacchia of Nahant st., Oak Hill, and James Sweeney of Needham collided near the corner. Mrs. Christina Cacchia was injured and taken to the Newton Hospital. Sunday afternoon two cars collided and one then hit a pole, breaking it. Fred Cook of Maynard, who was driving the car, was injured. He was taken to the Newton Hospital. At 1:45 a. m. Sunday cars driven by John Leonard of High st., Waltham, and James McLaughlin, address unknown, came together near the corner.

Newton Representatives File Bill For Biennial Elections In Newton

Off-Year Elections Would Be Abolished Because of Small Vote
Cast At Them

A bill was filed in the Legislature this week by the four Representatives from this city seeking to have biennial elections in Newton. The bill was drawn by Representative Warren K. Brimblecom and received the endorsement of Representatives Baker, Francis and Luitwieler. Mr. Brimblecom states that the purpose of the bill is an effort to maintain good government in Newton as off-year elections in this city have proved that only a small percentage of voters go to the polls at such elections, and that candidates elected are therefore minority choices. For several years there has been agitation for biennial elections here and the bill is the result of many requests for such action made in recent months.

The bill will eliminate the off-year elections by providing two-year terms for all aldermen, instead of one year terms for Ward Aldermen and at present. Records show that there will be extremely little likelihood of an entire change in the personnel of the Board of Aldermen. Most members of the Board seek re-election and are successful, under the present method. The bill makes no change as regards the number of Ward Aldermen and Aldermen-at-Large. Aldermen whose terms expire in 1938 would have their terms automatically extended until 1939, according to the bill. The bill would have candidates for Ward Aldermen at next year's election chosen for one year, but eligible to serve two years, should the voters of Newton accept the referendum accepting the bill.

Members of the School Committee would be elected for four year terms instead of 3 year terms. Those whose terms expire in 1938 would have their terms extended to 1939. In that year five School Committee members would be elected. The four receiving the highest number of votes would be chosen for four years, and the successful candidate receiving the lowest number of votes would be elected for 2 years. Thereafter, there would be 3 School Committee members to be elected at the next election, and 4 the following election, two years later. The date of the city election would be changed from the second Tuesday in December to the second Tuesday in November in odd numbered years. These are the years when Mayoralty elections are held in Newton under the present system. They are also the off years for State and Presidential elections.

The bill reads as follows:
SECTION 1. Beginning with the year nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, municipal elections in the City of Newton for the choice of mayor, aldermen and members of the school committee shall be held biennially in each odd-numbered year, in said year nineteen hundred and thirty-seven on the second Tuesday in December and thereafter on the second Tuesday in November.

SECTION 2. At the biennial municipal election to be held in said city in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-seven and at every biennial municipal election thereafter, the mayor and all members of the board of aldermen to be elected shall be elected to serve for two years from the first secular day in January following their election and until their successors are qualified. The aldermen at large elected at the municipal election held in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-six shall continue to hold office until the qualification of their successors who shall be elected at the biennial municipal election in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-nine.

SECTION 3. Members of the school committee elected in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-five shall continue to hold office until the qualification of their successors who shall be elected at the biennial municipal election in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-nine. Members of the school committee to be elected in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-seven shall be elected to serve for four years from the first secular day in January following their election and until their successors are qualified. At the biennial municipal election in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-nine there shall be elected five members of the school committee, and the four members elected thereafter who received the highest number of votes shall serve for four years from the first secular day in January following their election and until their successors are qualified.

Aged Man Hit By Automobile Dies

Charles P. Coggeshall, 84, of 929 Beacon st., Newton Centre, died at the Newton Hospital on Friday, January 8 of injuries received the previous Sunday when he was hit by an automobile. THE LITTLE THINGS COUNT

Governor Hurley is creating a most favorable impression with his attitude toward economy in our state government. His prompt action in attempting to save more of the money of depositors in closed banks through a reduction in liquidation expenses was a good start. It seems apparent that the Governor took the steps he deemed advisable though it meant the discharge of relatives and friends of some of those in his close confidence. His contemplated removal of one of the former Governor's secretaries from a public works position which most people consider he is not qualified to hold, is another forward step. In contrast to the former Governor's method of procedure the present Governor states that the removal process will be accomplished in an orderly method. And again the question of the lunches of the members of the Governor's Council being paid for by themselves or by the state, although but a small matter, is one which the average person will understand. There is little reason why the taxpayers should be put to this expense, slight though it may be. It is the little things that count.

NO DELAY WARRANTED

Already this month there has been chronicled the deaths of two pedestrians injured by automobiles upon the streets of Newton. During the entire twelve months of last year the toll of pedestrian deaths reached the unprecedented number of ten. A continuation of these tragedies should not be permitted any longer. It is long past the time when some specific action should have been taken to reduce the possibilities of such fatalities. We are aware of the necessity for proper consideration of proposals that might and have been offered to bring about such results. The citizens of Newton desire and demand that something concrete be done without further unwarranted delay.

Nursing Ass'n. Hears Teacher On Child Health

Miss Mary Pfaffman, teacher of Child Health Education at the Boston Dispensary, addressed the regular monthly meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association which was held at the headquarters on Monday, Jan. 11th.

An interesting demonstration was given of the methods used to teach good food habits to children who come to the Boston Dispensary. The teaching of the essentials of a balanced diet and the elements of food which make for healthy bodies was set forth by Miss Pfaffman, who has developed a singularly fascinating method of portraying these important facts through the media of exhibits, object lessons, games, motion pictures and handwork done by the children themselves.

Miss Nelson, Director of the District Nursing Association, reported an increase of 227 visits paid this December over those of last year. The visits for the month totaled 1564 as opposed to 1277 last year. During December 526 patients were visited, while for the previous December 499 were visited. One hundred and eight of these were new patients.

Miss Nelson requested that anyone who could contribute any old linen or bedding, which is badly needed by the association, might reach her at Newton North 4880, and asked that this request be extended to the public.

Mrs. John Brown, Chairman of Publicity, renewed her plea to Garden Clubs and individuals to send surplus plants for flowers to headquarters at 297 Walnut st., Newtonville, for distribution to shut-ins.

Local Osteopaths Elect Officers at Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Middlesex South Osteopathic Society on January 7th Dr. Harry E. Cash of Newton Centre was elected president for the coming year. The other officers were Dr. Lawrence F. Walsh of Cambridge, Vice-President and Dr. Eunice L. Chapman of Needham, Secretary-Treasurer.

After the election Dr. Myron B. Barstow of Boston spoke on the recording of osteopathic findings and presented a case by way of illustration.

Dan Harkins Goes To Manage Detroit Office of Hapag

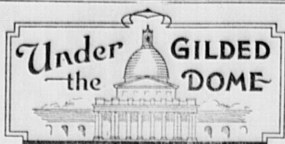

Daniel J. Harkins, well known steamship agency official of Boston, and member of an old Newton family, has been promoted by the Hamburg-American, North German Lloyd Company to the position of manager of its Detroit office. Mr. Harkins is the son of the late Dr. Daniel Harkins, a native of Newton, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius P. Harkins, prominent residents of this city a half century ago. Dr. Daniel Harkins was for many years a leading physician in the South Boston and Dorchester districts, and served a number of terms as a member of the Boston School Committee.

Daniel J. Harkins graduated from Boston College in 1918. While in college he was a member of the track team, and editor-in-chief of the Year Book. He entered the employ of the International Mercantile Marine Company in 1920 and from 1921 to 1924 was assistant manager of the Boston office of the French Line. From 1924 to 1933 Mr. Harkins was manager of the Boston office of the Hamburg-American Line. When that company was merged in 1933 with the North German Lloyd, he became associate manager of the Boston office of the combined companies. He is a past Vice-Commander of Crosscup-Pishon Post American Legion.

Friends of Mr. Harkins in the travel business in Boston and vicinity will tender him a farewell luncheon at the Statler Hotel on Monday noon, January 18.

Newton Circle To Be Entertained at Newtonville

Mrs. Harry E. Noyes of 65 Prospect park, Newtonville, will open her home Monday evening, January 18, for the January meeting of the Newton Circle, Inc., of the Florence Crittenton League. Entertainment of a special sort has been provided for this meeting since the husbands have been invited to attend. A travelogue film entitled "Around the World" will be presented. There will also be a discussion of plans for the forthcoming annual dance to be held again this year at Brae Burn Country Club in April, the dance which has become well-known in previous years as the "Junior Circle Dance."

Leroy W. Leland of Newtonville this week became acting Bank Commissioner pending the confirmation of a new appointee by Governor Hurley and the Council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Commissioner H. H. Pierce. Mr. Leland has for some time been a deputy commissioner in this department of the State. On Wednesday the Council put over for one week action on the confirmation of the Governor's nomination of William P. Husband, Jr., as Bank Commissioner. As favorable action is expected at next week's session Mr. Leland will be returned to his duties as deputy commissioner next week.

The usual flood of petitions for legislation has been increasing this week and will continue until the expiration of time for filing such bills tomorrow afternoon. It is expected that there will again be more than 2,000 petitions presented. Rep. Luitweiler has filed a petition on behalf of the State Federation of Teachers for repeal of the teacher's oath law. Some time ago Rep. Brimblecom presented a request of Mrs. Julia N. Keene of Newton filed her petition for the abolition of capital punishment and the substitution of life imprisonment without benefit of parole in first degree murder cases. The Newton City Employees Local by President A. Leslie Moriarty has filed two petitions through Rep. Brimblecom. One seeks to require the posting in cities and towns of lists of civil service employees in the labor service. The other relates to the date of payment of compensation of injured employees in industrial accidents.

The petition for biennial elections in Newton filed this week by the four Newton Representatives marks the first time in eight years that Rep. Baker has petitioned for legislation. Such a record is unusual and in direct contrast with other cities and towns whose Representatives are required to file petitions for all manner of things.

Installation of Dr. Boynton to Be Held Jan. 22nd.

The installation of the Rev. M. R. Boynton, D.D., as Minister of the First Church in Newton, Newton Centre, will be held on Friday, Jan. 22nd. The Council will convene at 4:30 in the afternoon and the public service of installation will be held at 8 o'clock in the evening. At this service the sermon will be given by the Rev. Douglas Horton, D.D., formerly minister of the Leyden Church, in Brookline, and now minister of the United Church of Hyde Park, Chicago, Illinois. Dr. Horton is well known in the religious world because he was the first to translate one of Carl Barth's books into English. He has made a large place for himself in the religious world of Chicago, and has just completed an extensive tour to the Pacific Coast as one of the missionaries of the National Preaching Mission. Other parts in the service will be taken by Prof. Daniel Evans of Andover-Newton Theological Seminary, Dr. Stafford of the Old South Church, Boston; the Rev. Dwight Bradley, D.D., a former minister of First Church and the Rev. Edward C. Boynton of Scarsdale, N. Y., brother of the Rev. M. R. Boynton. Dr. Boynton comes as the thirteenth minister which First Church has had in the 273 years of its history.

Newton Parishes Plan Pilgrimage

The eight Newton parishes of the Episcopal Church are planning a pilgrimage next Sunday evening to the Cathedral Church of St. Paul on Tremont st., Boston. The parishes include those of Grace Church, Newton; Trinity Church, Newton Centre; St. John's Church, Newtonville; St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands; Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill; Church of the Good Shepherd, Waban; Church of the Messiah, Auburndale; and St. Mary's Church of Newton Lower Falls. St. Andrew's Church of Wellesley Hills, is also included as being part of this general locality. Special busses will start from or stop at all the parish houses where choirs and many of the congregation will be accompanied. Arrangements have also been made to have the busses park at the Cathedral door for the convenience of those returning to Newton after the service. Many others are planning to drive in and it is expected that the Cathedral will be well filled.

The service opens at seven thirty with fifteen minutes given to singing favorite hymns led by the combined choirs. Evening prayer and the sermon will continue until about 8:30 and will be followed by the "Friendship Hour" in the Crypt of the Cathedral. Light refreshments will be served. Busses will leave promptly from the more distant churches at 6:30 and are scheduled to stop at Grace Church, Newton and Trinity Church, Newton Centre from which points they will leave at 6:45 sharp in order to insure the arrival of the choirs at 7:15.

The Cathedral stands, especially to Episcopals, as the representative center for this locality of the Church as a whole. In recent times it has been reaching out more and more to fulfill this function. Canon Trowbridge, who is arranging the service, has been especially active in reaching out to interested ministers of nearby churches by preaching and participating in week-day services.

Throughout next week there will be intercessions for the work of the Newton parishes at the daily Cathedral celebrations of the Holy Communion.

Christmas Seal Sale

Since the 1925 campaign for the sale of Christmas Seals (receipts $8612.05), Newton, in common with other districts in Massachusetts, showed a decline in receipts until the low returns of 1933 ($5133.33).

While the 1936 committee chairman still expect to hear from some who have not as yet replied to the Sale Letter, they feel that Newton is slowly creeping upward and that the final report of the 1936 sale will show a goodly increase over that of 1935.

A statement of the receipts to January 12th follows:

Newton	$ 826.05
Newtonville	$79.04
Newton Centre	1083.34
Newton Highlands	510.05
Waban	607.55
Auburndale	351.45
West Newton	789.97
Chestnut Hill	398.90
Upper Falls	90.05
Lower Falls	27.25
Total	$554.65

Peace Talk At Forum Meeting

other hand that Germany is the chosen state and everything that occurs is in one way or another connected with the great destiny of Germany. Certain philosophers if they may be classed as such—have gone to the absurd extreme of trying to prove to their own satisfaction and the satisfaction of the world at large that the great men of all time were Germans. A certain German Professor described Germany's present state to Sir Arthur in these words: "In the edifice which the Nazis are building, the bricks are of hope and patriotism but the mortar is composed of fear." Nevertheless, the danger points in Europe are Melmel, Danzig and Austria, and what they do will largely determine the molding of the history of the near future.

Germany's present program is for the fitness of the individual and force for the nation. In "Mein Kampf" Hitler says that he feels Germany perfectly justified in starting war for the purpose of obtaining territory, otherwise Germany will not resort to such measures. The trouble with this is that the need for more territory may be translated to cover a multitude of sins.

Sir Arthur very reassuringly stated that in spite of all the threats that come out every day he has no grave fear of war in Europe. He calls Mussolini fearless but always knowing how far he can go. His bold front is mostly bluff as much of Hitler's is to a certain extent, with mysticism and sentimentality added, making what the speaker called "this mono-maniacal dream—The Unity of Germany."

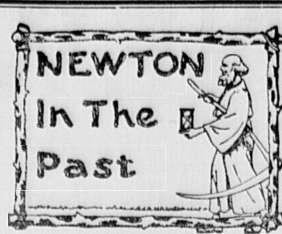

The reason that the Disarmament Conference failed is that the small frightened countries will give nothing up to Germany without their security insured against attack and persecution. Sir Arthur feels that what Britain should really do is to go into Europe and stand with the other peace-loving countries and along with France lower the tariffs, which he feels would solve the Japanese difficulty, and insist that Germany give over to certain of the smaller countries the territory that is rightfully theirs. He feels that this would be a solution toward eradicating the tremendous pressure and fear that is gripping Europe at the present time. There would be little danger in such action because Germany would never have the courage to start trouble with the combined forces of England, France, Russia, Belgium, Holland and the Scandinavian countries. The League of Nations should be reorganized to work again for the smaller countries. It is unfortunate, the speaker said, that England is becoming more and more anti-league minded.

Sir Arthur concluded his very convincing discourse by saying that once upon a time war was considered a means toward peace. Today, however, war would mean the final end of the old-world civilization, which fortunately is a thought distasteful to even the most bighearted of nations. It would mean the loss of their inherent identity and this would hardly appeal to Germany's ego.

Someone described the march of time as a road which is sometimes slippery as in time of war and sometimes dry as in time of peace. The road is now slippery and therefore dangerous but the drivers have become so accustomed to them in that state that they have learned how to drive carefully and thereby avoid accidents.

To confirm in our minds Russia's peaceful intentions, Sir Arthur referred to the late election in Germany where Hitler and Goebbels hurled abuse at her right and left. Once upon a time such an attack would have been enough to set a continent ablaze but with complete control and self-possession Russia returned the insult in the same manner and with far more subtlety, leaving Germany nothing whatever to say in return.

On January 24th Norman Thomas will speak to the Forum. His subject is to be "A Program for Our Times." On February 7th Dean William F. Russell will discuss "What Is Wrong with Our Schools and Colleges" and on February 21st Hans von Katenborn's topic will be "We Look at the World." There are still some membership tickets left for sale and in order to insure the continuation of these lectures another season it is hoped that interested persons will obtain them from the secretary of the committee, Mr. Walter Taylor, 32 South Gate Park, West Newton.

Newton Republican January 23, 1875

The Board of Aldermen at its regular meeting on Monday afternoon received a memorial from the Newton Horticultural Society asking that a Board of Commissioners be appointed to consider and report on the best means of securing the necessary land and laying out one or more public parks in the city of Newton. The members of the society are deeply impressed with the need in every large town of such parks as an essential means of preserving the health and promoting the pleasure and culture of the people. They believe there are tracts of land within our city admirably adapted to such uses, easily accessible to the majority of the people, which can now be acquired at small cost, but that with the rapid increase in our population each year's delay will increase the difficulty of procuring the lands in sufficient quantity, and will greatly increase the cost thereof. The experience of every civilized city that has established public parks has been that the outlay has been more than compensated for in the increased taxable value of the property in their neighborhoods.

Respectfully submitted in behalf of the Newton Horticultural Society, George Eastman; Edwin B. Haskell; Edward P. Bond, Committee.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday orders were adopted fixing the salary of the Mayor at $1000; City Clerk, $250; City Treasurer, $250; Chairman of Assessors, $120; associate assessors $80; assistant assessors, $4 per day when employed; Chief Engineer of Fire Department, $700; Assistant Engineers, $125 each; Superintendent of Streets, $1500, city to furnish horse and wagon; policeman $1000 each.

In the Common Council Councilman Gilman said he understood Chief Engineer Whipple of the Fire Department would not serve unless his salary were increased to $1000. Councilman Carpenter said this salary was jumped from $200, which was what the Town of Newton paid a couple of years ago, to $700, because Mr. Whipple could not be secured for less. He thought any other man's services could be secured for $500.

Newton Graphic, Jan. 15, 1887

A sleighing party of 30 people came from Hyde Park to this city on Tuesday night and had dinner at Hotel Hunnewell. They were old friends of Alderman Harwood and one of the purposes of their visit was to congratulate him on his recent political success.

Howard Brothers have harvested a fine crop of ice at Howard Pond. It is over a foot thick, free from snow and very clean. They have filled all their ice houses.

The work of completing the plant of the Newton Electric Light Company has progressed so far that an exhibition of the lights will be given on Saturday night. Poles have been set in nearly all the Wards of the city and on many of these wires have been placed. The city being under contract to the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company until next Spring, it is not expected that the streets will be generally lighted with electricity until that time. It is probable, however, that the squares will be lighted soon after the company gets in operation.

Let us hope the happy thought of erecting a hotel at Newtonville may quickly strike the mind and pocket of someone, so that there may be a refuge for visitors who wish to stay later than 10:30 p. m. with friends.

There was an exciting time at the Newtonville railroad crossing near the depot on Tuesday. A sleigh containing two ladies and two children was waiting at the crossing for a gravel train to pass. As the last half of the train was passing one of the gates was raised slightly and the horse darted onto the tracks, evidently bent on running over the train. The lady driving managed to pull the horse to one side. He ran down the track, upsetting the sleigh near the depot. Fortunately no one was hurt.

The air is made musical on these bright moonlight nights at Newton Lower Falls by the jingle of bells, the tooting of horns and the happy voices of merry sleighing parties passing through to Bailey's Hotel at South Natick, or Lee's at Auburndale.

The toboggan coast on Institution Hill, Newton Centre has been in fine order the past week. The starting point is on the east side, about half way between Ripley st. and Institution ave. The coast runs the entire length of Knowles st. to Station st. The Newton Centre Toboggan Club has built the coast.

Powers' Paragraphs

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to provide for a law which will compel pedestrians walking on any highway after dark to carry a light. For many years there has been a law which specifies that any person riding a bicycle on a highway after dark shall have a lighted lamp showing on the bicycle. This police Newton, or elsewhere, have made not even a pretence of enforcing this law. They would be even less apt to enforce a law ordering pedestrians to carry lights.

For the past several years the practice of double parking of automobiles and trucks on Boston streets has been growing. It has become so common that it is the principal cause of the traffic congestion prevalent every week day on many Boston streets. Enforcing traffic laws will stop the blocking of traffic. Building expensive by-passes and overpasses at the outskirts of Boston will have no effect on the traffic blockades at intown Boston.

The practice of double parking has also been growing in Newton the past year, particularly by large trucks which are delivering merchandise in business districts. Operators of passenger automobiles are also violating the law by indulging in double parking at business sections. Newton police should enforce the traffic laws.

The kidnapping and murder of the little Mattson boy at Tacoma is another good argument why capital punishment should be abolished and why there should be more pardoning and paroling of murderers and criminals such as we have had in Massachusetts the past several years. Some of our respectable citizens who profess to be agitated at the increase of crimes of violence in this country, do not hesitate to attempt to fix causes for real or potential slayers who kill persons by speeding or recklessly driving automobiles. Human life is held quite cheaply today, despite the fact that some persons lives are insured for vast amounts.

It has been claimed in recent years that women are just as intelligent as men. Previously the males of the species were supposed to have much more brains than the females. But, with the broadening of educational opportunities for the girls, and the coming of equal suffrage for women, the ladies started to compete with the men in most lines of human endeavor, and they have been asserting since that they possess just as much ability and gray matter as the gentlemen.

We realize that there are a lot of women who are more intelligent than are most men. This is nothing to brag about. But, we would be willing to admit that women, as a whole, are as intelligent as men if they did not exhibit such peculiar ideas about their wearing apparel and the modern trend for "beautifying" themselves. If men went about wearing the dinky top pieces the dear girls are now affecting, or had their feet covered with such bizarre shoes or sandals as the women are now miming along in, the boys would be accused of being somewhat eccentric.

And if the men attempted to make themselves more attractive by smearing powder and rouge on their cheeks, converting their lips into a carmine leech, or tinting their finger nails and toe nails various loud hues, the males would be called names that cannot be repeated in polite society.

In past years when the women were jollied by the men about their alleged vagaries in dress and appearance, they used to retort by telling the males of their foolish habits of drinking and smoking. Men still smoke and drink. But, they no longer have a practical monopoly on these alleged vices.

Governor Hurley is to be commended for his move to end the exorbitant costs of liquidating banks in Massachusetts and thereby saving large amounts of money for the depositors in such banks. For many years the liquidation of banks in this State has resembled in many instances something that savored of a racket. Persons with political, or other "drag," frequently with scant qualifications for such duties, were assigned to liquidate banks at lucrative salaries. It was not enough for unfortunate depositors of insolvent banks to lose much money through incompetent or dishonest bank officials, without being further penalized by unnecessary costs of liquidating the banks.

"Dashing Through the Snow"

A pleasantly nostalgic sensation overcame me for a time when I read in the GRAPHIC'S "62 Years Ago" column of the sleighing parties invited to engage Cate's "Snow Bird." No surrealist could paint a more vivid picture than filled my memory. Although the advent of that splendid conveyance was before my time, I distinctly recall sleighing parties over snow-covered roads on a moonlight winter's night. As far as I know, such merry-making is infrequently engaged today and if invited I believe I myself could totter out and join a group. It would be good fun to plunge my aging limbs into the straw provided to keep the feet warm.

The jingling of sleighbells, the rhythmic gait of the horses, the singing, the shouts of laughter and the supper at a country hotel were part of an evening of real fun. Those who look back with me will testify, I am sure, that sleigh-rides of this character were something to be remembered. And strangely enough, I can recall no sour note, which is the grand thing about memories. On the other hand there were many things that I shall never forget in spite of cold noses, fingers and toes. Many of these recollections produce a smile. None a bigger grin than the night we partook of a "chicken" supper way out somewhere beyond Concord. The meat was delicious and I wasn't angry either when afterwards I learned that the hotel proprietor had palmed-off luscious cold roast pork for sliced chicken. It must have been mighty good pork to fool us.

Button-hole Bouquets

There are so many organizations for the promotion of social intercourse, exchange of views on civic matters, perpetuation of former occupations, customs and ideals that I hesitate to bring forward any notion of my own. Still, I have an idea, which, as I ponder, seems pretty fair and therefore I make bold to put my thoughts on paper. The proposal I would offer would bring together, if such a thing were possible, the fast dwindling ranks of those men who adorn the button-hole of their coat with some sort of flower. It may be that I have gone too far in saying that our numbers are fewer, but at any rate I don't encounter them and I think I move about among divers sorts and places as much as the average citizen.

First, I must say that I meet, not infrequently, men whose habit it has been for years to tuck a nosegay in the coat lapel every day, possibly omitting Sundays. But they are met part of grey hair, at least for the most part. Yet some young men do it, too. Maybe these latter have inherited the fancy. That would be perfectly satisfactory and helpful in my scheme, as our organization would have youthful as well as elderly members which should prove an excellent combination.

All in all, and this really is the point I wish to make, we don't see as much of it as we did. In my opinion, a man who adds this little floral touch to his ensemble has some pride in his personal appearance. He never looks sloppy, bless his heart.

Those Blankety-Blank Blanks

The official order or whatever it may be that causes the word "personally" to be stamped on the envelope left by the letter carrier and containing an income tax blank is the first gesture that indicates a governmental finger is pointed at you and me. From that moment the shadow deepens. If you are methodical, and most of us try to be in these matters, you place the document where it will be readily found again. It may no longer be in sight but you are reminded of its presence when next you drop into the bank and observe a pile of such blanks available. You say to yourself, "I can't escape." It may be that you will try to dismiss the whole business for a time but the next thing is one of those official posters that stares at you and tells you when and where you may receive assistance in filling out the perplexing questionaire. Then you are sure to meet a friend who says, proudly, "Well, thank goodness, I've filled my income tax." This makes you feel guilty of not only procrastination but of attempted evasion. And, thus, the days move on until you have dedicated an evening to the struggle and have finally taken oath to your statements. A duty that comes but once a year, indeed, but how the years roll along!

Keeping Tabs on Time

Those who annually engage in the pursuit of calendars are at this period gloating over the number they have come into possession of, through the generosity of firms, corporations and others. It is interesting to note that some people are glad of any calendar they can get, while others are insistent they cannot use any except that which they have had year after year. This man wants the plainest—one that shows the day and date and no more. Another wants his decorated with moons, half-moons and quarter-moons and information regarding tides and the rising and setting of the sun. Here is a man who wants a calendar that has holidays in red ink and that is a man who wants not only the current month before him, but last and next month, too. Still another will tell you what calendars should have printed on them that now is lacking. You will find now and then an individual to whom a calendar is valuable only because it shows how many pay days there are in a month. A lot of people collect calendars for the fun of chiselling. Some people—and my hat is off to them—will actually spend money to get the kind of calendar they want.

Meteorological Memorandum

Early last Sunday morning I greeted the paper boy at the front door, with, "Another stormy Sunday, eh?" (It was my idea of cordiality for I like the little fellow.) He was shrouded in raincoat, hood and boots and looked most solemn when he answered, "Eight stormy Sundays in a row," and shook his head dolefully. Naturally, when you're out in it you are more likely to keep track of the weather. I'm going to remember anyway and see what kind of a day next Sunday turns out to be.

On Tuesday, January 5th, at 2:30 p. m., in the Congregational Parish House, the Newton Trust Company presented to the Newton Highlands Woman's Club members and guests

Brewer G. Whitmore, Associate Professor of Government at Smith College. Professor Whitmore has served on the instructing staffs of Harvard, Radcliffe, Syracuse, Wellesley, and Tufts, and for a number of years has been connected with the Department of Government at Smith College.

Professor Whitmore outlined the historical background of the Constitution, stating that its framers gave a system of checks and balances, which has been filled out by statutory acts, and changed by custom and amendments and by judicial interpretation.

He pointed out possible ways of securing intelligent changes by discussions in newspapers, and discussions in public forums; not forgetting that the same currents that blow through Legislative halls wait through the quieter chamber when the Supreme Court sits, or the padding of the Supreme Court, by the President appointing men, of his own political philosophy; all of this without changing the Constitution. Professor Whitmore, in closing, said we must look forward to longer-range plan; that we cannot put the future in cold storage; that we are due for "centralization," and we should approach the ideal of democracy and of social justice by "tinkering with" rather than by a sweeping change in the governmental machinery.

Mrs. Fred G. Sanford, chairman of Community Service, reported that through the generosity of the Club one hundred and fifty articles and $14.00 were given to needy people in the community Christmas; also that eight children were fitted out with shoes, rubbers, and overshoes.

Mrs. H. Herbert Hale, the president, announced that for the remainder of the year there will be five-minute Peace Talks at each meeting, and a basket at the door to receive contributions for the Maria Kimball Fund of the Massachusetts Emergency Peace Campaign, and that on January 29th, at 3 p. m., there will be a special business meeting of the Club members at the Workshop.

Tea and a social hour followed the program.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Mrs. Georgiana R. Smith, graduate of the Boston School of Fine Arts, was the guest-lecturer at last Tuesday's meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club. Her subject, "Flower Arrangement," was a welcome one in the midwinter season, with its anticipation of spring and growing things. With a background of celotex panel and with the aid of lovely fabrics of many hues, and with pictures, Mrs. Smith demonstrated the art of flower arrangement, while she lectured. She gave practical ideas applicable to everyday use in beautifying homes.

To quote Mrs. Smith: "More perfect than a perfect rose is that rose in a perfect setting." Before considering flower arrangement, she advised, one must consider the space to be filled, and the size and arrangement of the bouquet and vase. "Don't use fillers," she admonished, "for the spaces between sprays of flowers add much to the finished picture." There should be unity, she explained, which can be gained by means of harmonizing colors. Rhythm, also is very important, she added, and this may be established by line or color.

Following the lecture, tea was served, with Mrs. Charles A. Brown, the first president, and Mrs. Arthur W. Lane, the third president of the Auburndale Woman's Club, officiating at the tea table. Mrs. Silvanus Smith, active in the Newton and her Hospitality committee served.

Mrs. John P. Brown, Jr., Garden Club chairman, served as chairman of the Day.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Edgar O. Butz, Art chairman, of a lecture to be given by Dorothy Adlow, on the subject "Appreciation of Contemporary Art," at the Boston Art Museum, on January 20th, at 2 p. m.

Enthusiasm

If you can't get enthusiastic about your work, it's time to get alarmed. Something is wrong.

Complete with yourself; set your teeth and dive into the job of breaking your own record.

No man keeps up enthusiasm automatically. Enthusiasm must be nourished with new actions, new aspirations, new efforts, new vision.

It is a man's own fault if his enthusiasm is gone; he has failed to feed it.

And right here is the big reason why thousands of men hit high-water marks at thirty-five and then recede.

They can "do their work with their eyes shut," and that is the way they do it.

They have lost the driving power of enthusiasm.

They sleep at the switch. All they see in life is the face of the time clock. All they hear is the quitting whistle.

Supt. Warren Addresses History Societies

Describing himself as doubtful jam between two well-buttered slices of bread—Harold Rugg of the Teachers' College, Columbia University and Tyler Kepner of the Brookline High School—Mr. Julius Warren, Superintendent of Newton schools, addressed a joint session of the American Historical Association and the National Council for the Social Studies on Thursday, December 31, at the Providence Biltmore Hotel. "Has History Been Overworked?" was Mr. Rugg's subject, giving the economic and industrial outlook, while Mr. Kepner spoke on "The Dilemma of the Secondary-School Social Studies Teacher." Mr. Warren gave "The Viewpoint of a Superintendent," under the general heading of "History in the New Social Studies Curriculum."

By making use of achievement, mentality, and physical records, Mr. Warren urged "realistically facing the child who is to be taught in the various stages of his developing maturity and selecting our content and modifying our procedure in accordance with his nature and his needs." In conclusion, the Newton Superintendent struck an optimistic note, saying "that we have far to go in our schools in the teaching of history, but we are definitely moving ahead."

Orchestra Offers Opportunities

Among the high school organizations which stay in the background until called forth by the Varsity Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Charles R. Spaulding. This organization offers to the musical minded members of the school a chance to participate in a well-organized orchestra. It is at the present time composed of forty-six melodious virtuosos. Rehearsals are held on Mondays and Thursdays during the home-room period in the music hall of building two. The orchestra's repertoire, from the symphonic to the popular, includes marches and novelties. Besides playing at most assemblies, all the major plays of the year give the audiences the honor of this organization's talent and the season is climaxed by co-operating with the band, chorus, and glee club in the annual outdoor concert in June.

There are no requirements for admission except the ability to play an instrument. Applicants compete for positions by means of a contest in music. By this plan, if two persons wish a position as a clarinet, they are given identical sheets of music to study. When the day for the contest arrives, each one plays his music out of the hearing of the other and the judge, who hears them both, decides which was the better. A person may challenge another to such a contest in order to receive the others' place in the orchestra. By this method, which is very similar to the one employed by the band, the orchestra is kept in perfect balance and each player is given the part of music which he or she is best fitted to play.

No School Signal

School is ordinarily in session every day of the school year. If a violent snowstorm occurs, making the streets impassable, an emergency NO SCHOOL SIGNAL will be made through the following three agencies:

1. Radio 7:15 A. M.—WNAO, WEEI, WBZ.
2. Police Department 7:15-8:00 A. M. Parents and teachers may call the police stations.
3. Fire Departments 7:15-8:00 A. M. Bell alarms 3-33 will be used as a signal.

Parents are requested to refrain from calling the Superintendent or the Principal so that their lines may be free to transact the business necessary to make the above arrangements. The Radio should be the best means for obtaining the information. Please note that the NO SCHOOL SIGNAL will be sounded only in case of severe snow storms when the streets are practically impassable.

Notes

As a member of the committee, Miss Cora E. Riley attended the meeting of the committee on arrangements for the annual conference of Deans and Advisers of Girls in New England Colleges, Junior Colleges, and Secondary Schools. The meeting was held at the home of Miss Coolidge at Wellesley. The date selected for the conference is April 19, and the theme for the discussions will be "Criteria for College Admission."

Any person wanting to employ a high school boy or girl after school or on Saturdays should call Miss Pillman, Newton North 6267. Miss Pillman, a member of the high school staff, finds employment for many pupils who need the money or welcome the experience that comes from these part-time jobs.

Newton High School class of 1936 won approximately $12,000 in scholarships in a large number of institutions, many of them by a highly competitive plan. One of these scholarships was awarded through examinations—the New England Regional Scholarship to Swarthmore worth two thousand dollars.

ZONTA CLUB

A meeting of very great interest to Newton Zontians was held on Monday evening, Jan. 4 at the home of Miss Caroline Freeman with dinner served at 6:30. Following this the classification of those present were given and several Zonta songs were sung. Following adjournment to the living room Miss Sturges, president of Newton Zonta introduced Emma Maurice Tighe, of the Edison Friendly Kitchen as the speaker and honor guest. Miss Tighe spoke of her work and duties in connection with the Edison Company but devoted the greater part of her talk to Zonta and its work as Miss Tighe is the present director of District One, which includes all the New England States, part of New York State and the Zonta Clubs of Canada. She told of her early association and impressions of Zonta Clubs and of her growing interest in and admiration for the type of business women found there and the work they do both in the business world and in their service work in their clubs. The Newton Club was complimented upon its growth with the registering of six new members. This list includes Miss Jeanne Keurik, head of the Economics Dept. of the Newton High School; Miss Helen Sandstrom, Director of the Stearns School Centre; Miss Elizabeth Deans, Visiting Teacher, Newton High School; Miss Mary Barber, Assistant Principal Carroll School; Mrs. Della C. Stanley, proprietor of the Flower Box at Waban; Miss Doris Carley, Newton Real Estate Dealer; Miss Elizabeth Fyffe, Director Newton Music School.

The Newton Club will be the guests of the Boston Zonta Club at a joint meeting of the Metropolitan Zonta Clubs on February 9. A banquet will be served at the Chamber of Commerce in Boston and Prof. Rogers of Boston University will be the speaker. On Monday evening, Jan. 18th, Miss Olivia Cate of Watertown st. West Newton will be the hostess for the Zonta Club and members may bring guests. Miss Cate, a talented pianist, will give a program of piano music which will be sure to attract all the members and many guests. The Juniors, under the leadership of their president, Miss Beatrice Olen, presented for the first part of their program a most amusing skit, in which the following members took part: Beatrice Olen, Margaret Clark, Mary Cameron, Ann Appleton, Dorothy Davis, Gertrude Hardy, and Barbara Stinson. There was also a piano solo by Mary Cameron, a tap dance by Ann Appleton, and a monologue by Catherine McGorty.

For the second half of their program, the Juniors presented two speakers, Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, State vice-chairman of the department of Junior Membership; and Mr. Clarence Westphal, founder of the Literary Explorer Club. Mrs. Heath spoke briefly on the work of various Junior Clubs in Massachusetts. Mr. Westphal, who is an English teacher in Manchester, N. H., gave a very interesting description of his work with young boys, and of his discovery of the plan by which, through learning and understanding of some of the world's literary gems, boys gain the necessary friendly and sympathetic personal contact with an older, more experienced person. A feature of Mr. Westphal's plan is the Pilot Wheel with six spokes, complete even to the compass in the binnacle, to which each member of a Literary Explorer's Club is entitled. The Explorer has the right to attach a removable handle to the spoke as he completes the memorization of each of the twenty-five selections that it represents.

At the close of the meeting, tea was served by the members of the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Louis B. Martin, and Mrs. Emil A. Haas, co-chairman. The emcees were Mrs. Gordon S. Heath and Miss Beatrice Olen.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Newton Highlights

Those Newton High School sports followers who have been waiting for a good hockey game to come along can be safe in going to tomorrow's games at the Boston Garden. Newton, now considered the most improved unit in the league, will face the undefeated, high-scoring Stoneham champions. Bracketed in fourth place, Newton needs a victory to stay in the first division, while Stoneham has nothing to protect but a clean slate, having a three-point lead over Medford in the league standing.

Whether Evan Johnson's team will be the first to turn the tables on high-riding Stoneham, nobody knows. However, the champions have not faced any team this year which checks harder and covers closer than Newton has been checking in its recent games. Although they had only one day of hockey this week, a scrimmage against Medford at the Garden Wednesday, Newton is definitely in a winning mood, and will not take any easy licking tomorrow.

About 4500 hockey fans saw the Greater Boston Interscholastic games last Saturday, and several of them made themselves obnoxious not only at the games but going to and coming from the Garden. Two of the eight schools in the league are reported ready to be yanked out of the competition if their followings are responsible for disturbances or property damage on game afternoons. . . . The league is a colorful gathering this year, what with White, Gray, Green and a couple of Brown(e)s represented. It is also noteworthy that Liston and Noyes both play for Melrose, and add that there is no feud between Speer of Arlington and Lantz of Melrose. Mason of Newton is leading the league in penalties, while Meany, a Melrose skater, is not even in the running in this respect. . . . Rouleau of Rindge is about the smallest player in the G. B. I. S. Two years back that honor was held by another Rindge player, Al "Spider" Dumont, more recently known as "Fishy" or "Porky." An undersized blond, Dumont is probably the fastest skater in the league this year, and carries much of the Rindge power. . . .

Greater Boston hockey stars are carrying the mail in the new Three-I league, whose four teams below the border are Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth and Princeton. George Ford and Leo Ecker, teammates at Belmont High once, are starting for the great Harvard team, the Crown's best since 1909. Charley Houghton, former Newton High and Morrissett School player, is another Harvard stalwart. When Dartmouth held Harvard 2-0 last Saturday, Wes Goding, goalie, and center Bud Foster, Dartmouth sophomore from Melrose High, got particular commendation after the game. Not in the exclusive International circuit, Brown is having a good season in front of goalie Capt. Jack Skillings of Newton Centre, former Newton High athlete. In other college ranks are Howie Milner of last year's high school team, the defense star of the Northeastern freshmen, Robert MacPhee of Newton, B. U. wing, Dick Muther of Newton Centre, wing and Captain at M. I. T., Jack Lawrence of Waban, on defense for Bowdoin College, and George Duane of Williams and Warren Huston at Springfield. . . . Prep school hockey stars from Newton include John Blodgett at Vermont Academy, Ernie Savignano at Morrissett, Ernie MacLeod at Tilton Academy and Norm McCutcheon at New Hampton. Ray Chaisson, Greater Boston scoring ace two years ago, is also playing for New Hampton.

NEWTON BEATS MELROSE FOR FOURTH PLACE TIE

Coach Evan Johnson's Newton High hockey team defeated Melrose 2-0 at the Boston Garden last Saturday, advancing to a fourth-place tie with Arlington. Newton held the whip hand throughout the game, breaking down their red-jerseyed opponents with a stubborn defense, and scoring on solo attempts by Phil Green and Al Turner. It was the third successive game without defeat for Newton, and gave hopes to Newton's followers of a strong showing against the Stoneham flirts in tomorrow's Boston Garden feature.

Phil Greene scored for Newton at 8:52 in the second period. George Whitehead was sent to the penalty box for bodychecking a player not in possession of the puck. Coach Johnson sent out Mason and Nichols, his first string defense, and Turner and Brown, wings. Buttrick had two saves to make before Whitehead's line was up, and as soon as he was back on the ice, Green replaced him, skating out just in time to pick up the puck at the Newton blue line. Carrying up the left lane with a burst of speed, he rounded the defense, waited for goalie Liston to move, then flipped a backhand shot high into the near side of the goal. Almost immediately after his goal, Green was sent off for tripping, and Melrose put on something of a power play, giving Buttrick one save only, and that on a long shot.

Al Turner scored Newton's second goal at 7:49 in the last period. Newton had been playing a waiting game after their earlier goal, and left it to Melrose to open up the game. This they did when Fred Kidd was banished for charging. The Lane, Canfield, Cole line was withdrawn, although they had narrowly missed goals twice, and Paul Brown's first line took the ice. Brown missed the shot on a closeup shot after the face-off, and the puck was cleared to center ice, where Turner took it. He did not wait to go in close, but burned a hard drive into the middle of the nets as soon as he had rounded the defense, and Newton had a comfortable lead to hold for the dying minutes of the game.

Newton's first string defense of Fred Nichols and Ben Mason looked like the ablest pair of bodychecking points Newton has had in several winters. Both are willing. They form the inner cordon of a very fine six-man defense which Newton had occasion to test when Melrose was attempting to score with a long Paul Brown, wing on the Turner-Green line, failed to score Saturday, but still is one of the chief threats of the Newton attack. The second line, Bradford and Barry centered by Jack Lane, had several scoring chances, and Lane did some good defensive work. He also centered for Newton's sophomore wings, Albert Everts and Jack Carter, who both signs of becoming a marked combination in future G. B. I. S. campaigns.

In general tactics, particularly defensively, Newton has made great strides. They covered the Melrose forwards like the paper on the wall, and gave Buttrick good support at all times. Herb did a good piece of goal tending, and was never fooled into leaving in opening for Melrose. Al, who hurt himself slightly late in the third period, he stayed in and got credit for a shutout.

The rope had been thrown over the top of the closet door and Davis had apparently stood on a chair while he tied the other end about his neck. W. Newton Woman Is Killed By Truck

Three Pedestrians Killed In Newton Since Jan. 1

Mrs. Josephine Simmons, 56, of 2 Prospect st., West Newton, was fatally injured at 6:40 a. m. last Friday when she was hit by a truck as she was crossing Washington st., West Newton, at the intersection of Prospect st. The truck, proceeding westward on Washington st., was owned by the J. C. Driscoll Company of Boston and driven by Paul Reagan of 356 Broadway, Somerville. Mrs. Simmons was on her way to work and was crossing the street to take a bus when she was hit. Reagan reported to the police that the truck was proceeding at a speed of only 12 to 15 miles an hour, and that the woman became confused and ran back into the path of the truck. Mrs. Simmons received a fracture of the skull, her chest was crushed and fractures of both legs. She was taken to the Newton Hospital and died on Sunday evening. She was the third pedestrian to have been fatally injured in Newton by automobiles since the first of this year.

The truck was inspected by Serg. Bart Cullen, mechanic of the Newton police department. He found the brakes on the truck in good condition, but both headlights were defective. Mrs. Simmons was born in North Carolina and had resided in West Newton for 8 years. She is survived by her husband. Her funeral was held on Tuesday.

Appointed To Police Dept.

Thomas D. Conannon of Wyoming ave., Newtonville, was appointed on Wednesday by Chief Hughes as a member of the Newton police department. Conannon is a native of Waltham and has lived in Newton for 9 years. He was first on the eligible list. Arthur Connolly of 11 Waban st., Newton was appointed a member of the reserve force of the police department.

Want Flood Lights At Pulsifer Cove

A petition signed by 228 boys and girls asking that more flood lights be placed at Pulsifer Cove, Auburndale, was presented recently to Ernest Hermann, Superintendent of Playgrounds by Alderman Cronin of Auburndale. There are flood lights now at the skating area on the Charles River at Pulsifer Cove, but the petitioners want more lights installed toward Commonwealth ave. Mr. Hermann, in replying to the Alderman stated that an appropriation, recommended by the Mayor and passed by the Board of Aldermen would be necessary to defray the cost of installing additional lights. The playground head said he would check the long list of signers to ascertain if any of them reside in Waltham. Mr. Hermann commented that when there is skating at Bulough's Pond on Crystal Lake, the number of skaters at Pulsifer Cove falls off considerably. Mr. Hermann also stated that inasmuch as the cove is usually about the first place in the city to become frozen, it is the first place where the ice is cleared for skating after snowstorms.

Kellar Appointed Playground Comm.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night a communication was received from Mayor Childs submitting the appointment of George Kellar of May st., Auburn, as a member of the Playground Commission to succeed E. Ray Spence who had resigned. Mr. Kellar is assistant to the Superintendent of Schools and Secretary of the Newton School Committee. The precedent of appointing a city employee to a commission or board was established by Mayor Weeks when he appointed A. Leslie Moriarty, an employee of the Street Department, as a member of the Newton License Commission. A peculiar situation is created in the appointment of Mr. Kellar. An employee of the School Department, he will be one of the five members of the commission which controls the Playground Department.

To Continue Library Drive In Newtonville

A meeting of the Ways and Means Committee of the Newtonville Library Fund campaign was held on Tuesday evening, January 12th, at the home of the Chairman, Mr. Albert M. Lyon, 567 Walnut Street, Newtonville. Plans for completing the campaign of funds were discussed, and it was decided to continue the solicitation of funds, beginning next month.

Over twenty-one thousand, five hundred dollars has already been subscribed for the library, from over two thousand citizens, mostly from Newtonville. Of this total amount, one hundred subscriptions were received that ranged from fifty to one thousand dollars each. The initial payment of twenty-five hundred dollars was made last February, to take possession of the large lot of land at the corner of Highland ave. and Walnut st. Since then further payments of sixty-five hundred dollars have been made, and enough accumulated in cash and pledges to take care of almost one half of the balance on the land. About twelve thousand dollars remain to be raised, and the Committee is very hopeful of securing this amount within a comparatively short time. They believe that the civic-minded citizens of Newton will realize the great advantages of this new library, not only as a convenience to the general public, but in the form of a large and accessible reference library, as a splendid and permanent addition to the educational facilities of our High School.

Three Hurt In Crash on Pike

A car driven by William Dodge of Ashford st., Allston collided with a parked car at Boylston and Parker sts., Newton Centre on Saturday morning at 5 o'clock. Dodge and Russell, Capt. of Sawyer terrace, Allston, a passenger riding with him were injured. So was Lawrence Kearns of 1171 Boylston st., Boston, driver of the parked car. All were taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment.

Cronin Files Bill Asking Vacations For City Employees

Alderman Cronin of Ward 4 has filed a bill in the Legislature through Representative Luitwiler asking that all city employees of Newton, including laborers, mechanics and others, shall receive an annual vacation of two weeks with pay. The bill, if passed, will be submitted to the voters of Newton as a referendum at the next State election. A similar bill was voted on by citizens of Newton in 1917 and rejected by a vote of 3173 to 2329.

Alderman Cronin states that he filed the bill after a large number of city employees had asked him to do so. The mechanics and laborers contend that since other classes of city employees, such as policemen, firemen, teachers, clerks and officials have for years been receiving vacations of two weeks and longer, they too, should be given a similar privilege.

McCabe Praises Newton Police

At the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night Alderman McCabe of Ward 1 referred to the newspaper articles recently printed about alleged white slave activities in this city. The information in the papers allegedly came from Alfred Scheinfain who resided for a short period at 22 Park st., Newton, and who is now serving a long prison sentence. Alderman McCabe said the activities of the Newton police in arresting and prosecuting Scheinfain showed efficiency of which Newton people might well be proud. He said that the charges against the Newton police, coming from the source they did, were entitled to scant credence.

Speeders Given Suspended Fines

Three persons were arraigned in the Newton court on Monday charged with driving at excessive speeds on the Worcester turnpike. The complainant was Patrolman Lawrence Murphy. The penalties imposed on the speeders by Judge Allen were suspended fines. Conrad Riley of Graham ave., Brookline, and Charles Foucher, of Worcester, each was given a suspended fine of $10; George Tangerini of Wesley Hills was given a suspended fine of $5.

Aldermen Restrict Trucking To Curb Gravel Pit

The regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday started at 8:02 with President Floyd in the chair. The only absentee was Alderman Bowen, who was ill. A customary long recess lasted from 8:45 to 10:53; about twice the length of time occupied by the open meeting.

The first business after the meeting opened was a long hearing on the petition of Kerrigan Bros. for a permit to sell automobiles at 1172 Beacon st., Newton Highlands. This is referred to in another column. Petitions of the Edison Company for pole locations on Beacon and Bellevue sts. were given hearings. There was no opposition and the petitions were granted.

On motion of Alderman Goddard of the Traffic Committee, the rules were suspended to permit the passage of an order prohibiting heavy truck traffic on Dedham st., Oak Hill, between Wiswall rd. and Parker st. Alderman Rawson concurred with Goddard. He said that much of the opposition to the gravel pit operations at Oak Hill was caused by the nuisance of heavy trucking on Dedham st., and the time has come to stop it. The restricting amendment to the traffic regulations was passed. Several months ago the Aldermen refused to renew the permit for the continuance of the operation of the Highland Sand & Gravel pit at Oak Hill. This pit was started about 9 years ago and has been the cause of many protests from Oak Hill residents. George Wilbur of West Roxbury, owner of the pit, circumvented the action of the Newton Aldermen by obtaining an injunction restraining the Newton city government from interfering with his activities at the big pit area.

L. Chase Kepner asked for the construction of a sewer in Grove Hill Park, Newtonville from Prospect ave. southerly for a distance of 357 feet. After having contracted for a new house on that street, Mr. Kepner said he found there is no sewer in the street. He had a cesspool built, but it will not function properly, water and sewage has been backing into the cellar of his new home, and as a health measure the sewer is necessary. He said he was willing to have a sewer built through his father's land, but the City Engineer informed him this plan would be impractical and the cost exorbitant. Joseph Hayes of 64 Prospect ave. objected to the sewer because it would cause expense to himself and other abutters who would not benefit. He suggested that Kepner's house be connected with a sewer through land of Howard Reynolds and Neal O'Hara. Ernest Harvey, city engineer, said Hayes' suggestion is not practical. Sewers cannot be laid through other persons' properties, and there will

Flurry Over Used Car Sales Place Near Waban

The petition of Kerrigan Brothers for a permit to deal in new and used cars at 1172 Beacon st., Newton Highlands was given a public hearing at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. A considerable number of Waban residents were present, but their sentiments on the matter were not ascertained as the hearing was rather abruptly closed without the usual "showing of hands" to poll those for and against.

Edward O. Proctor of Glen ave., Newton Centre appeared as attorney for Kerrigan Brothers. He said his clients have been doing business in Newton for many years, conducting a garage at Newton Centre and a filling station at Newtonville. He said they have spent $5000 on improvements at the Beacon st. garage since they acquired it last February. He said that the building at 1172 Beacon st. was in use when the zoning ordinance was passed in 1922. Mr. Proctor stated that he could allay the fear raised in Waban by the sending out of post cards which gave the impression that the petitioners intend to operate a large, outdoor sales place for used cars. He explained that the Kerrigans have become agents for two makes of automobiles and must sell used cars as a result. They will agree to keep these used cars within the building, using the basement for this purpose. Mr. Proctor argued that there are four filling stations at the corners of Walnut and Beacon sts., not far distant from 1172 Beacon st., there is a granite salesroom nearby, and also a greenhouse. Residents in homes nearby do not oppose the petition. Proctor said that last year he had, as an official of the Newton Centre Improvement Association opposed a used car sales place next to the S. F. Smith house at Centre st., Newton Centre. At that time, Mr. Holt, one of those who also protested against the used car sales place at Newton Centre, had suggested the 1172 Beacon st. lot as an ideal site for such a business.

G. W. Pitblado, who conducts the granite business at 1106 Beacon st., asked why the Kerrigans have been selling automobiles at 1172 Beacon st. when they had no permit to do so. Proctor answered that his clients did not know they had to have such a permit, and when they became aware of the requirement, filed the petition.

Joseph Congdon of 281 Waban ave. opposed the petition because the granting of it might lead to a large tract of land in that vicinity becoming a business area instead of being developed into a high class residential section which would bring much more revenue to the city. He said that since 1897 he has been trying to develop Waban as an attractive residential place, and today it ranks second as the wealthiest precinct in Newton. Alderman Colby asked Congdon if he would agree to the granting of the petition if the used cars are kept within the building. Mr. Congdon replied that he believes the cars will eventually be kept outside because few cars can be stored and sold in a small garage, only 40 by 50 feet in size.

Alderman Cronin questioned Mr. Congdon regarding his business, and the ownership of properties near Kerrigan's garage. Cronin asked Congdon if he had been asked to protest by Charles E. Hatfield, owner of adjoining land. Congdon said he had not even seen Hatfield in regard to the matter. Alderman Temperley asked Attorney Proctor if he did not recall that owners of nearby properties have attempted in recent years to have such properties changed from residence to business zone, and the granting of the Kerrigan petition would have a tendency to let down the bars? Proctor answered that there are business places in the vicinity, and

Rev. M. R. Boynton Installed At First Church

13th Minister in 273 Year Old Church

The installation of the Reverend M. Russell Boynton, D.D., as Minister of the First Church in Newton, Newton Centre, will be held this afternoon and evening, with the Ecclesiastical Council convening at 4:30 to conduct the necessary examination. At 6 o'clock the Church will have the members of the Council as its guests at dinner. Dean Vaughan Dabney of the Andover Newton Theological Seminary will preside and speakers will include: the Rev. Frederick H. Page, D.D., former President of the Mass. Congregational Conference and President of the Board of Trustees of Andover Theological Seminary. Many years ago, when Dr. Boynton was a small boy, Dr. Page was his father's associate in the ministry of the Union Congregational Church in Boston. Other speakers will be: Prof. Daniel Evans of Andover Newton Theological Seminary, under whom Dr. Boynton studied theology while a student in the Seminary; the Rev. Robert W. Coe, Minister of the Leyden Church in Brookline, who for several years has been associated with Dr. Boynton in the work of the Congregational Home Missionary Society and the Congregational Church Building Society; the Rev. President Everett C. Herrick of Andover Newton Theological Seminary; Rev. Edward Taylor Sullivan, D.D., who has been Rector of Trinity Church for 45 years and is Dean of all the clergymen in Newton. Dr. Sullivan shared in the Installation of Dr. Edward MacArthur Noyes as Minister of First Church in 1894.

The public session of the Council will be held at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. The service will be conducted by the Moderator of the Council and the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Douglas Horton, D.D., formerly minister of Leyden Congregational Church in Brookline and now minister of the United Church of Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill.

The Charge to the People will be given by the Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt, D.D., of the Harvard Congregational Church, Brookline.

The Charge to the Minister will be by the Rev. Russell Henry Stafford, D.D., of the Old South Church of Boston. The Right Hand of Fellowship will be extended by the Rev. Professor Dwight J. Bradley, D.D., of Andover Newton Theological Seminary, a former pastor of First Church, and the Prayer of Installation will be (Continued on page 5) that the garage at 1172 Beacon st. is the only repair shop near Waban, and is therefore a great convenience to the people of that village.

Charles Sumner of 250 Dorset rd. objected to the petition. He said he has lived in Waban for 6 years and that the 1172 Beacon st. building had only been used as a filling station. He thought the Kerrigans could store a large number of cars on the land adjoining the building, if granted their permit. He claimed there are no outdoor used car places at Newton Centre, and such a business is properly conducted in other parts of the city.

Alderman McKay expressed the belief that the amendment to the zoning ordinance passed last year will prohibit any used cars being stored outdoors as the permit restricts their sale and storage to the building. Alderman Rawson agreed with him. Alderman Hutchinson inquired if the Waban Improvement Association is against the petition. Alderman Walker answered that the executive committee of the improvement society is not opposed to the petition if the business will be confined to the building.

THE STORY WILL BEAR REPEATING---

Co-operative Bank shares were purchased soon after the wedding. Payments were made on them each month. In a few years enough money had been saved for the "down payment" on their new home and a mortgage arranged for the balance of the purchase price. All this was accomplished with very little effort. It will pay to investigate our plan for saving and financing a home.

NEWTON HAS A SHARE

For the first time in the five years of its existence the Newton Community Chest has exceeded the goal sought in its annual drive for funds. This achievement is noteworthy, indicating as it does, a greater realization of citizens of their obligation to support the welfare and character building agencies which concern themselves with the common good of all. But the responsibility of Newton residents does not end here. For the next two weeks the Greater Boston 1937 Community Fund campaign will be carried on and a well-organized and active group of Newton citizens are doing their share to aid in the oversubscription of the $4,100,000 goal. Hospitals, health and social service organizations of the Community Fund last year helped more than 60,000 men, women and children of the 41 cities and towns in the Metropolitan area. It must be remembered that crime and violence, infectious disease, delinquency and degeneracy in Boston is not Boston's sole responsibility. Hundreds of thousands of suburban residents derive their living from businesses conducted in the city. Without these businesses Boston would be but an empty shell. Thus there must be co-operation on the part of these citizens to make Boston as safe and as decent as possible. With this clear responsibility we are confident that Newton residents will respond generously when called upon by those who are engaged in this worthwhile activity.

MERIT TO BE BASIS OF PARDONS

It has been indicated that Councillor Frank A. Brooks will be given the position as chairman of the Committee on Pardons of the Governor's Council. The Lieutenant Governor has customarily been given this important function and the announcement by Lieutenant Governor Kelley that he had declined to serve in this capacity and suggested to Governor Hurley that Councillor Brooks should be appointed created some surprise this week. Councillor Brooks is probably the best qualified member of the Council to serve in this important capacity, having been a member of the Board of Parole for seventeen years and chairman for a great part of that time. During the administrations of Governors Ely and Curley the granting of pardons has been a much discussed subject. There has been much severe criticism and many unsavory rumors. With Councillor Brooks as chairman of the committee dealing with this matter the citizens of Massachusetts can have every confidence that it will be handled without fear or favoritism. Pardons granted in the future will be made with merit as the basis.

Arousing Interest In Proposed Election Change

The bill asking for biennial elections in Newton which has been introduced in the Legislature by Representative Brimblecom of Newton, and endorsed by the other three Representatives should receive attention in the near future from civic and political organizations in this city. Letters have been sent to the various improvement organizations in the Newtons informing them of the action taken by the Representatives on this matter. Similar letters have been sent to the chairman of the Republican and Democratic City Committees and the Taxpayers Association, the Newton Citizens Association and Federation of Women's Clubs. The organizations are requested to give the bill their consideration and to endorse it.

A copy of the bill has been sent to the Newton Board of Aldermen and referred to the Legislation Committee. It is expected that a public hearing will be held on this proposition in the near future.

NEWELL CLUB

The regular meeting of the Newell Club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. J. Lawton, 12 Lombard st., Newton, on Tuesday, Jan. 12th. The program consisted of motion pictures on "Cruising the Seven Seas."

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Richard H. Lee, and Mrs. Adrian E. Bessey of Newton and Mrs. William H. Keohane and Mrs. Henry H. Packer of Wellesley.

Service Men Send Thanks For Their Xmas Gifts

For Christmas cheer the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross sent 108 bags of useful gifts to men in service. Those who made the little calico bags and sewing kits; or Girl Scouts who tied up in red tissue with Christmas seals the stationery, pencils, diary, tooth brush and paste, playing cards and knife will be interested in reading some of the thank you notes coming to the Red Cross office.

From a corporal at Fort Kam, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands:

"Dear Ladies: Many thanks for the nice Xmas bag, which I, like all the others, appreciated very much. It symbolizes the true seasonal spirit, which is usually so lax in army life."

Two others from the same address:

"Received your Christmas gifts and want to thank all of you who helped fill the bags. Everything is very useful and it sure reminded me of other Christmas days spent at home. Again thanks and Aloha."

"Was very pleased to have received your Xmas Bag. Hoping for the success and good work of your Chapter. I remain."

From an engineering clerk, 3rd Pursuit Squadron Air Corps, Clark Field, Pampanga, Philippine Islands:

"Dear Gentlemen and Ladies: Received your Xmas grab bag and I sure appreciate the spirit this little gift shows. You know, here in the Philippines, where Americans are few and far between, a little gift like that is sure appreciated."

"I am a descendant of one of the leading Confederate generals during the war between the states, and it sure gives one pleasure to know that the Red Cross knows no North or South and is always ready to do the right thing regardless of sections of the country."

"In conclusion I wish you and your organization a very merry Xmas and a Happy New Year."

Making Life More Abundant

Glancing over the published account of measures submitted for the consideration of this year's Legislature I find that the time has expired for the introduction of new business. Well, I must say that I am sorry—as much for the public as for myself. In fact, I think the people as a whole will be the leaders for I had intended to have asked for laws that would mean much to the rest of humanity.

Seems to me that it would be of great benefit if we were to have a cocktail lounge in every home maintained by the State.

Municipal garages for all automobile owners paid for by taxes on people who cannot afford to own cars.

Appointment of a public referee for every neighborhood who may be called in to settle disputes when the family are quarrelling over which radio program shall be turned on.

Perpetual candidates who never attain elective office shall be restricted to running every third year.

Income tax blanks shall contain a coupon representing a lottery ticket. The State shall conduct a lottery so that one in every ten who pay income taxes shall stand to win back the full amount of his tax plus $1000 bonus.

Sidewalks shall be steam-heated in winter and electrically refrigerated in summer.

No pedestrians shall be allowed to cross a street where automobile traffic is passing without a written permit signed by the Chief of Police or his agent.

No complimentary banquets in honor of the same individual shall be held oftener than once a year unless paid for by himself.

Persons who insist upon going about advising others how to cure a cold shall be licensed by the board of health.

Still Undecided

Life is full of uncertainties we are told, and who am I to dispute that assertion. The latest is imported, which makes it more perplexing. Personally, I react no differently than many another plain citizen so that is why I am bemused. First one lecturer appears from England and tells us that the nations of Europe are about

Young Republican's Club Holds Monthly Meeting

The Young Men's Republican Club of Newton held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Jan. 14th, in the Newton Public Library, Newton Corner.

The president of the club, Edgar T. White, Jr., presided and outlined some of the plans discussed at a recent meeting of the executive committee to insure interesting and entertaining programs at future club gatherings. Henry C. Pierce who was elected chairman of the executive committee at the last meeting of that body was presented to the members.

The meeting was open to discussion from the floor.

After a brief discussion the meeting adjourned to the Hunnewell Club where the bowling alleys had been reserved through the courtesy of Donald L. Gibbs, secretary of the Young Men's Republican Club of Newton. It developed that there was considerable bowling talent among the members and the formation of a bowling team was voted. The Young Men's Republican Club of Waltham has already challenged the Newton Club to a bowling match.

County Homemaking Program Organized in Newton

On Wednesday, January 13th, at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Rhodes, 54 Chaske ave., Auburndale, Miss Marie Wells of the Middlesex County Extension Service organized a group of women to study the Extension Service Homemaking program. Officers were elected by the club members and two leaders were chosen to attend classes held by the Extension Service staff at Frammingham. These leaders will present the course to the club members at monthly meetings.

The first meeting is to be held tonight, Friday, January 22nd, at the home of Mrs. Pierpont deLaudernier, 3 Winona st., Auburndale. The subject taught will be "Nutrition"—giving pointers to purchasers of food.

The service is given free of charge by the county and classes are held on any matter pertaining to the home. Gardening, canning, sewing, child development and the study of food are just a few of the courses offered.

GIRL SCOUT ANNUAL BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. James Melcher, chairman, gave a morning coffee on Tuesday at her home on Garden st. to the members of the committee. Plans were made for the bridge which is to be held at Channing Church parlors on Monday afternoon, February 8 at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Louis Hunter is in charge of the prizes. Mrs. Ralph Patterson of the tea, and Mrs. Roswell Ferman of the candy.

The proceeds of this party are used to pay troop registrations of the 4 troops in the village of Newton, to make a cash gift to the Y. M. C. A. for the constant use of their auditorium for scout meetings, and to give camperships to deserving girl scouts.

Mrs. Louis Hunter of Hyde ave. gave a tea on Monday afternoon to the mothers of the members of Troop 12. Plans were made for the next of door, and social programs for the scout year. Mrs. John MacNeill and Mrs. Arthur Weston poured, assisted by Miss Ruth Hunter and Miss Marjorie McMullen.

62 YEARS AGO

Newton Republican, Jan. 30, 1875

The Newton city government, comprising the Mayor, six aldermen and twelve members of the Common Council includes 1 farmer, 1 contractor, 1 teacher, 1 druggist, 1 publisher, 1 paper dealer, 1 dry goods merchant, 1 broker, 1 flour and produce dealer, 3 retired merchants, 3 manufacturers, 4 real estate agents. It is noticeable that the City Solicitor is the only member of his profession in any department of the city government.

The water question is becoming one of serious import to Newton where many families for weeks and months have been put to the expense of procuring water outside their own premises, sometimes from quite a distance. Springs give less abundance each day, and then fail. Wells, supposedly incapable of being pumped dry, and which have nobly responded to all calls for 10 or 20 years, have become dry. Many families have been on short allowance as regards water. The cold weather holds on; only snow falls, and that not in large quantity. Not only in Newton, but in nearly every town and city, whether provided with water works, or not, comes the same cry for water. Manufacturers dependent on water power, are shortening the running time of their mills. A water dearth seems to prevail in the land.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Jan. 22, 1887

At Newton Corner on Wednesday morning the thermometer registered 15 below zero. Newtonville boasted 18 below; Upper Falls had the biggest story with a claim of 21 below.

The Baptist Choir meetings at Newton on Sunday nights are always largely attended, and each week there is a half hour's entertainment aside from the rehearsal. Last Saturday Miss Wheeler read an original paper written by one of the ladies of the church, Mr. Gow read part of "The Symphony" by Lauier; and Miss Nettie Stille sang a very pretty song.

The gate tender at the Centre street crossing, Newton Corner saved a lady from a terrible death Wednesday afternoon by snatching her off the track from in front of one of the fast express trains. All who saw the affair were terrified at the lady's danger.

A sleigh load of Bigelow School pupils under care of Miss Dyer, enjoyed a ride last Saturday through Brighton to the Brookline trolley station at Corey Hill. After watching the sleighs the party came home through Watertown, Waltham and Newtonville.

Now that the Boston & Albany Railroad has demonstrated the practicability of lighting cars by electricity, it is hoped they will introduce it into their cars. A car so lighted made a trial trip around the Newton Circuit last Friday night and gave excellent satisfaction. In the interior of the car were ten 25 candle power incandescent lights. Besides these there was a light on each platform of the car, something that would be a great safeguard for passengers getting on and off. The electricity comes from a storage battery, placed under the car, and weighing 1500 pounds. One charge of the battery will light the car for 10 hours.

The great event of the week in Newton was the fire on Sunday morning when the Eliot Congregational Church at Newton was entirely destroyed, entailing a loss of $70,000. The fire was discovered shortly after 8 o'clock by a lady and gentleman passing by. One ran to Dr. Frisbie's house to get the key to the fire alarm box, and the other to Dr. Scales' house, where a key was obtained. The alarm was sent in at 8:20. A second alarm was sent within five minutes, followed by a general alarm. The wooden building gave great advantage to the flames. The weather was mild, roofs of houses nearby covered with deep snow and this prevented a conflagration. As it was, burning cinders were carried for over half a mile. The fire started where a pipe leading from one of the five furnaces in the building had parted, causing the woodwork to get aflame.

The burning building presented a grand sight, immense masses of smoke rolled up through long sheets of flame. Firemen poured several streams of water on the great tower, 213 feet high, causing it to topple over onto the main church building. Had not this precaution been taken, houses nearby would have been endangered. The tower contained the fire alarm bell, which cost $400 and was the only one in this part of the city. It fell at 9:30. It is proposed to erect a temporary bell tower at Farlow Park. The church building was erected in 1860-1861. It was the largest in the city, 200 feet long and 100 feet wide. The auditorium was on the second floor and had a seating capacity of 1200.

Newton Graphic, January 12, 1912

The action of the Newton Board of Aldermen in advocating the rejection of the bill to authorize liquor licenses for clubs in non-licensing municipalities will meet with the approval of a large number of our citizens. They realize that the opening such a bill might make in the temperance barriers in this city.

Edward H.

Powers' Paragraphs

Last year fifteen persons were fatally injured or killed in Newton as a result of automobile accidents. Of this number ten were pedestrians and three were persons riding bicycles. In the first 15 days of this month three more pedestrians have been fatally injured on streets in this city. How many more pedestrians will be victims of automobiles in Newton before definite action will be taken to make our streets safer?

For years we have been constantly advocating the restoration of the traffic squad of eight motorcycle policemen which was reduced a few years ago to two men. Recently the Newton Board of Aldermen voted to appoint a special committee to study the question of automobile accidents in this city. In his inaugural address on January 1st Mayor Childs referred to the large number of automobile fatalities. He commented that "in most cases where there have been court proceedings, the adjudications would seem to indicate that the pedestrian is largely at fault."

The court adjudications may have absolved the drivers of the automobiles involved, Mr. Mayor, and indicated that the pedestrians were at fault. But, inquests held on these fatal accidents indicated that some of the drivers were at fault, and complaints of dangerous driving and manslaughter were issued against them. It is significant that a large percentage of the pedestrians killed were aged persons, some hit when they had almost succeeded in reaching the safety of the opposite sidewalk on the street they were crossing.

If the Mayor or the Aldermen want a demonstration of the danger any pedestrian faces while attempting to cross Newton streets, let them observe the speeds at which motor vehicles are operated along Washington, Watertown, Waltham, Boylston, Centre, Beacon, Commonwealth ave. and other streets in Newton which many pedestrians must cross. Aged persons start to cross these streets, particularly after dark, with not an automobile near. And before they can cross the highway some car rushes upon them at a speed of 40 or more miles. What are you going to do about it, Mayor Childs? Are you going to let the situation rest by commenting that "court adjudications would seem to indicate that the pedestrian is largely at fault," or are you going to recommend that the streets of Newton shall again be patrolled by a sufficient number of motorcycle policemen to curb speeders and reckless drivers?

Many members of the Newton police department do not obtain complaints against speeders or autoists who violate automobile or traffic laws. Some of them have remarked to us—"What's the use. If we make a complaint the case is fixed." There has been too much "fixing" in Newton, and about every place else in this country. It is one of the principal reasons why 37,000 persons were victims of automobile accidents in the U. S. A. last year. And, we again repeat, that ultra kind hearted, or "good fellow" judges who place the cases of speeders or other violators of automobile laws on file, or give offenders

"BOY OF MINE"

A father's tribute to his only son, Paul Harris Drake, Jr., who died December 30th, 1936, in the 24th year of his age

Boy of mine, boy of mine—gone with a sigh—
Why were you born to us—so soon to die?
You had but tasted life—
Hardly had felt its strife—
Joy in you still was rife—too young to die!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—clear-eyed and fair—
Precious were you to me—namesake and heir—
Sweet was the face of you,
Winning the grace of you,
Nothing was base in you—Spirit so rare!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—clean-limbed and strong—Rejoicing in life as it swept you along—
Great was the soul of you,
Handsome the whole of you,
Happy the role of you—Lad of my song!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—gone like the breeze—
Gone with the wind and the birds in the trees—
Gone with the Men of Old,
Gone with the Brave and Bold—
Gone as a Tale is Told—fond memories!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—wise for your years—
What do you see that is dimmed by our tears?
In the great Spirit-land,
Safe with that shining band,
Lad, do your understand?—Quiet our fears!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—death cannot kill!
Deep in my heart, like a tree on a hill,
I see your starry smile—
Talk with you for awhile—
As the long days beguile—I have you still!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—we shall grow old—
Years will go on—Life's fires grow cold;
Still in your youthful prime—
Deathless in life sublime—
Young till the End of Time—you we'll behold!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—still in life's Spring—
Sleep in your narrow bed—done suffering!
Eager for life were you,
Your years were all too few;
God give you life anew—right everything!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—years are so long—
How can we part with you—and your song?
Shattered our dreams for thee—
Fallen the family-tree—
Through all Eternity!—God make us strong!

Boy of mine, boy of mine—what your reward?
What may we learn from the chastening rod?
All run the race of you—
Vacant the place of you—
Lost for a space are you—Lost—but in GOD!

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

American Home Day For Clubwomen Of 12th District

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will be hostess for a most interesting American Home Conference at the Club House, on Friday, January 29th. Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock, president of the Hostess Club, will welcome the clubwomen of the Twelfth District in Greetings at 10:30 a. m., after which she will turn the meeting over to the State Federation chairman of the American Home committee, Mrs. Schuyler W. Van Ness, who will then take charge of the program.

The first speaker on this program of all-day presentations of American Home topics will be the Reverend William Wallace Rose, Minister of the First Universalist Church of Lynn, who will speak to the title "The American Dream," at 10:45 o'clock.

At 11:30 o'clock, Miss Marjorie Bradford, Instruction supervisor of Dennison Manufacturing Company, will give a Demonstration and Exhibit of "Crafts for the Home."

Luncheon will follow, at 12:30 o'clock, tickets for which, at 60 cents, should be ordered from Mrs. Sidney R. Porter, whose telephone is Centre Newton 3232-M, not later than January 26th. Her address is 18 Tattleton rd.

At 1:45 p. m., the afternoon session will open with an entertaining explanation, entitled "The Housewife Studies the Code," in a Panel-Discussion, between Employer and Employee, staged by the Household Employer-Employee Committee of the Boston Y. W. C. A.

Helen Abbott Beals, Author and Lecturer, will speak to the alluring topic "The Nervous Ladies," at 2:15 p. m.

And at 3:15, the final speaker of the day, Charles W. Manty, president of the United Co-operative Society, of Maynard, Mass., will have the subject "Consumer Co-operation in Theory and Practice."

A special feature in celebration of this American Home program, staged by the Hostess Club, will be an Exhibition of Painted Trays, and there will be also a competitive Exhibition of Luncheon Tables for Two, judged for color harmony and simplicity, at the Club House. No flat silver will be allowed in this setting. Prizes will be awarded. Anyone who wishes to compete should telephone Mrs. Fred D. Bond, Centre Newton 0150-J.

All clubwomen are cordially invited to attend this Conference.

"Haiti" in Pictures For Presidents' Day

Presidents' Day will be observed by the Newton Community Club on Thursday, January 28th, at 2 p. m., in the Underwood School Hall. A delightful and entertaining program has been arranged by Mrs. George E. Rawson, Program chairman. An illustrated lecture on "Haiti," by Mr. Leonard Craske, will be the main feature of the afternoon. Mr. Craske, who has just returned from this little-known island in the Caribbean Sea, will describe it in his lecture as it is today, in its scenery, its people, and its charm. An art critic says of Mr. Craske's illustrations: "The term 'photograph' loses its popular significance when applied to these pictures from nature by Mr. Craske. These are works of art; pictures in color directly from nature in some of her most beautiful and poetic moods." Besides the beauty of his pictures, Mr. Craske is endowed as a speaker, not only with a keen dramatic sense, but he has the kind of artistic common sense which presupposes intelligence in his audience, and leaves something to the imagination. He has devoted his entire time to sculpture since 1920, and has produced numerous works which have made him well-known throughout the country. Among the best known are The Gloucester Fisherman; the World War Memorial at Amesbury, Mass.; the Delong Memorial, in New York City, and "The Joy of Life," at Peterboro, N. H.

The Art committee has planned for an Exhibition of Paintings and Drawings, of any medium, by Newton talent. This Exhibit is not limited to Club members.

Guests of Honor for the afternoon will be Mrs. Herbert F. French, third vice-president of the State Federation; Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, Twelfth District director; Mrs. J. Earle Parker, president of the Newton Federation, and officers of the neighboring clubs in the Twelfth District.

A social hour will conclude the afternoon's program, with Mrs. Frank G. Dennison as hostess.

Radio vs. Piano

No, the Radio has not taken the place of the Piano. On the contrary, it has created a greater interest in the Piano on account of the extensive use of the Piano in broadcasting, and because of the greater interest the radio has created in music in general. As we all know, music is rendered more extensively through the medium of the Piano than any other instrument, and for this reason the Piano is recognized as the basic musical instrument. The urge for self-expression is strong in every normal human being, and we are not always content to listen to music, but desire to create some for ourselves. Hence, there is just as great a demand for my service and for the Piano today as there was before the Radio became so popular.

STONEHAM GETS BREAKS BEATING NEWTON 3 TO 1

Stoneham's hockey champions needed the breaks of the game to beat Newton High last Saturday at the Boston Garden by a score of 3-1. Captain Cliff Thompson made one goal and one assist to show why he is the top scorer in the Greater Boston league, and was the chief bee in the Newton bonnet at all times. Newton's best bats were Paul Brown, whose brilliant solo goal early in the first period tied the score at one-all, and goalie Herb Buttrick, who turned in a second period of 15 or more saves, and who was awarded the first general ovation given any Newton player this year.

The score stood 1-1 before four minutes of the first period had passed. Newton sailed in aggressively at the start, throwing defenseman Ben Mason and Fred Nichols into a powder formation behind the first line of Phil Greene, Paul Brown and Al Turner. Abruptly Thompson jumped the puck out of his own territory with only Green ahead of him, swung the goal to the right and passed out to Larry Petroni, who scored at 1:54. The same combination almost scored immediately after, forcing Buttrick to save. Paul Brown took the sting out of the Stoneham goal a moment later when he carried alone through a Stoneham line, swung to the right and found the nets with a quick drive from 20 feet out. This goal came at 3:37 and put Evan Johnson's team and their large following back in the game at once. Stoneham put another point in the score at 10:40. Buttrick had three saves to make before Eramo, Stoneham's defense man, let go a looping shot that hit the ice and hopped over Buttrick into the top of the net. It was definitely a fluke goal, but enough to win the game. Stoneham made a third goal in the first minute of the third period when Dean Proctor, reserve goalie, was beaten by Thompson from point-blank range through no fault of his own.

Herb Buttrick, wiry Newton goalie whose play has improved with every game, put on a sensational exhibition in the second period, weathering as steady a barrage as any goalie has been stormed with all season. Stoneham attacked with a power play first, but the action shifted to the Stoneham end of the rink, and Paul Brown was chased for an accidental trip of an opponent behind the champion's goal. Jack Lane replaced Ben Mason, who was making a farewell appearance on the Newton defense, and Newton was beset by a power play. Buttrick had four saves, the last a near-goal, before Brown returned to the game. Larry Hurley of Stoneham wrapped polite punches with Paul Brown while the officials were napping, but the lines were changed, and Brown's line was rested. The Barry, Lane, Cole line was panicked by a Stoneham stampede, and before the puck left the Newton zone Herb Buttrick had stopped the rubber with everything but his head. Kicking out with his leg pads, turning them out with his skates and gloves, he was unbeatable, and the storm of applause that encouraged him did not subside until a drive from Joe Tole's stick glanced off his head and stunned him, putting a timely stop to the Stoneham blizzard. Returning to the game, Herb brought the first line with him, but Al Turner and Phil Greene quickly went off for infractions of the code. Turner was ousted for antagonizing Thompson with a pretense at high-sticking, although Cliff might well have gone alone.

There was not a board check, but he crowded an opposing wing so effectively that he was canned by the overofficials.

The penalties on Turner and Green came so late in the period that they were effective beginning the last period. Dean Proctor, relieving Buttrick in the Newton goal, did well enough to let only one goal get by, with Paul Brown, Fred Nichols and Jack Lane protecting him from the thundering horde. It took just 38 seconds for a set-up to materialize, and it found Thompson and Eramo parked near the net with the puck and they wasted no time in scoring. Thompson flipping one over Proctor for the third goal. No defense was near at the moment, and Proctor had no chance to save. He made several fine saves during that last period. Phil Green came in to his own at this point, stepping into the Stoneham forwards with a will and making several good plays. He spilled Thompson at Eramo play spoiling successive rushes, then made a beautiful counter-attack, circling from the left and setting up a pass out that Turner and Brown both missed in front of the goal. Green and Thompson were sent off for a slight flare-up a few plays afterward. The game ended peacefully, leaving Stoneham virtually unchallenged as kingpin of the Greater Boston circuit.

Bob Decker of Miami, Florida, and Waban, gave stubborn resistance before he was downed by Bryan "Bitzy" Grant of Atlanta last week in an early round of the annual Dixie championships at Miami. The mighty mite of tennis had his troubles with Decker's steady, deep-driving baseline game, and was forced into a third set before winning 7-5, 4-6, 6-0. On Sunday Grant went on to defeat J. Donald Budge, America's No. 1 player, in five sets, as he had done a week earlier at Coral Gables. Decker, according to latest reports, has deserted school for a tennis career at least temporarily. Three years ago he won the Newton Junior high singles title from A. P. "Sonny" Everts, and has been a tennis tourist for years, coming north for the summer tournaments and returning to Florida for winter competition.

Newton Highlights

Warren Wittens, ace of Newton High track teams the past two years, was named to the all-scholastic division of the All-America track and field teams in an announcement made this week by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., which is probably the ultimate honor of his sensational career under Don Enoch. Now a freshman at Penn, Wittens left his name in six places in the list of Newton High track records. He holds the outdoor marks in the 440-yard run (52 s), 120-yard low hurdles (13.7s), and the 220-yard lows (14.7s). All-America event, 24.7s. His high school career, marked by Newton's unbeaten teams of last year, was topped off at Princeton in the A. A. U. meets, in which he won the National Junior championship in the 220-yard low hurdles, then was drafted for the senior event, in which he ran third in a field of veteran hurdlers.

CROWDS SEE NEWTON BEAT MEDFORD IN TRACK

Coach Don Enoch saw his Newton High track team through their first test of the new year last week when they outclassed a good Medford team 55 1/3 to 21 2/3 at Newtonville. The old drill shed was a hopelessly inadequate place for the crowd that swarmed in hundreds to start the 1936 champions off on the right foot. They all but swung from the rafters, and actually crowded the runners during some events. Medford got one first place when Eddie Dugger, colored flash won the hurdles and another when they beat a second-choice Newton relay team. Dugger was also very near victory in the dash, in which Paul Forte, state sprint king, was given the Judges' decision and Bud Hines was placed third after a blanket finish.

Newton got off to a fine start when Joe Monaco, Medford's touted shot-putter, fell far short of his distance and took third place behind Newton's Harvey Isham and Lee Evans. All three leaves were under 39 ft. Ed Dugger won Medford's only first in the low hurdles, beating by a stride Don McKinnon of Newton, as Dick Herlihy took third for Medford. The dash was so close that a photograph of the finish gave Dugger the advantage, if any, over his rivals, but Forte, notoriously strong in the finishes, was lucky to keep his record intact.

Hines Steals 300 Victory

The first real surprise of the meet was the appearance of Frank Hines as a "300" man. An understudy to Forte in the sprints last year, Hines ran the fastest heat of the 300 to steal the event from his captain, Bud Mutter, while Caulfield Twomey, Medford's strong man, ran the third fastest time. Hines won at 35.9s, Mutter at 36.2, and Twomey at 36.8. In another surprise event, Joe Gallant, running his first indoor race, beat Twomey in a well-judged final sprint. Following his instructions, Gallant stayed behind Twomey until late in the race, overtaking him on the backstretch and beating him to the tape in 1:22. Jerry Allen came up fast to take third place.

Newton showed strength to spare in the 1000. Bill Kelly winning from Mark Corthell and Basil Babcock in the fair early season time of 2 min. 34 sec. Corthell led the pack until the last 300 yards, when Kelly went ahead for the finish. Another sweep came in the broad jump, as Paul Forte went out 10 ft. 1 1/4 in. for one of the best performances of the day, and the other places went to Stew McNeil at 9 ft. 11 5/8 in. and Dick Massell at 9 ft. 10 1/8 in. Mark Messier won the high jump at 5 ft. 8 in., and second place was split three ways among Yeland and Shackford of Newton and Ed Dugger of Medford. If Forte had jumped one inch further in the broad jump, a checkup shows, he would have equalled a record set before he was born, the mark of 10 ft. 2 3/4 in. made by P. L. Kelley of the class of 1915. The present record for a jump from the floor, without a takeoff, is held by Stan Johnson, '32, at 10 ft. 1 in.

Newton Highlights

Our Lady's High School of Newton is sitting on top in the Catholic League after five straight victories in basketball. Father Haley's present combination is probably the strongest since the championship seasons of Charlie Gallagher's teams in 1931-2. Our Lady's takes the court with Francis "Chicken" Morris at center, Mario Marino and Brian Doherty, forwards, and George "Sonny" Delaney and Louis Baccarelli, guards. Leading reserve players are Dan Carterelli and Louis Cedrone, guards, and Joe Cronin, a forward. Latest victim of Our Lady's power was Cathedral High by the count of 36-18. Mario Marino, sharpshooting forward, netted six goals from the floor and a pair of gift shots for fourteen points, while Morris and Delaney for all but three of the rest of Our Lady's 36, with ten and nine points respectively. Tonight (Friday) Our Lady's will take on St. Clement's in a home game.

At Newton High Tuesday Newton came from behind to defeat Arlington 25-15. Frank Simmons' gang trailed 11-10 at the half, but staged a hot rally to put the game away. It was the first Suburban League start for Newton. Captain Leonard LeSourd, after scoring eight points, suffered a broken nose in the fourth period and left the game. Abbott led the scoring for Newton with nine points, while Corbett was Arlington's high man with eight. Bill Johnston, LeSourd's replacement, accounted for three points, and center Gene Leger, four. Al Coletti and Stan Gruber were Newton's guards.

Warren Wittens, ace of Newton High track teams the past two years, was named to the all-scholastic division of the All-America track and field teams in an announcement made this week by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., which is probably the ultimate honor of his sensational career under Don Enoch. Now a freshman at Penn, Wittens left his name in six places in the list of Newton High track records. He holds the outdoor marks in the 440-yard run (52 s), 120-yard low hurdles (13.7s), and the 220-yard lows (14.7s). All-America event, 24.7s. His high school career, marked by Newton's unbeaten teams of last year, was topped off at Princeton in the A. A. U. meets, in which he won the National Junior championship in the 220-yard low hurdles, then was drafted for the senior event, in which he ran third in a field of veteran hurdlers.

have to be a sewer in Grove Hill park sooner or later. Howard Reynolds of Grove Hill Park objected to the construction of the sewer. He said he had to pay assessment of $134 for the sewer now serving his house, and he protested against paying for a sewer that will not benefit his property. Alderman Cronin, who believes that no property owners should be assessed for sewers from which they obtain no benefit, asked the City Engineer why others than the petitioner should be assessed.

Appropriations passed by the Board included—Law Department, $205 to reimburse Patrolman George Hennikus for injuries received while on duty; Playground Department, material for WPA projects—Allison Park, $3000; Cold Spring playground, $3000; Nevada street playground, $1500; Edmands park, $2000; Auburndale Park, $2000; Public Building Department, paint and materials for WPA painting projects on schools and other buildings, $3000; Street Department for drain at Crafts and Waltham sts., $1740; for manhole and catch basins on Lexington st., $470; Water Department, mains in various streets, $1080.

The City Treasurer was authorized to accept $2120 of Federal Funds to aid dependent children. The trustees of the Cousins Fund were authorized to sell property at 742 Boylston st., which was taken on a mortgage foreclosure. They were also authorized to issue a new loan of $4000 on this property and a loan of $6000 on another parcel of property. An application from John Donnelly & Sons for a permit to erect a big billboard on the roof of the building at 1397 Washington st., West Newton, was refused. It would be 50 feet long and 12 feet high. Alderman Colby said the billboard would not conform to Newton's building code.

Alderman Temperley asked why the Public Buildings Committee had not been consulted regarding the buildings which were selected for WPA painting jobs? President Floyd said he supposed the committee had prior knowledge of these projects.

Ski Enthusiasts Hear Lecture on Popular Sport

Last Sunday evening, ski enthusiasts of the Second Church in West Newton were given a rare treat. The combined Co-Op and Opportunity Clubs of the church presented Mr. Charles Laughton, professional ski instructor of the Charles River Country Club, former recreational ski coach at Dartmouth College, and popular author on skiing technique.

Despite the inclement weather, more than seventy people, both young and old turned out to hear the lecture, showing the tremendous interest skiing has aroused in New England in the past year or two.

The popular instructor spoke on the growth of the sport, and the equipment necessary. The harness and poles shown were made here in Newton by Mr. G. S. Sprague.

Mr. Laughton wore his skiing outfit, and illustrated with his skis the fundamentals of the crouch position, as well as the technique employed in climbing, making the turns and the stops. To bring home forcefully some of the points of his lecture, Mr. Laughton had with him a movie film entitled "The Silvery Art," which showed the sport as it is practiced in the Alps in Switzerland. It was a thrilling and instructive picture and thoroughly enjoyed by the enthusiastic audience.

Rev. M. R. Boynton Is Installed

given by the Rev. Edward C. Boynton of Scarsdale, N. Y., brother of Dr. M. Russell Boynton.

Dr. Boynton becomes the 13th Minister in the 273 years of the existence of First Church in Newton. He succeeds the Rev. Jay T. Stocking, D.D., who was Moderator of the National Council of Congregational Churches and who died about a year ago after a brief pastorate of only 8 months.

Dr. Boynton has come to First Church from the Bryn Mawr Community Church in Chicago. During the 16 years of his pastorate there the church grew from a membership of 280 to 1650 and as a result of two building enterprises, conducted during his ministry, the value of the church property increased from $50,000 to something in excess of half a million dollars. At various times Dr. Boynton was President of the Board of Trustees and Moderator of the Congregational Conference of Illinois; was President of the Chicago Congregational Club and for many years a director of the Chicago Congregational Union. In the larger fellowship of the church he was a member of the Administrative Committee of the Church Extension Boards and Chairman of the Administrative Committee of the Congregational Church Building Society. He also was the representative of the Protestant Churches in the membership of the Chicago Rotary Club, the first and largest Rotary Club in the world.

Dr. Boynton graduated from Amherst College and attended Andover Newton Theological Seminary when it was affiliated with Harvard University. On graduating from the Seminary he became Assistant Minister to his father, the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton, D.D., in the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., then for a year and a half was Chaplain in the U. S. Navy with the Third Provisional Regiment, U. S. M. C., stationed at San Domingo City, and for the last 16 years has been Minister of the Bryn Mawr Community Church in Chicago.

Our Lady's Alumni To Stage Minstrel Show

The first Minstrel Show ever staged in the Parish of the Church of Our Lady, Newton is now in rehearsal and will be presented on Thursday and Friday evenings, Jan. 28th and 29th, in the High School Auditorium, Washington st., Newton. In addition there will be dancing after each performance until 1 a. m.

The Alumni Association has sponsored various features during the first year of reorganization but the minstrel show is the largest of the projects to be attempted. Under the sanction of the Rev. Pastor, Fr. John H. Sheridan and his assistant, Rev. Fr. Russell T. Haley, Chaplain of the Alumni Association, all members of the Alumni Association are working and rehearsing enthusiastically to make the program a success and to assist Fr. Sheridan in his parish reconstruction plans.

The show will be conducted under the auspices of the Alumni Association, Mr. Jos. E. Murphy, President, and is being sponsored by the combined Dramatic and Glee Clubs of the Association, with Miss Helen Cahill as General Chairman, President of the Dramatic Club.

The Advertising Committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. Hugh McGittigan have drawn up an excellent pictorial program, depicting the historical growth of the parish, from its inception and the initial pastorate under the late Rev. Michael Green. This program, in itself, should be a substantial addition to the library of all the members of Our Lady's Parish. The Minstrel Show is being conducted by Mr. Leon Mayer, Commander of Newton Post. His outline for the show is very attractive opening with a comedy skit entitled "Parents Day at School" a parody on the old country school house. The second half reverts to the regular old time minstrel, black faced endmen, a large chorus of dancing girls, large snappy chorus with individual dance, song and ensemble numbers.

Gofkauf's was founded by New Englanders, employ New England help and favor New England manufacturers at every possible turn.

Gofkauf's Golden Rule assures you that "If you can buy the same article for less elsewhere, Gofkauf's will cheerfully refund the difference or return the full purchase price."

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Christian Era Study Club

The Christian Era Study Club, of Auburndale, will meet with Miss Blanche M. Noyes, 16 Williston road, on January 25th, at 3 o'clock. The papers which will be the program will be "George the Fifth," by Miss Noyes; and "Cecil Rhodes," by Mrs. Susan F. Tuttle.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

Apt day was celebrated by the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club in their meeting of Monday, the 18th, for which Miss Ethel W. Sabin, a former Club president, and her sister, Mrs. John Gould opened their spacious home, at 1206 Boylston street. The meeting was held at 7:30 p. m.

"The Art of Home-making in Colonial Days" was the subject of a lecture by Mrs. Enid Louise Fairbairn, who was attractively gowned in Colonial dress. Mrs. Fairbairn is a direct descendant of Governor Bradford. She brought with her many interesting and beautiful antiques, which she exhibited as illustrating her talk, and she also gave cooking recipes and the recipe for making soap, which the women of her branch of the family used in Colonial days. She distributed to Club members generous samples of soap made by this recipe.

Members of the Club brought many fine examples of Colonial artistry, such as samplers, needle-work, woodwork, silver, sandwich glass, and jewelry, which formed an Exhibit that added greatly to the interest of the occasion.

Mrs. John Temperley was chairman of the evening.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Professor Brewer G. Whitmore, of the department of Government at Smith College, was the guest speaker at last Tuesday's meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club. Professor Whitmore reviewed for the attentive audience the development of the United States Government and its workings. He suggested that his audience read and reread the Constitution. He explained that the Constitution has been changed by four methods: first, by statute method; second, by custom, and that no president has ever had a term that preceded the next being violated since George Washington's time, even though there is nothing in the Constitution to prevent it; third, by amendments, of which there have been twenty-one, and at the present time there is a proposed 22nd one, concerning child labor; and fourth, by interpretation. The legislatures of the forty-eight States, Congress, and the President all are correct in interpreting the Constitution as they like, he said.

Professor Whitmore gave a clear and concise picture of the Supreme Court, its members and duties. A fact worthy of note came to light as the speaker discussed the Supreme Court, namely, that up to 1933 the Supreme Court had, out of 35,000 acts of Congress, declared only fifty-eight null and void.

Proceeding this worthwhile lecture, Mr. Charles Boyd, tenor soloist at the New Church, Boston, delighted his audience with a voice that possessed both magnitude and sweetness. Included in his selections were "Dedication," by Franz; "Expectancy," by Stickles; and "Sweet Songs of Long Ago." Mrs. Ruth Ferber, president of the Women's Republican Club of Watertown, was Mr. Boyd's accompanist.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Edwin H. Dyer, the Club's Contact Member for the State Federation division, was physically handicapped, requested that members send colored woman beads to the Children's Hospital for the ill children's use. Mrs. Dyer also reminded her that there were three times as many birds in New England as there are usually, and asked the members to feed them.

Mrs. Edward B. Gray, president of the Club, asked that all who knew of part-time workers who aid moth-ers and homemakers, to send in their names and addresses with telephone numbers, if possible, to her, and she would, in turn, contact the various members who wished help of that sort.

Announcement was also made that the monthly meeting of the American Home committee would not take place on the 1st of February, but on the 8th, at Lancelotti College, when Mrs. Lawrence L. Fidalgo would lecture.

The day chairman was Mrs. Howard P. Converse, a charter member of the Club, who is serving on the Program committee.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Through the courtesy extended by the Newton Trust Company, held by the Newtonville Woman's Club, the occasion on Tuesday was one of marked interest when Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, member of the Woman's Advisory Board of the Trust Company, was presented as speaker. Mr. Carl M. Eldridge, Trust officer, and Mr. Herbert W. Kestle, assistant treasurer, were present at the meeting.

Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, Twelfth District director, was a guest of honor, and was introduced by the president, Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, as the "big sister" of the Club, who helped in its problems and who was interested in its activities. Mrs. Miller referred to herself as a "telegram," carrying messages from the State and City Federations to the twenty individual clubs in her district. She recalled her former membership in the Club, to which she belonged for five years, while living in Newtonville. She reminded the members of the Legislature Conference to be held in Brookline, on February 8th, where the Fourth, Sixth and Twelfth districts will unite to consider some of the measures to be brought before the Legislature; and on January 29th, at 10:30 a. m., there will be an American Home Conference of the Twelfth district at the Newton Centre Club House, Mrs. Schuyler VanNess, State chairman, presiding.

Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker, Program chairman, voiced the pleasure of the Club in having the opportunity to hear "our own Mrs. Palmer" speak on the subject, "Budgeting Our Lives." Mrs. Palmer's talk was scintillating with brilliant illustrations and poetry. "Not as parlor boarders or as spectators should we travel on our lives," she said. We should consider life our business. "Happiness is the rebound from hard work." Women furnish most of the food and spend most of the money, hence the need for scientific management. Although modern methods eliminate three-fourths of the duties of the homemaker, life is quite as complex as in the past, and demands a high degree of intelligence. Food values, laws of health, and the closely-interwoven community interests require constant attention.

To distinguish between the essential and the non-essential, and to keep our baggage simple, are helps in so regulating our lives that there may be time for rest and for the recreation of music, books, and friendship. Thrift, which does not mean "penny pinching," but scientific management and overcoming of waste, should be cultivated. "Put your pattern on the cloth, piece a little here and there, and use the scraps. It is not the size that is of importance," were a few of her arresting statements.

Mrs. W. L. Voshburg and Mrs. A. H. Decatur poured at the dessert-coffee. It was announced that good disposal can be made of Christmas cards, if members will bring them to the next meeting. They can be used in work among the physically handicapped, and old silk stockings can also be utilized in this way.

Mrs. Anton A. Wild, Clives chairman, received contributions of old clothing, and money for the Milk Fund, which will be divided among the local schools.

Tickets for the three remaining Thursday Morning lectures by Mrs. Frank M. Taylor can be procured for $1.25. It was announced.

"pound" in Newton, in fact as well as in theory, where dogs which stray from their homes in this city could be kept for at least a couple of days. This is another reason why there should be an active dog officer in Newton. While there are hundreds of unlicensed dogs in Newton, there are some valuable pets from whose collars the metal license tag becomes lost. However, if one really cares for his dog, one should have his name or address inscribed on the collar, as the law specifies.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The January meeting of the Newton League of Women Voters was held on January 11th at the home of Mrs. Louis H. Fitch, 134 Sumner st., Newton Centre. The speaker was Mrs. Richard H. Field, president of the State League.

With the opening of legislative sessions both in Washington and in Boston it was valuable to lay before the local League plans for action both in the national and in the state capital. In 1935-6 Leagues all over the country made an intensive study of the spoils system and of the workings of the merit system in foreign countries. This year they will support action to bring about reforms by at least three measures in Congress. These include emergency appointments to be made only under Civil Service rules; the dropping of less capable employees when the force in an office has to be reduced; and placing all postal employees under civil service rules.

Will Take Naps at Kindergartens

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night Supt. of Schools Warren reported on the matter of children attending afternoon sessions of kindergartens. In certain sections of the city so many mothers have sent their small children to kindergartens in recent years that it became necessary to hold two sessions; one in the morning, the other in the afternoon. Some mothers objected to the late session, claiming their children's health was affected by not having an afternoon nap. Mr. Warren said that physicians who are experts on child health are unanimous in stating that afternoon kindergarten sessions are not detrimental to the health of young children. He said that next Monday children who have been attending morning kindergarten sessions will be transferred to afternoon sessions in schools where crowding necessitates the two sessions. Children who have been attending afternoon sessions will go mornings.

Mr. Warren stated that a letter has been sent to parents of kindergarten pupils who will attend afternoon sessions. The letter asks the mothers to give the children a rest period at home mornings and an early noon-day meal. It explains that the children will have an afternoon rest period at school, and that clean mats will be provided for the children to lie on. Director Luise Diez, State Director of Child Hygiene reported that there is no objection to the children resting on clean mats.

The appointments of two new teachers were confirmed. Frances Harper, a graduate of a college at Lynchburg, Virginia, and who has been teaching at Wood College, Maryland, was appointed instructor in physical education at Newton High School. Cora M. Keith was appointed teacher of the 4th grade at Cabot School. Katherine F. Murphy was appointed a clerk in the School Department office. She will succeed Mrs. Mabel Goldrick who resigned.

The resignation of Albert Snow, teacher at the Cabot School, was accepted. Eunice Auger, teacher at the Bigelow School, was granted a 6 months leave of absence. Mrs. Mar-

Scully Gets Long Prison Threat

George C. Scully of 17 Wade street, Newton Highlands was arraigned in the Newton Court on Saturday charged with assault and battery on his wife. Mrs. Scully testified that after beating her, the husband broke a number of pieces of furniture and household furnishings, and locked her in a bedroom. Patrolman Brayton and Green who arrested Scully on the evening of January 15 testified to finding chairs, lamps, a radio, a clock and other articles broken. Scully's lawyer asked Judge Allen to attempt a reconciliation between the defendant and his wife, but the plaintiff refused. Judge Allen then imposed a suspended sentence of a year in prison on Scully, ordered him to pay $12 weekly for his wife's support and $42 monthly on a mortgage on their home, and also ordered him to remain away from the house.

Dog Hit By Auto Shot by Police

An act of humaneness on the part of Edward McIntyre of Coburn rd., Wellesley, caused him to be bitten last Thursday night by an injured dog he was trying to aid. The dog, apparently hit by some automobile, the driver of which failed to stop, was lying on Beacon st. near Hammond Pond Parkway. McIntyre, driving by, alighted from his car and started to lift the animal from the roadway. The dog, crazed with pain, bit him. McIntyre notified the police. Patrolman Turner went to the scene and found that the dog was owned by Warren Wood of Hammondwood rd. Wood is in California so Turner obtained permission from a member of Wood's family to shoot the dog and end its suffering. The wound on McIntyre's hand was treated by Dr. Stanwood of Wellesley.

garet Amiro, kindergartner at the Burr School, was given a $300 salary increase because she will teach at the afternoon session in addition to the morning.

70 Reemployed On WPA Projects

Seventy Newton men who were laid off several weeks ago from WPA payrolls in this city were put back to work by the WPA on Monday. They were assigned to Cold Springs playground and the water supply reservation at Needham. This addition makes about 450 now on WPA payrolls in Newton. It will cause some lessening of the number who have been receiving aid from the Newton Welfare Department.

A meeting of the Newton Citizens Association was held on Tuesday night at Memorial Hall, Newton Centre. President C. Ray Cabot presided. The following officers were elected: Secretary, Richard H. Lee, Church st., Newton; treasurer, Howard Rich, Franklin st., Newton. Directors for three years: Ward 1, Edward H. Powers; Ward 2, Mrs. Ruth S. Collins; Ward 3, Ralph Taber; Ward 4, Mrs. Hazel L. Nash; Ward 5, Kenneth S. May; Ward 6, Arkley Richards; Ward 7, Warner Eustis.

Burglary At Newton Highlands

Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Bertha Faherty, 91 Carl st., Newton Highlands, last Saturday evening and stole a rug and other articles valued at about $400. Mrs. Faherty was absent from her home during the afternoon and early evening and when she returned found that a window had been forced and the house looted.

Catch Boy Thieves At Newton Hlds.

Three boys, aged 15, 14 and 12, were captured on Tuesday afternoon at Newton Highlands by Patrolman McCormick after they had been detected stealing food from the home of Rev. Charles Farrar, 60 Columbus st. As the clergyman approached his home he saw four boys run out of the back door at the house. He notified Patrolman McCormick of the affair and as they were talking on Lincoln st. three of the boys came around the corner and were stopped by McCormick. On their persons were found some meat and butter, part of an order which had been left at the Farrar home and which the boys had taken. Other food which had been included in the grocery order had been eaten. McCormick obtained complaints against the boys and they will appear in the juvenile session at the Newton court on Friday.

Police Lie In Wait for Burglars

An ambush prepared by Newton police for burglars who intended to loot a Chestnut Hill home of valuable rugs failed last Thursday night when the burglars did not return for the rugs. Thursday afternoon a neighbor observed a broken window at the residence of the late Mrs. Charles Hammond, 85 Essex rd. The house had been unoccupied since her death some weeks ago. Newton police were notified and upon investigating found that someone had entered the house, selected the valuable, imported rugs, and piled them near a window. Serg. Cleary and several patrolmen hid near the house Thursday night and waited for several hours with the expectation that the burglars might return for the rugs. Their vigil was in vain.

Fire in Nonantum Lunch Room

Members of Engine 8 at Watertown and Bridge sts., Nonantum, discovered a fire at 6:36 Monday morning in a lunch room across the street from the fire station. The lunch room at 388 Watertown st. is owned by Domenic Tataro of Brighton. The fire started in some rubbish in the cellar. It was extinguished before it spread to the upper floor of the building.

Mayor Holds Up Taboo On Trucks

The traffic rule passed by the Newton Board of Aldermen at its last meeting, restricting heavy traffic on Dedham street, Oak Hill, has not been put into effect. The reason for the Aldermen passing the amendment to Newton's traffic ordinance was to offset the action of George Wilbur in persisting to operate a big gravel pit at Oak Hill despite the refusal of the Board of Aldermen several months ago to renew the permit of the Highland Sand & Gravel Company which Wilbur controls. Wilbur obtained a temporary injunction restraining the Newton city Government from stopping his operations at the gravel pit off Dedham street.

Mayor Childs announced last Saturday that because of litigation ensuing between Wilbur and the City of Newton, he would have the restrictive order passed by the Board of Aldermen held in abeyance until City Solicitor Bartlett returns from Florida where he is spending some weeks. The Superior Court referred the issue between the city and Wilbur to a master. Hearings were held several weeks ago with City Solicitor Bartlett representing the City of Newton. The master has made no decision.

It was the opinion of the Aldermen when they passed the amendment on January 18 prohibiting heavy trucks on Dedham street, that they have the legal right to pass such a traffic ordinance, regardless of any legal controversy over the continuance of Wilbur's injunction which permits him for the present to operate the gravel pit under a non-conforming use.

Catches Youth Stealing Auto

Harold Sennett, 19, of 316 California street, Nonantum was caught by Charles L. Nichols of the Nichols Bag Company, 3 Bridge street, Nonantum on Friday night as the youth started to drive Nichols' car from the yard at the latter's place of business. According to the evidence presented in the Newton court on Saturday, Sennett had just started the motor when Nichols observed him. Sennett jumped out of the car and attempted to escape but was caught and held by Nichols and his brothers until the police came and arrested him. Judge Allen gave Sennett a suspended sentence of three months in the Middlesex County prison.

Norman Thomas Speaks At Community Forum On "A Program For Our Times"

Says People Must Become Socially Conscious Before Conditions Can Be Improved

Norman Thomas, leader of the Socialist Party, spoke last Sunday afternoon before a large audience in the Newton High School auditorium. His subject was "A Program for our Times".

Mr. Thomas laid special stress at the beginning of his lecture and throughout it upon the fact that we cannot lay out a particular program for improvement and advancement either politically or economically until the people become sufficiently socially conscious to see the underlying philosophy in government and in business both at home and abroad. All issues, he said, have a superficial significance which most of the people see all of the time but which is of little value. There is far more importance in the fundamental truth of a matter which few have the intellectual curiosity to sound out and analyze.

Once upon a time, when this country was in the making, it might have been comparatively simple to outline a program and carry it through, but each year brings unforeseen complications and hindrances, new problems which, because of their newness, lack a perspective view for those facing them. Mr. Thomas cited the present time. We feel just now that the depression is lifting, that better days are just over the crest of the hill, but he did not say that the depression was a part of the dim past. He merely and conservatively stated that we were experiencing a temporary relief. Neither did he go to the other extreme and say that it would return. As a result of the depression there has been some change but nothing radical; there is the same basic system of private ownership and the same insecurity.

As far as balancing the budget is concerned, Mr. Thomas does not feel it possible to get very far by merely redistributing the wealth. It may serve to balance the budget, but it will not stabilize it. He believes that we must increase production. This current idea of over-production is a tremendous misnomer, for in 1928 and 1929 which were the best years in the business field, only two thirds of a suit was manufactured per man. Is that over-production?

Speaking of the Mississippi flood, which is the worst in years, Mr. Thomas said that the people living in the flooded area exist under such poverty-stricken circumstances that their relative positions before and after the flood are practically equal, whereas, if they lived in even meagre comfort, a flood such as this would mean a tremendous loss to them. He said that there is no need for such poverty and the people of this country and of every country must become cognizant of and sympathetic with this fact before there can come any lasting effect from a definite economic or social program. Production, he said, should be for the collective profit of the people and not for individual profit. There is too much going to the people who do not work and too little to the people who do work.

The speaker divided the major countries of the world into two classes: The House of Have and the House of Have Not. Into the former he put Germany, Italy and Japan. Into the latter he put Russia, England, France and the United States of America. What significant relationship if any exists between the type of government of the former class and its economic condition as compared to the type of government of the latter class and its economic condition? The world has been made interdependent but it is divided between nations, among nations and within nations. We must change the basic character of the world, change the system that breeds war. We are still trying to substitute a make-shift program. It will not suffice. We must make machinery the slave of man and not the opposite as has been the case. We have outgrown the world of our forefathers, therefore it is more necessary that we keep the ways of peace more carefully for being so close together and consequently having to share and share alike more and more as time goes on.

Find Hold-Up Taxi At Newton Corner

A taxi-cab stolen at Waltham last Thursday night and later used by armed bandits in robbing three gasoline stations at Belmont and Brighton was found abandoned at the rear of 221 Washington st., Newton, on Friday morning. The three gun men engaged George Campbell, a Waltham taxi driver on Thursday night, on Warren st. in that city, they forced Campbell into the rear seat and held him prisoner while they robbed a station in Belmont and two in Brighton. Campbell was then dumped out. Brighton and Belmont policemen came to Newton in an effort to find fingerprints in or on the car, but they were not successful.

NEWTON WILL RESPOND

Once again flood conditions are spreading tragedy and disaster in their wake. The floods of last spring in this section of the country are still fresh in our minds. Homeless families, threatening disease, and ruined property brought the generous response from Newton citizens as in previous emergencies. The past week the Ohio and Mississippi rivers have been on the rampage at water levels never before experienced or even imagined. Hundreds of thousands are homeless with priceless possessions swept away. Hundreds of thousands are existing under conditions which threaten disease and pestilence. Hundreds of thousands prepare as best they can against the flood waters bearing down upon them in those hundreds of miles to the Gulf of Mexico. Scientific though much of this preparation may be, much of it will be only the feeble attempts of man against the mighty forces of nature. No word description can picture the hardships nor adequately relate the dreadful experiences that many are going through. Every possible agency of relief and aid is attempting to ease their suffering to the greatest possible extent.

Here in Newton, far from the scene of tragedy, we can do our part in responding to the appeals for financial aid. Newton citizens in the past have always instantly and generously responded to the needs of suffering fellow men. We are confident that the local quota of $12,000 for the Red Cross will be speedily forthcoming.

INVITING FURTHER TROUBLE

The proposed extension of the parkway along the Charles River is of great interest to Newton citizens and particularly those of the Nonantum section. The roadway will follow the river for the most part, under the present plans, but will utilize the broad, straight stretch of California street from the Watertown line to Bridge street. The extension of the parkway is highly desirable if funds are available for the work, relieving as it will much of the traffic congestion between Watertown and Waltham and providing a more convenient access for residents on the northern side of Newton to Boston. There will be and should be strenuous objection to the use of California street, however, as many pedestrians cross this thoroughfare and many children use the playground facilities in the vicinity. A number of serious accidents, some fatal, have occurred on California street because its width and straightness invite speed from the auto driver. To increase the volume of traffic there to any great extent is only inviting further trouble. Newton officials should make every effort to have the roadway follow the river the whole route before final plans are adopted.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday afternoon Alderman Estee offered an order that all billiard saloons in this city be closed at 11 p. m.; also that the license of the W. F. Wood to keep a billiard table be revoked. Alderman Rice asked why this order was offered. Mayor Hyde said, that as Chief of Police, complaints had come to him that minors were allowed to play at this place and intoxicants were sold there. The order was adopted. Alderman Pratt offered the following ordinance relating to truants: Any child in the city of Newton between the ages of 7 and 15, who is an habitual truant, or who wanders about the streets and public places of said city, having no lawful occupation, nor attending school and growing up in ignorance, upon conviction therefor, shall be sentenced to be committed to the State Primary School in Monks for such time, not exceeding two years as the justice or court having jurisdiction, may determine.

Real estate men prophesy that building will not be very brisk in Newton the coming season. The past year has witnessed a remarkable increase in expensive buildings, more than any previous one. It is not likely so much money will be put into building the coming year, but no doubt there will be a large number of moderate price houses erected.

Newton Graphic, Jan. 29, 1887

Henry C. Daniels is the first customer of the Newton Electric Light Company as he has had a light put in at his Nonantum Stables.

Judging from the talk among builders next season will be an unusually busy one in Newton as a large number of new houses will be put up.

The second of the Horticultural Society's winter meetings was held on Tuesday evening at City Hall, a large attendance being present. The question discussed was the need of sewerage in Newton. John W. Carter read a paper in which the question was treated in an able and exhaustive manner. He said that 10 years ago commissioners for drainage and sewerage were appointed by the City of Newton and an appropriation of $3000 made for their expenses. They engaged a consulting engineer and in December 1879 they submitted their report together with that of their engineer. They recommended in substance a system of main and branch sewers covering parts of Wards 7, 1, 2 and 3 whose outlet would be on the southern bank of the Charles River near the Watertown Arsenal. Their engineer was of the opinion that with skillful management the sewage of Newton could be discharged below the water level for many years to come without much objection or just cause for complaint, and he had no hesitation in recommending it as the most feasible plan. The commissioners had thought it feasible to defer for some years the construction of a main drain to the site opposite the Watertown Arsenal. In the meantime the outlet for the discharge would be into the river at a point further West, near the former site of Brackett's Wharf just below the end of Jefferson street, Newton.

Mr. Carter reviewed the history of drainage and sewerage for many centuries and the fearful price paid in the middle ages for the neglect of sanitary laws. Newton's problem deals with her 20,000 population, her systems of cesspools, the great quantity of surface and sub-surface water, more or less contaminated, and the 1,000,000 gallons of city water used per day and then poured out to become a standing menace to health.

There were over 200 guests at the new power station of the Newton Electric Light Company at Crafts st., Newtonville, on Tuesday night to witness the exhibition of its system of electric lighting. The guests cautiously watched the engine and dynamo attached and also inspected the several kinds of lights exhibited. Only one dynamo, of the Thompson-Houston type, capable of running 45 lights, is used at present. Others will be added when required. Only one engine will be run at present, but there is boiler power sufficient for six, and it is hoped customers will come in such abundance that the six will be required. Besides furnishing electric lights, the company intends to furnish power for a street railway, if they get a permit for the latter. They also plan to furnish incandescent lights at low tension for houses.

Powers' Paragraphs

The death on January 22nd of William Ayles of 670 Grove st., Newton Lower Falls, reduced the membership of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., from three to two. The survivors are Leonard Boyd of Newton Highlands and Otis Gray of Newton Upper Falls. Middle-aged residents of Newton can remember when Charles Ward Post had a couple of hundred members; when the "Boys in Blue" made an imposing spectacle as they marched sturdily in Memorial Day parades. Now, only two remain. Life's span truly is short.

"Bill" Ayles was in his 97th year. He was born in Kent, England, the son of a paper maker. His family emigrated to Newton Lower Falls over 90 years ago where his father became an employee in the old paper mill at that village. As "Bill" Ayles grew up, he, too, entered the paper mill to work. The Civil War broke out in 1861 and young Ayles entered the U. S. Navy. He was assigned to the crew of the frigate Minnesota, one of the most formidable ships of the old navy. And then came that memorable day, March 8, 1862, when the "Minnesota" was attacked by a craft which revolutionized naval warfare. The Confederates had captured the U. S. Merrimack, covered its sides with iron rails and converted it into a ram. The "Minnesota" could not cope with this terrifying opponent and was forced aground to await capture or destruction the following day. But, during the night of March 8th, a new weird, appearing man-of-war was hastening to give battle to the Confederate's naval menace and on March 9th, Captain John Ericsson's invention, the iron-clad "Monitor," attacked and repulsed the "Merrimack." The "cheese-box on a raft" was a large factor in turning the tide in favor of the Union forces. The young papermaker from Lower Falls was, therefore, a participant in one of the most famous naval battles in history. Following the war he returned to Lower Falls and resumed his occupation in the paper mills. Though his war service and its unusual significance merited exceptional military and naval honors, "Bill" Ayles' funeral was in accordance with the simplicity of his long life. He was laid to rest on Monday in the little cemetery adjoining old St. Mary's Church at Lower Falls. It is appropriate, in memory to Mr. Ayles, that each Memorial Day, veterans of later wars continue a beautiful ceremony established years ago by the G. A. R., the strewing of flowers on the grave of the Charles close to the old church, in memory of the sailors who served in the United States Navy.

This week the Planning Division of the Metropolitan District Commission submitted to the Legislature proposals for projects to be undertaken in the near future. One of these is the extension of the parkway along the South side of the Charles River from its present terminus at Galen st., Watertown, along California st., and the river to the Waltham line, and thence through Waltham toward Stony Brook. State representatives from Watertown and Waltham have been urging this project the past couple of years to provide an automobile highway which will relieve the present congestion on Main st. which traverses the business districts of Watertown and Waltham. The estimated cost of the extension is $1,600,000.

In Newton, according to the present plans, the proposed State highway would follow California st. from the Watertown line through Nonantum to Bridge st. From there it would follow the shore of the river to the Waltham line near the Farwell Street Bridge. These plans were drawn in 1931. Prior to that, the plans of the proposed parkway specified that it would follow the shore of the river from the Watertown line at Galen st. to the Waltham line. Then someone conceived the more or less brilliant idea of using California st. in the Nonantum district, notwithstanding that the Metropolitan District Commission (or Metropolitan Parkway Commission) had, years before, made land takings along the river for the purpose of laying out the parkway where it naturally would go, along the river bank. One alleged reason given for using California st. is—that it affords a straight course. Another reason advanced for the California st. route is—that it will permit the development of a bathing beach at the Allison Playground.

The people of Nonantum, especially those who reside in the California st. section, are strongly and rightly opposed to the State Highway being routed over that street. There has been and is heavy traffic along California st., including a large amount of truck traffic. There have been many serious automobile accidents on the street, including three fatalities last year. The neighborhood is thickly settled and scores of small children reside in the vicinity. At night many girls who work in the radio tube factory walk along the street to Watertown. The proper route for a parkway is along the river, as originally planned, and not through an industrial and congested residential section. If a bathing beach is wanted by the playground authorities at Allison Park, it will be a simple matter to have a tunnel under the parkway from the playground to the beach. And if intelligent parents observed the condition of the water in the Charles River during summer months, they would not permit their children to bathe in it.

In by-gone years love songs featured the heart, the eyes, the hair. In that famous old Scotch song, "Annie Laurie," William Douglas praised the brow, neck and feet of his beloved. Now we have a currently popular sonnet with a doleful melody that won't linger. It has an epidemic (or should we say drama) theme. Its title is "I've Got You Under My Skin." Whenever I hear it on the radio, I tune off that station. It gets under my skin. Both words and music irritate me. It recalls the coolies we tourists of the A. E. F. had under our skins while overseas.

We're Pretty Busy

Anything the neighbors do always interests us. That's why Newton people are somewhat concerned over the controversy in Boston provoked by a proposal to remove from Park sq. to Copley sq. the "Emancipation group," with President Lincoln the chief figure. I am not going into the merits or demerits but I do feel that the occasion offers a chance to congratulate Newton that it hasn't many important pieces of memorial statuary to arouse public wrangling. Newton has artistic designs in one form or another commemorating deeds worthy of the honor and as far as I am able to ascertain their present location is satisfactory. At least I have never heard mass meetings suggested.

I do recall that the passing of the horse and buggy started demands for the removal of watering troughs from village centres. Indeed, I think the street department initiated the improvement, or whatever you choose to call it. It was all accomplished by calm reasoning and orderly procedure which in those days was preferred to the present popular method of publicity and blab-blah that accompanies about everything in the march of progress.

If we hear talk nowadays about what shall occupy the streets you may be sure it is directly related to the operation of automobiles, traffic lights, etc. There is little time, apparently, for glorifying the past in marble or bronze.

Working on Sympathies

A polite word for it is "important" and a rougher expression is "a touch." I refer to the individual who seeks to obtain money—usually one dollar or more—and seems to think it necessary to explain in detail the urgency. My point is that these people invariably are planning to make a short or fairly long trip. They say, "If I can only get to such-and-such a place I will be all right." The difficulty is that they haven't the funds to pay their fare and you are expected, or at least invited, to come across with the coin or bills.

Clergymen, I am told on excellent authority, are shining marks. Several with whom I have talked agree that there is always a journey in prospect and the applicant needs only care, which is considerate of him. I have every reason to believe that the clergy are wary but it must be difficult for them to refuse. That, of course, is their personal affair.

Assuming, and I have no wish to be unfair, that the larger percentage of these cases are fraudulent, I wonder why they lack originality. The same old invention in practically every case? Does an appeal for care fare sound any more pathetic than one for food and lodging? If it is intended to convey the subtle intimation that the giver by a generous donation may thus rid himself of the presence of the other, then the idea has something to recommend it.

Those Elevated Clocks

It seems as if my impatience would overcome me. Last Sunday when I read in the newspapers that the Boston Elevated expects to have 2000 eight-day clocks installed in all trains and many trolley cars a turbulence of spirit seized me. Nothing will cause my restlessness to cease. I want to see those clocks when the passengers get one squirt at them. Or rather, what the passengers do and say. I can picture immediate challenge of accuracy. Wrist watches will be held up by both women and men and compared. Old-timers of the masculine group will fish in their vest pockets and draw forth time-pieces that are positive never go wrong. I'm sorry for the man who will have the job of supervising these Elevated clocks. People with watches will be equally exacting, probably engaging in disputes with the motormen and conductors. That is not all that's likely to happen. There's going to be a lot of excitement. As I said, I can scarcely hold myself together.

In Memoriam

EMMA HICKS PRYOR

A year ago, and yet it seems it were but yesterday. With saddened hearts, we said And bid her form away. The days have long since been since then.

From dawn till evening late, Yet, oft, we seem to hear her say, "Grieve not, dear ones, just wait."

Full forty happy years we spent Together here in life. A kindly soul to all her friends, A loving, faithful wife, We miss her gentle, thoughtful ways.

Her deeds affectionate, And then we seem to hear her say, "Grieve not, dear ones, just wait."

For soon shall pass the darkness of night, And our griefs shall dawn, Above our sorrows, doubts and fears.

The bright Eternal Morn, And love's reborn shall live again, Beyond Heavy's Golden Gate, Where now they whisper lovingly, "Grieve not, dear ones, just wait."

Written for Captain J. H. Baker, Prior of West Newton, in memory of his late wife, Mrs. Emma E. Pryor, who died January 28, 1936.

Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Newton had as its speaker Monday at the regular luncheon-meeting in the Brae Burn Country Club, Dr. William G. Barrett, assistant commissioner of the State Department of Mental Diseases.

Dr. Barrett said that Massachusetts has the outstanding system in the country for the care of mental diseases, and that it costs only ten million dollars a year to take care of 28,000 patients, which makes the cost per patient $7.65 a week. It takes 65,000 employees, in eight-hour shifts, to care for the patients, which is equivalent to one employee to every thirty patients, he declared.

The commissioner of the department is appointed for a term of five years by the Governor. There are four associate commissioners and the department is divided into three divisions, with an assistant commissioner at the head of each.

The divisions are: medical, headed by Dr. Barrett; financial, which does the purchasing, and mental hygiene, which sponsors prevention and research projects, headed by Dr. Douglas A. Thom.

Christmas Seal Sale

With the Seal receipts at this time more than a hundred dollars over last year's receipts, the Seal Sale Committee is pleased with the result of the campaign.

There are still quite a number of letters to which the local chairmen have not received replies so that the total figures will probably be even more gratifying. Considering that the majority of sales are for one dollar, Newton, can be justly proud of the credit reflected upon the city by the response of its people in building up the sales to the present total. Last year's report of the sales in Massachusetts credited Newton with the highest per capita record of any of the twenty-six divisions of the state, and all those concerned with the 1936-37 returns are anxious to maintain it not better the rating.

Referring to the benefits made available by the seal fund, Miss Harriet L. Parsons, General Secretary of the Newton Welfare Bureau, says: "For quality, our health investment can hardly be surpassed; the quantity can only be determined by the support of the community."

The statement of the treasurer, Mr. Frank L. Richardson, shows the following figures as of Jan. 26th:

Newton	$826.05
Newtonville	913.79
Newton Centre	1098.34

NEWTON BEATS BELMONT NOW TIED FOR THIRD

Before a crowd of more than 5000 at the Boston Garden rink last Saturday, Newton High held its own in the G. B. I. S. hockey league's seventh meeting by giving Belmont High a 2-1 defeat. Evan Johnson's coming skaters were more charitable to the league cellar-dwellers than any other team has been this season, considering that six goals is the average that opponents have rammed down the Belmont throats throughout the regular schedule. However, Belmont had the mental advantage of having nothing to lose and almost nothing to gain, whereas Newton, trying new combinations was determined to protect an early lead. Newton's victory advanced them to a triple tie with Medford and Arlington for third place in the standing.

Newton got away to a two-goal lead in the first period. John "Mayor" Fitzgerald, right wing of the new forward line, scored at 8:51 unassisted, and Fred Nichols, blond defense star, made it 2-0 with a solo flight at 9:16, just twenty-five seconds later. The kingpin of the second line, Fitzgerald teamed with center Jack Carter and Westy Littlefield to give Newton a combination that may break the spell of this notoriously scoreless team, for they had little difficulty in boring into the Belmont defensive zone, and missed several beautiful chances through sheer buck fever or inattention. With Jack Lane on the sidelines through a shoulder injury, Johnson paired Bud Whitehead on defense with Nichols.

When Whitehead was given a penalty for tripping, Belmont put defense aside and rushed the Newton zone, and Newton had scored two quick goals before the big defense artist returned to the game. Fitzgerald was coasting out near the blue line waiting for a break, and when the pass came to him, he outskated the Belmont defense and got a closeup shot at Sharkey, who had no chance to save. Belmont rushed on the ensuing faceoff, testing Buttrick with one shot by Johnson, and piling up in front of the goal on another sudden attempt. Fred Nichols got the puck on the next face, skated straight up the ice, and easily eluded John Everett. Although Paul Brown was in place for a pass, Nichols had an easy time beating Sharkey for his first goal of the season. In another moment Whitehead returned to the game, and simultaneously Turner was ousted for a high stick, but Newton was not badly pressed in the remaining two minutes.

During the second period Newton's second line outlasted Belmont's easily. John Fitzgerald waltzed across the Belmont blue line at least seven times with the puck, showing some fine stickwork. He forced two saves by Sharkey, was stopped once by Lefty Rogers' illegal leg check, and set up Jack Carter on one fine pass out only to have Jack miss the open cage. The first line of Paul Brown, Phil Green and Al Turner had one good spell when they stormed the Belmont defenses and gave Sharkey a couple of hard saves, but their back-checking was not too effective, and Dick McLellan was called on for some fancy diving when they were out for A third line composed of Sonny Everett, Carl Cole and Jack Barry had several chances, but was unable to score.

Dick McLellan was replaced by Frank Smith in the Newton goal as the third period began, and it was through this third goalie that Belmont chose to score their goal. Newton's first line looked better in the last period, although they were unable to connect. Green showed his latent speed in a tour around the boards to set up Brown with a pass-out. Al Turner was put off for an illegal check, and Belmont scored. Frank Ray passed from the left wing boards, and Specs Ewha was right in front of the goal to slap it home at 5:51. That ended the scoring, and gave Johnson an excuse for sending out a fourth goalie, Dean Proctor, so that he made good his intention of using them all in the same game. Newton finished strong. Fred Nichols made a play for Paul Brown, but Brown was offside. Brown later had a clean break past the defense, but missed. The most perfect set-up of the game also was unproductive when Carter, Fitzgerald and Littlefield shunted the rubber from one to another until they were eye to eye with goalie Sharkey, only to have the Belmont wizard make another fine save.

TRACK TEAM DEFENDS N. U. TITLE TOMORROW

Newton High will defend its championship in the Northeastern interscholastic track meet tomorrow at the Boston Garden. More than thirty schools will enter teams in this first meet of the indoor track season. Don Enoch's twenty entries have been made odds-on favorites to repeat the victory of last winter which started the great Witten-Huling-Forde-Heard team on its devastating way to an undefeated year.

Wittens, Heard and Huling are gone, but Don Enoch has a fine crop of coming champions. Last year marked Forde's first go in major competition, when he was defeated in the Northeastern meet by Harley Masters of Lynn Classical. Since then he has seldom been beaten at this distance, and will be a slight favorite to lead Masters and Ronboli of Everett in the final. Other sprinters near the top or likely to place are Bud Hines of Newton, Dugger of Medford, Montgomery of Brockton and Taylor of Memorial.

Don McKinnon, Newton's young hurdler, cannot come close to Bob Hartman's record of 5.6 in the 45-yd. hurdles, but may place nevertheless, because the field is not nearly as fast as last year's. Mazur of Lowell and Ed Dugger of Medford are the ranking hurdlers in tomorrow's meet. Another record established by Bob Hartman of Brookline is his 6 ft. 1 in. ceiling in the high jump, and it is fairly safe. Ralph Ryan of Boston English, who will also be favored in the "300," is the best of the field, judging from past performance. The dark horse of the up-and-over event is Newton High's sophomore Bill Pescosolido, who did not compete in the only dual meet of the season, but who has been flitting with altitudes above six feet. If he has the heart for competition that his brother Carl had, he can be depended on to go long way. Mark Messier is another likely Newton jumper, while Watson of Brockton and the same Ed Dugger of Medford are to be watched.

Witten's departure left less of a vacancy in the 300-yard field than might be expected, with Capt. Bob Muther and Frank "Bud" Hines, veteran sprinters, ready for the gun. In only one competition this year, running in separate heats, Hines was the better in 35.9 on the day of the Medford meet. Their chief opposition will be supplied by Masters of Lynn, Ryan of English and Toomey of Medford, a faster field than that of last year, although not one to endanger the Wittens record of 34s. In the two longer runs, Newton is much better fortified than a year ago. With Mascianica graduated, after setting the meet record for the "600" at 1:16.8, the guessing is wild, and Joe Gallant and Jerry Allen, the Newton hopes, are in the thick of the figuring. Mark Cortelli and Bill Kelly are starters in the "1000," although they will have the pace cut out for them by Everett's Larry Piccone, and are capable of placing in the points. Newton has not figure to place a shotputter, but is likely to make tracks in every other event but the weight. There is no broad jump on the program. Four places count in every event, and a big silver trophy goes to the winning school.

NEWTON FIRST QUINTET TO UPSET BROOKLINE

Newton High basketball reached a new high point for this season when Frank Simmons' fast young team took a fall out of the previously unbeaten Brookline High quintet in their own balliwick last Monday, winning 19-14 at the Brookline Municipal gym. With their captain, Len LeSourd, nursing a broken nose, the Newtons set the Suburban League leaders so far back in the lead, that the score was 13-4 in favor of the invaders at the half, after a dazzling exhibition by sophomore Don Abbott during the second quarter.

Bill Johnston, football captain-elect, opened the show with a goal and a foul point, and center Gene Leger sank another goal to put the orangemen well in the lead. A very sound defense on the part of the invaders kept Brookline from making a single goal from the floor until the third period, when Cliff Fitzpatrick sank a long shot for their first two-pointer. Brookline had to wallow their championship hopes during the first three quarters of the game, in which they made just two points per quarter. A pair of goals each for Fitzpatrick and Capt. Toomey Mooney built Brookline's score up into a respectable figure in the final canto. Newton was not seriously threatened.

Our Lady's won its sixth straight Catholic League game this week and looks unbeatable for the league crown. In a great demonstration of scoring strength, O. L. crushed St. Clement's High of Somerville 56-13 at Newton Friday. The leading lights were Marino, who made 18 points on floor shots, and George Delaney, sharp shooting guard, whose twelve-goal total eclipsed even the performance of Francis Morris. With only two field goals, the popular "Chicken" added seven points on foul shot for a total of eleven.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary English Club

The English Club of Newton High School, founded in 1912 by Professor Charles Swain Thomas, who was then the head of the English department, is now celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary. For many years of the club's history, it has been under the capable guidance of Miss E. Louise Richardson. Except for one year when Miss Richardson was in California on leave of absence and Mr. Samuel Thurber served as faculty adviser, the large pupil interest in the English Club, the popularity of the monthly meetings, and the valuable contributions to the school made through this agency may be accounted for largely by the enthusiasm and sympathetic interest of Miss Richardson, teacher of English and school committeewoman for Watertown.

The club's presidents have included four girls. Miss Mildred E. Macdonald was the president for 1924-25. Miss Macdonald went to Wheelock School.

Miss Mary Kibbe, class of 1931 and Smith College alumna, and Miss Julia Harvey, class of 1932 and Vassar graduate, were presidents. Miss Jane Dealy, '37, is now chief executive.

Boys who have served as president in recent years include William Bittenbender, '33, now at Harvard University; James Naylor, '34, and Harvard undergraduate; George Collins, '35, sophomore at Princeton University; and Fred Fairford, '36, first-year man at Oberlin College.

The English Club has always exemplified the best school traditions. The annual assembly under the auspices of the English Club has offered such speakers as Colonel Harry K. Eustace, big-game hunter; Dr. William L. Stidger, author and lecturer; Edwin Markham, America's beloved poet; Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, well-known lecturer; John K. C. Mack-Kness and Dr. Fred W. Adams. On March 3, 1937, the organization's guest speaker will be Rollo Brown, author and lecturer.

Day Jr. High School

Following the example of the two senior classes, the seventh grade has begun its organization by holding its rally and election of officers. On Friday, January 22, the assembly period was devoted to the campaign speeches of the candidates for office. Jan. Cary, the chairman of the meeting, introduced each speaker in turn, with the originality and poise of a seasoned veteran. The candidates who spoke are as follows: for president, Frances Barclay, Elizabeth Cook, and Harold McKusick; for vice-president, Robert Bell and Nancy Hoaglund; for secretary, Carmela Cellucci, Phyllis Daif, Mary Hingston, and Madolyn Spenser; and for treasurer, Lucy Colella, Jane Franklin, Elizabeth Norris and Bernice Piccirilli. The following candidates were elected: President, Harold McKusick; vice-president, Robert Bell; Secretary, Madolyn Spenser, and Treasurer, Lucy Colella.

Bigelow Junior H. S.

Mr. Leigh Nesbit, Scout Executive for the Norumbega Council, was introduced as the speaker by Rhoden Meredith at the weekly assembly on Friday, Jan. 22. He illustrated his talk on Indian Sign Language with appropriate gestures much to the enjoyment of the pupils and faculty. He explained that the Indian Sign Language has about 865 signs which are based on common sense. Mr. Nesbit lived with the Indians in the middle west and has been with the Boston Council for 5 years.

The basketball season for both boys and girls is in full swing at the Bigelow Junior High School. The Boys Varsity team was defeated by the varsity of the Warren Jr. High School by a score of 37-24. The Bigelow Jr. Varsity turned the tables by defeating the Warren Junior Varsity by a score of 16-7.

She stated that women are fundamentally the same as they were 50,000 years ago, and that since they do not change in essentials, they must adapt themselves as best they can to the changing times. One of Mrs. Parker's contentions was that since 87 per cent of the population marry, education for both boys and girls should be along lines which will develop them for successful marriage. In closing she made a plea for the old-fashioned virtues, such as kindness and tolerance.
